Something More Than Ordinary . . . Something Grand

The spirit behind Denham Springs High School does not lie just within the students and faculty, it lies within the surrounding community as well. The amount of support given to the alma mater cannot, by any means, be measured in the largest scale. It is the dedication of the students to the reputation and the pride of being a Yellow Jacket that makes this school something more than ordinary, it makes it SOMETHING GRAND!!

Yellow Jacket fans are not hard to spot!

Steve Martino and Lisa Wood share a dance at the Toga.

Junior Marsha Adamms and Senior Shannon Fancundus spend time together at recess.

Recess gives students time to relax from the hectic school schedule.

Quarterback Brian Langridge expresses his feelings on the previous game, while part of the defensive team considers their options.

Members of the freshman class gather at a freshman football game to support their classmates.

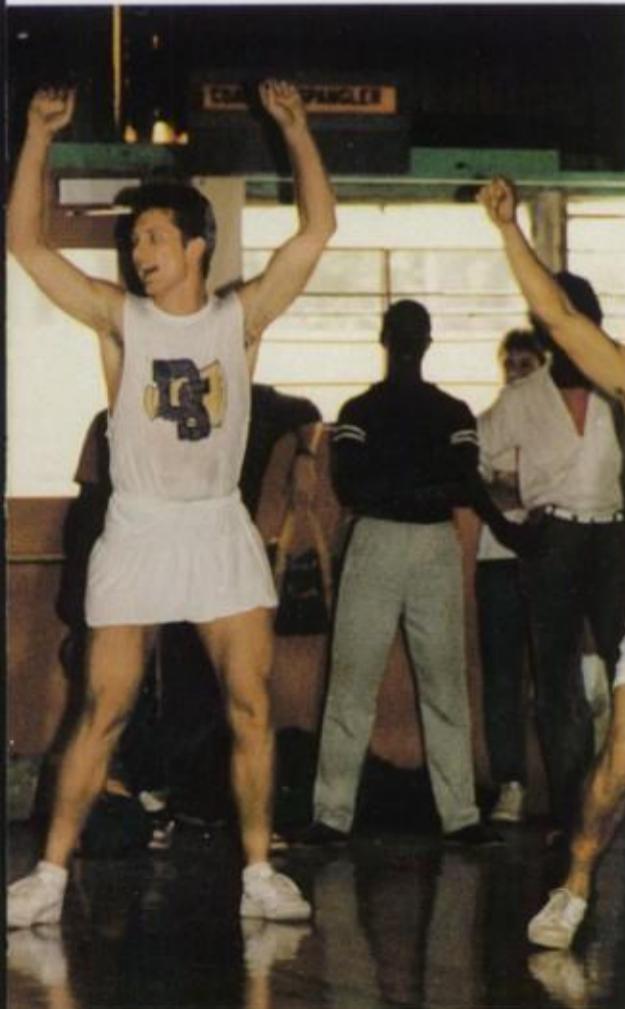

Trying to shade yourself from the sun is hard to do during the summer months. Juniors Cole Doiron, Jamey Walker, Mary Williams, Larsen Tate, Jason Tullos, Shannon Seegert, and Will Davis stand under the library to cool off.

Dressed for the ghoulish occasion, "monster" Shannon Facundus and "wolf" Lara Karwick are made up for the halloween pep rally.

Cheerleaders, Tricia Smith, Mary Williams, and Angie Bergeron not only support the athletic departments at school, but also each other.

For a change of pace, football player, Pat Mason, dresses as a cheerleader to entertain the student body at the last pep rally of the year.

SPECIAL • OCCASIONS

Every time Denham Springs High School students get together it is an occasion. When excitement's in the air, and chatter is excessive, things begin to happen. These regular occasions become something special. Homecoming and pep rallies are two of the more special events. "Homecoming is a special occasion because it gives you an early opportunity to do something eventful after the long summer vacation," said senior Edgar Stevens.

Students seem to enjoy the music, dance, and the fact that school ends a little early on pep rally days. "Although more people need to participate, those of us that go have a blast," said Cary Beth Rector.

The 1986-87 varsity football team runs out ready to defeat the night's opponent.

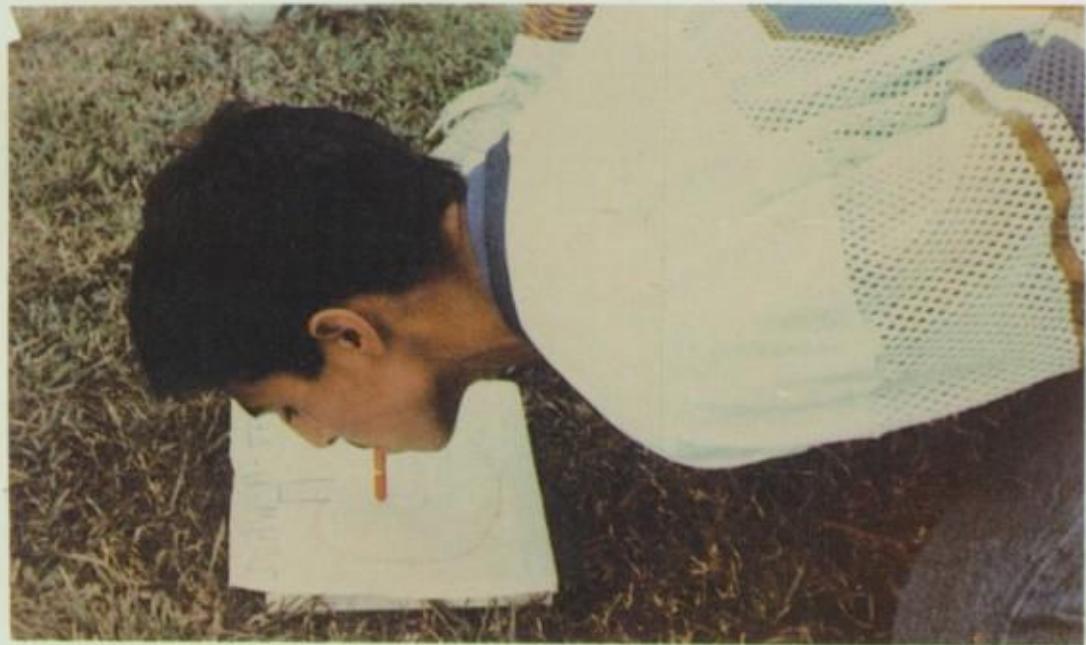

The 1986 Homecoming was one of contrasts. Breaking with tradition, the event was held earlier in the season before district play. Reminiscent of the homecoming of yesteryear, the pep rally featured a mini-parade. Each class entered a spirit "float," a decorated red wagon, which was paraded around the gym. Traditionally, at the game, senior maid Monica Robinson was crowned queen, and the dance which followed, featured the title of the currently popular song, "Heaven In Your Eyes" as its theme. Carrying out the mystical effect was a blue backdrop with silver and blue balloons.

Seniors Monica Robinson and Nan Duke discuss the evening's upcoming events.

Breaking The Tradition

Pictures are one of the highlights of homecoming. Seniors Ron Camp and Tammy Mazie celebrate.

What better way to pep the students for a game than have the football players act as cheerleaders. Seniors Buddy Mincey, Karl "Tut" Tuttleton, Brian Langridge, & Pat Mason lift their skirts for a laugh.

Simple games are prepared by the cheerleaders to test the football players' abilities. Junior Myles Holyfield shows that even with his hands tied he can draw a winning pumpkin.

Jacket stands are always stuffed with fans. Fans Jennifer Web, Cindy Melancon, Jenny Crow, Lana Dugas, and Shawn Mathews cheer the jackets on.

Football players have a never ending supply of spirit. Sophomore Greg Riley, and Seniors Brent Newsom and Doug Harter agree jackets are number one.

Let's Go Jackets

Have you ever heard "Let's gooo Jackets, let's gooo Jackets" as you pass by the girls gym on pep rally days, or as you drive by Yellow Jacket Stadium on Friday night and wondered what it could be? Well, it is the sound of proud Jacket Fans which is music to the ears of our atheletes.

The roar of the crowd is something Yellow Jacket Fans are renowned for. "It is so much fun to stand in the bleachers with my friends and cheer for our team," said Jennifer Rhodus.

Jacket fans will never get sick of rain or tired of the cold. For as long as there are Jackets to cheer for, we are sure to have the best fans around.

Dunking for apples is a popular fall game. Sophomore cheerleader Laura Schmitt dumps away the remaining apples from the pep rally relay.

Do the Mash! Senior Jackettes Danita Aultman, Laura Harper, Lara Karwick, and Sophomore Dawn Thibodeaux give a ghoulish performance.

Friends flock together after pep rallies end. Juniors Jenny Gurley and Ashley Wall are thrilled that Friday has finally come.

Jackette dances are a favorite part of the pep rallies. Junior Jackette Michelle Riedel warns the crowd to "beware of the big bad wolf"

Seniors Natalie Applegate, Joy Tesei, Thea Lobell, Monica Robinson, Tricia Smith, Allison Pope and Joel Ann Clement take a break from recess for the cameraman.

Enjoying a moment of relaxation are Brian Langridge, Randall Pitre, Pat Mason and Buddy Mincey.

What's Halloween without dressing up? Lyn Brown displays her Halloween attire.

Showing interest for the subject matter, Mrs. Killebrew's 4th hour class gladly shares enthusiasm.

People are what Denham Springs High School is all about. Faculty help to enrich the learning experiences of the students. Parents give much needed supports to students, during the many ups and downs students go through. Students are the focus of attention. When asked about what she would miss most about Denham Springs High School, Veronica Haynes said "I'll miss the friendships that have developed and grown since elementary school. I'll miss the closeness of the basketball team, which I've played on for the past four years. I will also miss basketball itself." Joel Ritchey said that he would miss "the family type atmosphere in learning. I enjoy being recognized as a person rather than a number. I believe that every student needs to be comfortable in his school in order to excel academically." These are the years in which students share common problems and achievements. Students face problems such as interiums, curfew time and getting to school on time. Common achievements shared by students are winning a football game, prom and graduation. This commonness creates a feeling of friendship among all Denham Springs High School Students.

Taking time out from recess, freshman Margaret Columbia shows her feelings about being a Jacket.

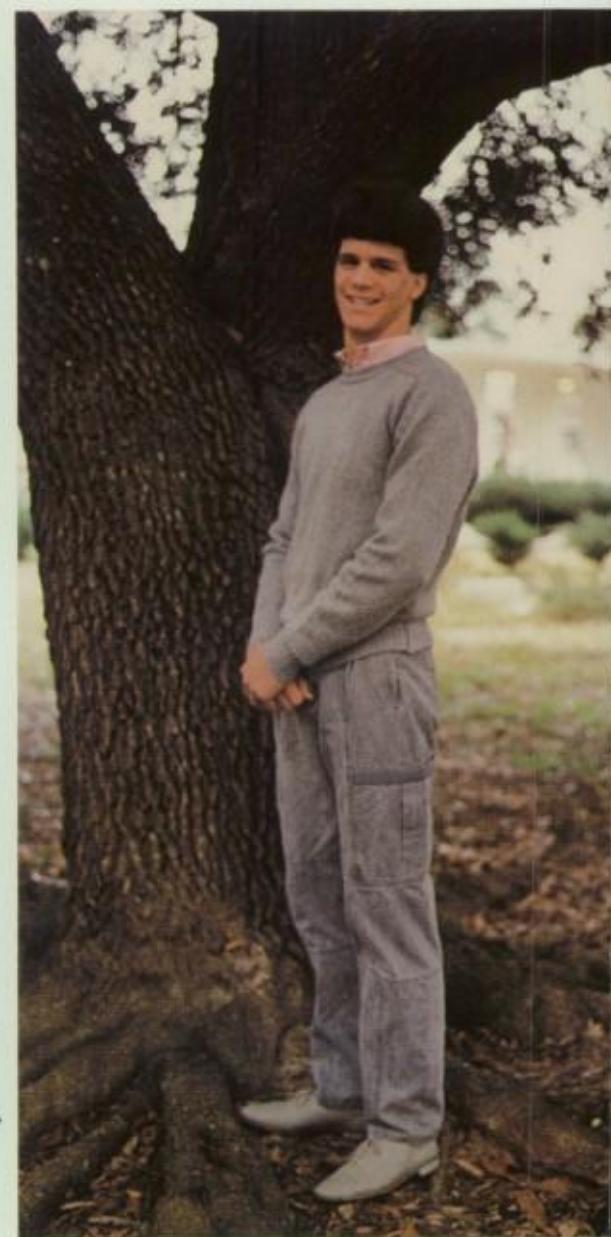

The 1986-87 Miss Denham Springs High School, Monica Robinson, is "truly surprised" that she has been selected.

Buddy Mincey, Mr. Denham Springs High School, is "really excited" that the student body has chosen him to represent them.

Leading the seniors of 1987 are Monica Robinson and Buddy Mincey.

Mr. & Miss DSHS

Being selected Mr. and Miss Denham Springs High School can be considered both an honor and an accomplishment. The selections represent the pride of Denham Springs students, and fulfilling this tall order for 1987 are two highly deserving seniors, Monica Robinson and Buddy Mincey.

Monica has contributed to her class and organizations during her four years here. She has been a cheerleader, SGA vice-president, and vice-president of her class each year.

Buddy, too has contributed much to DSHS in his four years here. He has been a top scholar and athlete as well as participating in Key Club and 4-H, serving as president for three years. He has also been named to Who's Who Among American High School students and the National Honor Roll.

Leadership, scholarship, and citizenship are the qualities exemplified by Mr. and Miss Denham Springs High School, Monica Robinson and Buddy Mincey.

Making Memories

Anything may send memories popping to the surface. Mention of old songs, shows, and names that haven't been mentioned in years serve as catalysts in awakening these memories.

The class of 1987 has put together their own catalysts in hopes that one day they too may awake memories of their senior year. The games played and toys played with changed as the children grew into young men and women. Toys like Lemon Twist and Barbie dolls that seniors used to play with became Porches and telephones. Favorite cartoon characters like Bugs Bunny were forgotten as stars like Tom Cruise and Cybil Shepherd became popular.

As seniors matured, so did their tastes. Songs like "All Cried Out" by Lisa Lisa and "Word Up" by Cameo took the place of "Mary Had A Little Lamb". Some favorites haven't changed. Their favorite candy bar is still Reese's Peanut Butter Cups. Cinderella is still the favorite fairy tale, and Coke is the most popular soft drink. Top Gun replaced Benji as the favorite movie. Favorite hangouts changed from Roller City to Peppy's and McDonald's. When asked what one thing they'd miss most, 99% of the seniors answered, "friends".

Students can find many amusing things at recess as demonstrated by seniors Joel Ritchey and Mark Day.

The Class Of '87 Has Bonded Together

"Life is fun, partyin's heaven, we're the class of '87" is the yell for the class of '87. The class of '87 has fond memories of its high school years. During its freshman year D.S.H.S. caught on fire. Coach Carlisle's last year at D.S.H.S. was its sophomore year. It's junior year was highlighted by the boys baseball team and the girls softball team being state champions. When asked about what she would remember most about her senior year Tricia Smith replied "This has been a busy year, cheering, going out and trying to decide about college."

As the senior class of '87 reaches its last year of school, it strives to get the most of the year before it is over. The way of life known by the seniors of '87 for twelve years is going to change dramatically. Upon graduating in May, many will go to college, while others will get a job or enter the service. With the common goal of graduation, the class of '87 has

"Peeling Out Defined"

We all have our reasons, but "peeling out" is special to us in one way or another. Peeling out has become a way of releasing frustrations to some of us. Some peel out to impress friends, while other simply peel out because their cars can do it. Peeling out can, however, be dangerous. Some of the local authorities don't appreciate it as much as we do, so be careful, you're liable to get yourself a ticket! Edgar Stevens in the above photograph demonstrates the correct way to peel out. He is a follower of the new philosophy of peeling out. Edgar says "To spin your tires in the rain is O.K., but to truly peel out is divine!"

"Buckle Up" "It's The Law"

Students have recently become more aware of the importance of seat belts. They know that when friends say to 'buckle up', it's because they care.

"I feel safer with it on," says Joel Ritchie. We definitely can relate to Christi Andrews, "I don't like them, but I wear them anyway."

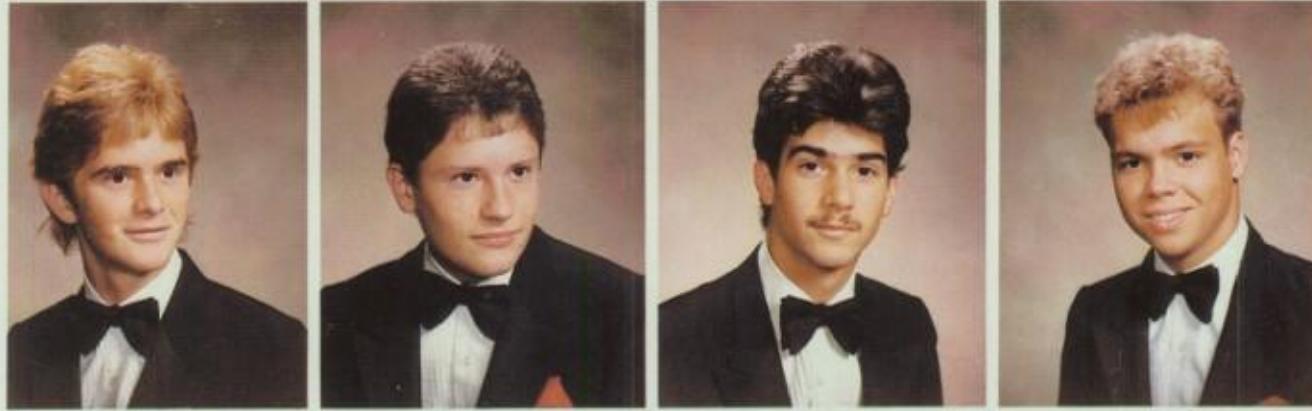

Whether we wear them for safety, to keep from getting a ticket, or because Mom says we can't drive unless we do, our lives are important enough to 'make it click.'

Junior Michele Falgout knows it's better to be safe than sorry as she buckles up.

That's The Breaks!

Have you noticed many people walking around in a cast or on crutches? Denham Springs High School students have seen many injuries in the fall of 86. Most of these "freak accidents" are due to sports injuries, car accidents, or carelessness.

Juniors Susan Connelly and Angie Bergeron lean diligently against the school building with a little help from their crutches.

Prom Planners

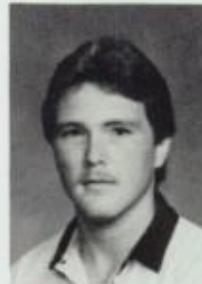

The Junior class officers' main responsibility is planning the Junior-Senior Prom, making sure everything is memorable, especially for the seniors.

The Junior class officers for the 1986-1987 school year are: as follows: Tia Meadors, president; Angie Bergeron, vice-president; Shannon Seegert, secretary; Mary Williams, treasurer; and Marsha Adams, reporter.

The New Look

During the 1986-87 school year, Mr. Dewayne Bailey has put a lot of time, effort, and money into making our school campus look nice, and give the students the best possible atmosphere during the time they spend at Denham Springs High School.

Mr. Bailey has laid down cement over the student's commons area and has placed benches all over the campus for the convenience of the students here at Denham Springs High School. He has also seen to it that our school has proper drainage systems for rainy days. Last but not least, he has established a concession stand, which is a favorite among the students, and faculty.

Rain couldn't stop these men from making our school look nice.

Showing Pride

Every year juniors look forward to getting class rings. The class ring symbolizes pride in one's high school. It is a way of showing that graduation isn't very far away. Junior Karen Brumfield said, "I want my class ring as a keepsake to remember all of the good times in high school", when asked why she wanted a class ring. Juniors received their class rings on Dec. 18. It is a tradition at D.S.H.S. to have one's class ring turned as many times as the year of one's graduation.

Junior, Will Davis carefully examines each ring, as he decides which one he will choose.

Do Tell! Do Tell!

Most of us have to admit we have tuned into some juicy gossip at one time or another, even though we wouldn't want to be the topic of the conversation. Surely though, few of us would mind listening in on or even spicing up the gossip with our own information.

"I love to hear gossip because you hear the latest on other people," said junior Angela Digiralamo, "Although it is wrong to gossip, I wouldn't want to be the subject of the story!"

Even though sharing "vital information" can be fun it can also be harmful because the juiciest gossip is usually the least truthful.

"To keep from losing friends, I don't tell what I've heard," said junior Peaches Clark.

As someone once said, "Bad news means good gossip!"

Kim Spain, and Joette Mitchell share juicy tidbits of gossip.

Riding The Cheeseboxes.

For some students, the bus is their only means of transportation. Students who ride the bus often get to school as early as 7:30 and leave as late as 3:10.

When asked how she felt about riding the bus, Keryl Wagner said "I don't like riding the cheesebox, but I have no choice in the matter."

Students stand around talking, while waiting for the late load.

Chaperones

Chaperones, what would we do without them? Without chaperones, we could have no extra curricular activities such as dances, trips, and even the prom. The teachers and staff give their free time to watch over and keep our students in line during these activities.

When Ms. Kathy Johnson was asked how she felt about being a chaperone, she said: "Sometimes it can be a lot of fun, I've always found our students to be terrific," and when Mr. Paul Tyler was asked he said, "The students are really good most of the time, and I enjoy it a lot." Thanks teachers, for helping out!

While chaperoning at the prom, Ms. Katherine Johnston, Mrs. Kathy Degeneres, and Mrs. Kathy Long take a short break.

Coke Is It!

"Have a Coke and a Smile!" Coca-Cola shirts have risen to be one of the hottest crazes of the 1986-1987 school year. At first the Coca-Cola company started out with the original red and white, short-sleeved shirts. Now they have expanded their line of clothing from swimsuits to blue jeans in a variety of styles and colors. Coca-Cola, advertising, and You!

Freshman Aimee Tullos shows off the new Coca-Cola style shirt, while Tara Rogers keeps her eyes on the football game.

Modeling their coca-cola shirts are freshmen Pam Stringfield and Lisa Harris, as freshmen Rachael Watson and Jodi Schenk share an "un-cola" look.

Students' Point Of View

Some people are wondering why the football players decided to get crew cuts, and what does it help, while others think it's just funny.

Student Shannon Thornton said, "They do look cute, at least some do, but I still don't know what the reason is for doing this. Does it bring luck?"

Another student, Cary Beth Rector, thought "it's really funny because if you yell at a football player and call him 'skinhead' about ten guys turn around. They all look alike."

It may not bring luck, and it might be funny, but as junior Cole Doiron stated, "it's a good tradition because it gets everyone excited about the year and it's one I hope will continue for many years after we are gone."

Showing off their new hairstyles are football players Chip Lovett, Will Davis, Shawn Dugas, Cole Doiron, Brian Langridge, Jamey Walker, Brandon Kunefke, Randy Wilson, Brent Newsom, Coy Berthelot, and Tommy Hodges

Every year before the start of the season, for at least the past five years, the football players all get crew cuts. This year was no exception.

Senior player Doug Harter believes, "It's a way to show dedication to the team for our senior year, and it was really cool when everyone else followed along."

The senior players are usually the first to cut their hair, then most of the other team members follow along.

"Everybody tried to get me to cut my hair, but I really didn't want to be like everyone else, so I left mine long," said senior player Randall Pitre.

One reason the players chose to do this is because it is somewhat of a "tradition," but there were also other reasons.

"We really did it to get everyone else ready for the start of the season," said senior Brian Alexander.

This wasn't the only other reason. Junior Myles Holyfield said, "Some people might look ridiculous, but sometimes it intimidates the other team," and seniors Brandon Kunefke and Karl Tuttleton said, "We just caught a wild hair."

Seniors Karl Tuttleton, and Brian Langridge were among the majority of the football team who got crew cuts. They watch carefully, to see that the beauticians make no mistakes.

Double Duty

Have you ever had the feeling that all the teachers are ganging up on you? That you just can't believe that every one of your teachers have given your homework? Did you ever stop to consider the fact that teachers have to do twice as much work as students? Teachers not only have to grade 150 student papers, but also average grades, then record them.

General Science teacher, Mrs. Gloria O'Neal does double duty: grading papers and watching her assigned post.

"Something To Smile About."

Friends are some of the things that help us get through school. They pick you up when you're feeling low, and are always there to make sure that you're having fun. They help you study and also drive the telephone operator crazy. They are there for you anytime you need them, and you are there for them in return. No matter where you are, you will always have a friend who gives you "something to smile about."

Sophomores, Rianna O'Reagan, JeriLyn Kunefke, Beckie Rosevear, Kasey Kidder, Renee O'Neal, Jill Morgan, Tamah Smith, and Krystal Schenk all have "something to smile about — friends."

"They're A Perfect 10"

"It's nice to know you're representing your class in the school," says sophomore class secretary Laura Schmitt on being a class officer. Sophomore vice-president Lori Lamm was very excited because she got elected, "and it's a big honor!"

All class officers share these feelings about being a class officer. Together they create a new exciting group of class officers to lead the sophomore class through the year.

Spreading class spirit and making good examples of themselves, these class officers are constantly keeping with the Yellow Jacket tradition of pride and friendship in Denham Springs High School.

1986-1987 Sophomore class officers are Alyssia Patterson, President; Lori Lamm, vice-president; Tamah Smith, treasurer; and Jill Morgan, reporter. (Laura Schmitt, secretary, not pictured).

The Upper Lower Class

Life as a sophomore is great! You have moved up in society. No longer are you picked on and called a "FRESHMAN".

"It's so much better to be a sophomore now," says Lori Cooper, grinning, "but I'm still not a senior!"

"Sometimes I realize that I only have two more years of high school," said sophomore Darla St. Angelo, "I just can't believe that it has gone by so fast!"

"What do I have to do to get you to go out with me!" asks sophomore Sonny Jackson to Tamah Smith.

Sunglasses seem to be the thing to wear no matter what the weather is like. They go with everything and almost everyone here at DSHS loves wearing them just for the fun of it. When Erin Davis was asked why she wore sunglasses, her response was "Because it's cool." When Lana Dugas was asked why she wore them, she said "Because I don't like the sun in my eyes." Whatever the reason is that people wear them, sunglasses are here to stay this year.

Being the new kids on the block, the freshman class officers have many challenges to face. "I thought it would be a challenge to represent my class as secretary", said freshman Aimee Tullos. The freshman class officers are constantly striving for the one goal of making their class the best, however their motives may be a little bit different. "I ran for president, so I could beat Jolie Meadors", joked freshman Lawson Covington. These officers are constantly striving to make their class the best.

The Freshman class officers are Nikki Smith, Vice President, Aimee Tullos, Secretary, Lawson Covington, President, Traci Chabin, Reporter, and Heather Varnado, Treasure.

New Kids on The Block

Not only do you get stuck with the label "new kids on the block", but you're also faced with the responsibility of making the transition from junior high school to high school. These are some of the problems freshman students at Denham Springs High School have to face. "I like high school so far. I feel like I have more responsibility, and I'm more confident when it comes to studying", said freshman Mimi Singleton. Some students, however don't adjust as easy as others. "I thought I would die because my classes were so hard, but after a while, they seemed to be getting a little easier", said freshman Tiki Phillips.

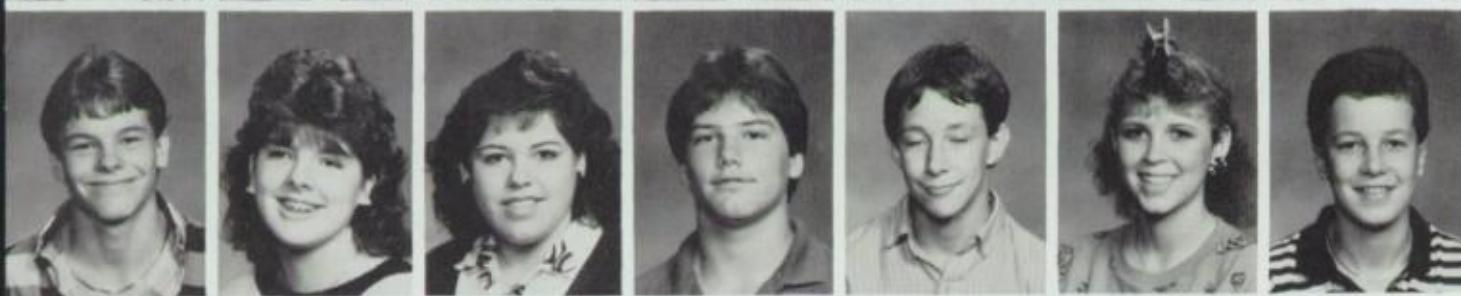

Freshmen Aimee Tullos, and Keri Kunefke live it up, at a football game.

"Days Of Our Lives"

"As the World Turns," "Another World," and "Days of Our Lives" are just a few of the soaps many teenagers stay home to watch. While many people think watching soap operas is just for females, there are many males who enjoy them also. "I love soap operas. My favorite is "The Young and The Restless," said junior, Chris Duncan.

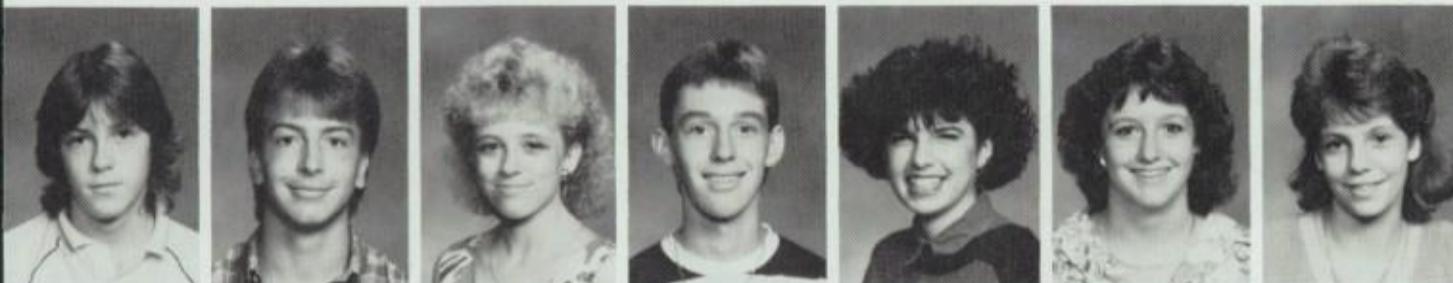

Going to school presents a problem for soap opera lovers, therefore many have found a way to overcome it. "I tape about three a day on my VCR," said Junior, Shavon Robinson.

Sophomore Reanna O'Reagan tapes two soap operas a day. "I love all soap operas. I wish that I could tape them all," said Rianna.

Victories To Come

Not often does a freshman football team make an impact such as was seen by this year's squad. Keeping their challengers at bay and never relinquishing their hold, the freshman Yellow Jackets have inspired a new feeling of Denham Pride in our students. "Our senior year is going to be great with this year's team," predicts freshman Rhett Wilcombe. Indeed, the class of 1990 will continue the tradition of Yellow Jacket victories for the next four years.

The class of 1990 proudly displays pride and spirit.

Members of the spirit team of 1990 are always prepared with spirit banners to cheer the freshmen on to victory.

Tearing their way through a spirit sign, the freshmen prepare to defeat their opponent.

Xeroxless ZZZ's

Kachunka, kachunka goes the copy machine. It offers a steady lullaby to slowly persuade teachers to sleep while they stand guard over the old fashioned "mimoograph" machine.

The expensive technology of the 80's has yet to find its way into the teachers' lounges of Louisiana. Oh, sure the lounge has a Xerox machine, but it over heats after printing more than fifty copies. You just can't get the same effect from the smell of a freshly Xeroxed paper that you get from the smell of the ink from a freshly mimiographed paper.

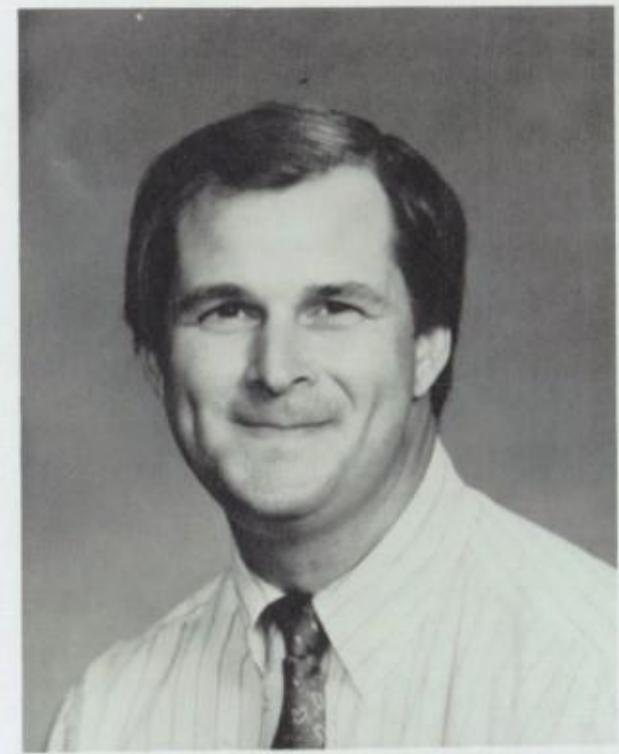

Therefore, teachers will continue to stand over the "old timer" as it slowly coaxes them to sleep.

During tennis practice, Jeremy Hastings concentrates on hitting the ball.

"Junior Tia Meadors launches the discus swiftly in the air. It's like throwing the discus. You have to have a lot of upper and lower body strength," said Tia.

The Athletic Department is extremely proud of its players, and all of their dedicated fans. Whether rain or shine, the players always put forth their best effort. "I love playing softball. Mrs. Leader is a great coach, and I enjoy being around her," said junior Tawayne Donahue.

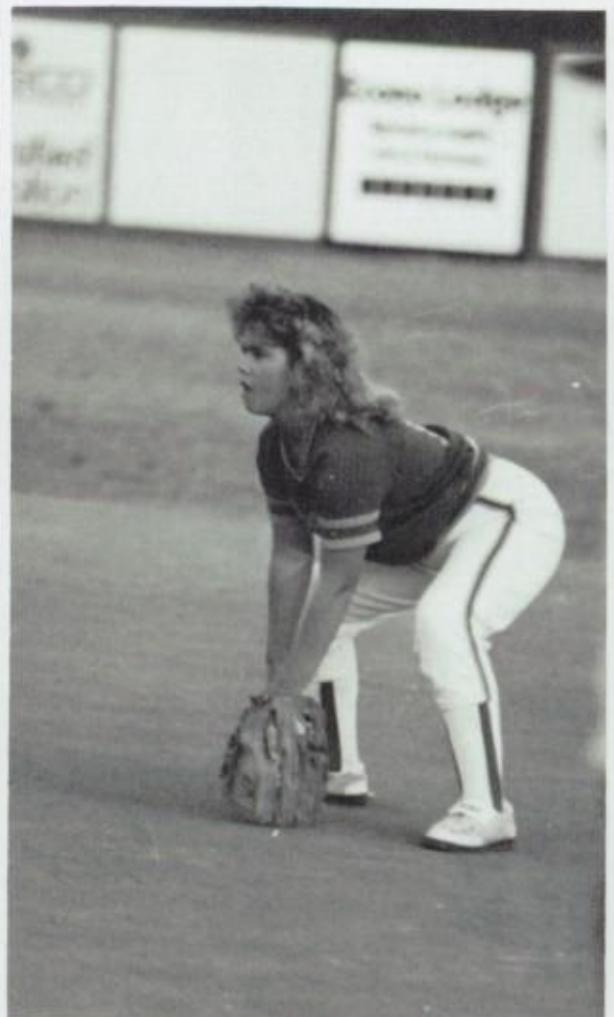

The pride of the coaches shows through at all games. They put countless numbers of hours, preparing scouting reports and keeping up the field house.

Also playing a vital role in the success of the Athletic Department is the student body. Their cries, cheers, and inspirational chants inspired the athletes to victory.

The success of Denham Spring athletics should be attributed to the hundreds of men and women who wear or have worn the purple and gold in competition over the years.

The winning tradition can be felt in the administration, faculty, student body, and community. The coaches that have spent many hours molding each player into a vital part of the team are the ones who have contributed the most to the success of the Athletic Department. "I enjoy helping all of our baseball players, because each of them put forth timely effort that generally pays off in the end", said Coach Tony Terry.

"I enjoy participating in many sports here because my coaches give me a lot of encouragement, and confidence that I use to get me through rough times", said junior Tia Meadors.

The Lady Jackets are always ready to win. Larsen Tate waits patiently for the ball.

"Return To Cinders"

Ask any track member to describe the sport of track with one word and they will say determination. Determination is that special quality in a person that makes that person run when his feet are aching, go on when he really wants to stop, and finish the race when he comes in last place. At the beginning of the season, each member sets a goal, whether it be to run an extra mile, jump an extra foot, or beat a past record. Then he works practice, sweat, cry, laugh, and push until he reaches that goal. It is this determination that makes track an individually rewarding sport as well as a team rewarding sport; for when individual goals are achieved, team achievements follow right along.

One goal recently accomplished was the addition of the cross country team, coached by Mrs. Robbie Spangler. The team had a great first year. Denham Springs High School wishes them the best of luck!

Jacket Spirit Shines Through

"We didn't do as well as we had planned, but we held our heads high and never gave up. We knew we had something to prove to the coaches, fans and especially ourselves," said senior player, Karl Tuttleton about the season.

Under the leadership of head coach, Harold "Butch" Wax, the Yellow Jacket team worked hard all year to improve their skills. Although their record was not as good as many had hoped, they did not let this get them down. Instead, they looked ahead with optimism.

"We played some tough teams. In fact, four out of the five teams that defeated us made it to the play-offs. I'm just glad to be coming back next year to have a second chance," commented junior Jamey Walker.

Senior Brandon Kunefke stated that "this year was a rebuilding year and most of us knew that, but next year things should be different."

By supporting each other and working together, the team kept their spirits up and continued to do their best.

"Although the fans did not always support us, we never gave up on ourselves," said senior Scott Wheat.

This year the Junior Varsity football team worked hard and were able to win district and qualify for the J.V. Bowl.

"Getting to the J.V. Bowl was really

Coaches Tony Terry and Tommy Cothorn were behind the team all year, making sure they played their best.

"We really appreciate the coaches for the hard work they've put into our football team," stated Kevin Katzenmeyer.

The 1986-87 baseball team has had hard work and determination behind them this year. Head coach Steve Long, and assistant coaches Tony Terry

Headed For The Top

The Denham Springs High School Junior Varsity Baseball team for 1986-87, did a good job this season of showing "everyone else" just what they could do. Coach Tony Terry held the guys in after school everyday for many hours of practice in an attempt to improve the building skill of the young Yellow Jacket players. Apparently the hard work payed off. The team had a fairly good season. Allthough they didn't win every game they played, they never gave up. The school spirit and team effort never seemed to get away from these guys. When asked what he liked most about playing for the DSH Junior Varsity team, Junior Aaron Hood said, "The thing I like most is the team spirit but the turn out of the Jacket fans is very important also. In 1986 the Denham Springs Lady Jackets softball team went to the state championship and won. Instant replay. In 1987 the Denham Springs Lady Jackets softball team went to the state championship and won. Again.

Something Special

Imagine a room filled with athletes and their coaches. They're not practicing, nor are they competing. There are no cheers to be heard from the crowds, nor is there any sweat to be wiped from their brows. That is because they have met for one reason only-to be honored. Tonight, coaches will recognize their players, and award them with plaques, trophies, and certificates for the hard work and dedication they've shown. The athletes will also get a chance to say "thank you" to the men and women that have worked so hard to insure their success. It is a special night filled with food, fun, and laughter, that is not to be forgotten by the athletes and their coaches!

DSH Rocks The State

The 1986-87 Yellow Jacket basketball team broke a long, dry spell by winning the district championship. In a twenty year span, though there were several successful teams, the varsity did not win district. This year, in a spectacular season finale play-off win against arch rival, the Baker Buffaloes, the #1 Jackets advanced to the play-offs. From there, they defeated fierce AAAA opponents, Chalmette and John Ehret, only to fall by one point to G.W. Carver, ending one of the most exciting seasons in Yellow Jacket history.

Strength, courage, and character are the keys to success. This along with hard work have paid off tremendously for the Lady Jackets.

"These girls are great," said Coach Nikki Leader. "They are constantly striving to work harder". The Lady Jackets record was 19-9.

to dedicate myself to the goals that I want to achieve", said senior Veronica Haynes.

Versatility, and teamwork played an important part this season. Confidence stood out among each player, and everyone felt like they were a part of a winning team.

Both coaches feel that motivation, and determination are important factors in order to win. Not only were they important this season, but it helped the Jackets to a winning record.

"I tried to work extra hard this season. I had a lot of help from Coach Spangler, and Leader", said Junior, Tia Meadors.

With each team member working hard each season, and demonstrating excellent skills, the Lady Jackets will definitely have more winning seasons to follow.

These organizations help the students' sense of self worth, their ability to work with and lead others. The groups also allow the students to express their concern for the campus environment.

Summertime Blind

Ever heard of snowblindness in mid-August? No one has. Unless, of course, they went to recess at the beginning of the school year.

No, it was not snow, but it did resemble it in many fashions. It was yards of concrete freshly poored over the campus to improve drainage. The new concrete was so bright that just looking at the sunlight hit the cement hurt your eyes.

Many students, as well as teachers, took to wearing sunglasses, not only to look "cool", but to protect their eyes from the sun as well.

"At first, recess was a pain because the cement gave me headaches, but now that the cement has dulled, I enjoy having the campus this way," said junior Jenny Gurley.

Not all students were bothered by the cement. Junior Lee Giroir said, "It's the closest thing to snow Denham Springs will ever have."

Recess never seems to last long enough. Charlet Burton, Bonnie Segan, Pam Migez, & Lisa Wilson try to finish up a conversation before the tardy bell rings.

Dancing The Year Away

The Denham Springs Jackettes have had a very exciting and busy year. Last summer they attended a dance camp at Southern Methodist University in Dallas Texas. While attending the camp they learned new dances, made new friends, and were able to compete. In competition the girls did very well, winning the Sweepstakes Trophy as a group and individually winning sixty-eight blue ribbons, sixteen red ribbons and one white ribbon.

After returning from camp, the Jackettes leaped into the school year, performing at pep rallies and football games. They also held a dance clinic for all girls grades K-12. These clinics were held in the fall and spring. Girls that won at the clinic got to dance at a basketball game. Despite all of the fun the girls were having with their activities, they said that being picked as one of the three teams in the state to dance at an L.S.U. basketball game was by far their favorite event of the year. The girls did so well that they were asked back for next year.

Part of the reason the Jackettes have accomplished so much is due to their relationships. Ivy Cody said, "Jackettes are some of my closest friends because we spend so much time together." Colonel Lane Satcher has been a Jackette for three years. She has seen the progress of the past few years and this year she had big plans. "At the beginning of the year we set goals to improve ourselves as performers, as people, and as friends. I think we have reached our goals." said Lane.

Cheering On The Best

Whether screaming at the top of their lungs during pep rallies in the girls gym, or jumping up and down on the sidelines of the football field, the Yellow Jacket cheerleaders are always demonstrating their spirit and enthusiasm.

Not only do they sponsor dances, sell fight tags, and participate in community programs, but each day the cheerleaders are constantly sharpening their cheering skills.

A lot of hard work and dedication goes into every practice, and the results are seen in every cheer, and performance. "We try to work hard and come up with a lot of cute, but different skits that we think our fans, as well as the players will enjoy", said junior Angie Bergeron.

The cheerleaders have pride in what they do. Each person works hard for respect, and it shows through at all sporting events. "We put in a lot of time and effort into cheerleading, however it is worth it. Knowing that we please our fans, and athletes makes me feel great," said senior Nan Duke.

Nothing But The Best

Hard work, dedication and pride are the things that keep the Denham Springs High School band going strong. They practice for hours upon hours to perfect their performance for the Friday night football games. When football season is over, there is always something else brewing in the pot. There are pep rallies, many festivals, and there is always a good parade with the proud yellow jacket band marching with their heads held high, standing above the rest.

This year the band tried something different, and it was a smash hit with the student body. The band danced to "Wipe Out"; they used everything from blow up floaties to boats and oars!

This years band officers are: Band Captain-William Wolfe, Drum Majors- Paige Kirkendoll and Jennifer Truax, Flag Captain- Stephanie Burroughs, Co-captain- Mariam Travis, Drum Captain- Kathy McIntyre, Quarter Master- Richard Zeigler, Assistant Quarter Master- Jimmy Schenk.

Speak Your Mind

A vital lesson from a person's education is his ability to speak proper English. Students, beginning with the class of 1988, must have four years of English. Unlike elementary and junior high, grammar and literature are split into one semester each. Every year students complain about what English teachers they have. Although the English's are the same, the teachers have different ways of teaching. Some are hard and some aren't, but each course contains basically the same material.

Instead of taking all four English's, some people choose to take Speech in place of English IV. Many feel that they will have a better chance of passing by taking speech, while others stick it out in English four. Denham Springs High only has one speech teacher, she is Mrs. Mary Ballard. So what will it be, verbs or commercials?????

Hola, Aime

There are two very important languages held here at Denham Springs High School. They are French and Spanish. Now that most colleges are requiring two years of foreign languages to incoming students, many are fulfilling this requirement.

French is a vital language here in south Louisiana. A large percentage of the people in Louisiana speak Cajun French, so it helps to have some background in the language every now and then. The French teachers are Mrs. Tammy Jackson, Mrs. Bergeron, and Mrs. Lazarre.

Spanish is probably not used as much in Louisiana as French, but it is still important. The Spanish language is not as hard to learn as French and many words are almost the same. The Spanish teacher is Mrs. Bergeron.

"I have had French for two years and Spanish for one, and I find that I enjoyed French much more," says Junior Angela Digirolamo.

"I took French because most of my family speaks French, and I always hated it when they would say things in French and I couldn't understand a single word that they were saying," said Junior Jill Boudreux.

Mrs. Tammy Jackson finds the reports very amusing.

Junior Jason Tullos, and Freshmen Chalise Smith, Mike Billings, and Lisa Wilson are bribed into paying attention with free food and drinks.

"Grand Old Days"

History classes, including Civics, Free Enterprise, World History, and American History, have always been the underdog of required high school courses. Often considered boring or too tough because of the names, dates, and places which must be memorized, history classes are not usually a student's favorite subject. "I just never can remember who did what!", complains junior Jennifer Rhodus about her history class.

"There's nothing to it; it's just reading and work," says history student Jason Hull of his class.

Fortunately, for history teachers, not all students share this opinion of history classes. Many students feel it is helpful to learn about man's mistakes and achievements in the past. Says sophomore Penny Spillman, "I think it's interesting to learn about things that happened a long time ago."

Some history teachers here at Denham Springs High School try to include quizzes and extra credit reports for bonus points. These activities help students brush up on the subject and make a few extra points along the way.

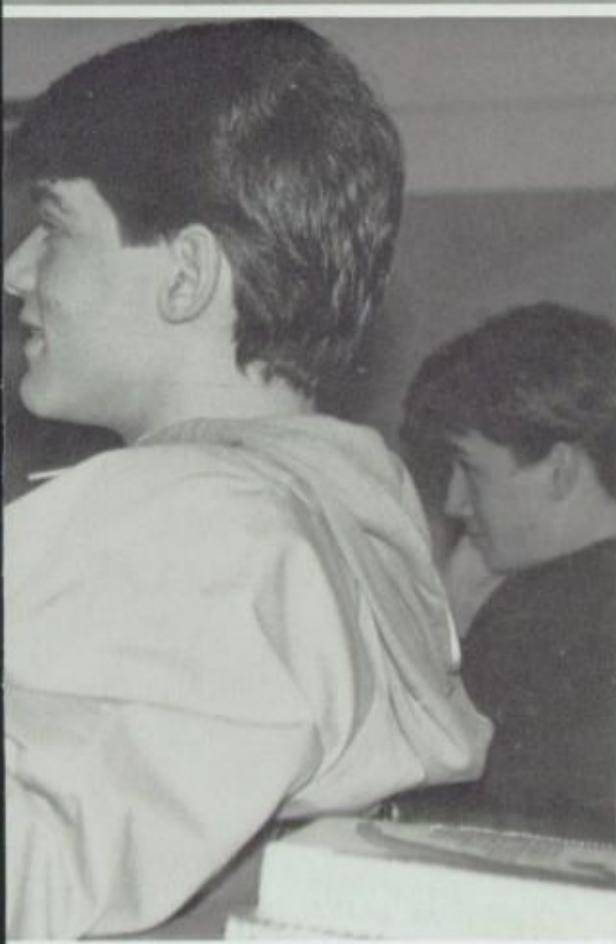

Coach Dodson, who teaches civics, comments, "I don't like to give bonus points, but if a student researches a topic and reports on it, I feel he has learned something."

All students have their own ideas about what a history class should be. But, regardless of good or bad feelings, history is still a must.

Seniors Ricky Johnson, Glen Gaudin, and Karl Tuttleton demonstrate how studying for Civics class should be a group effort.

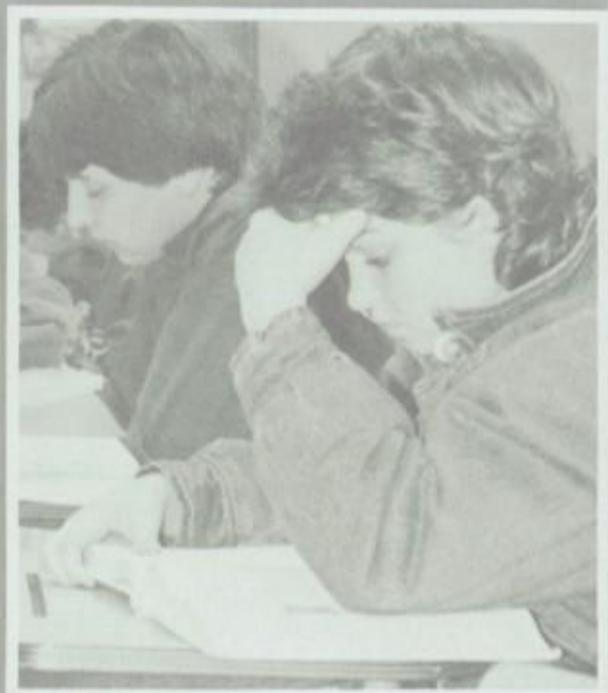

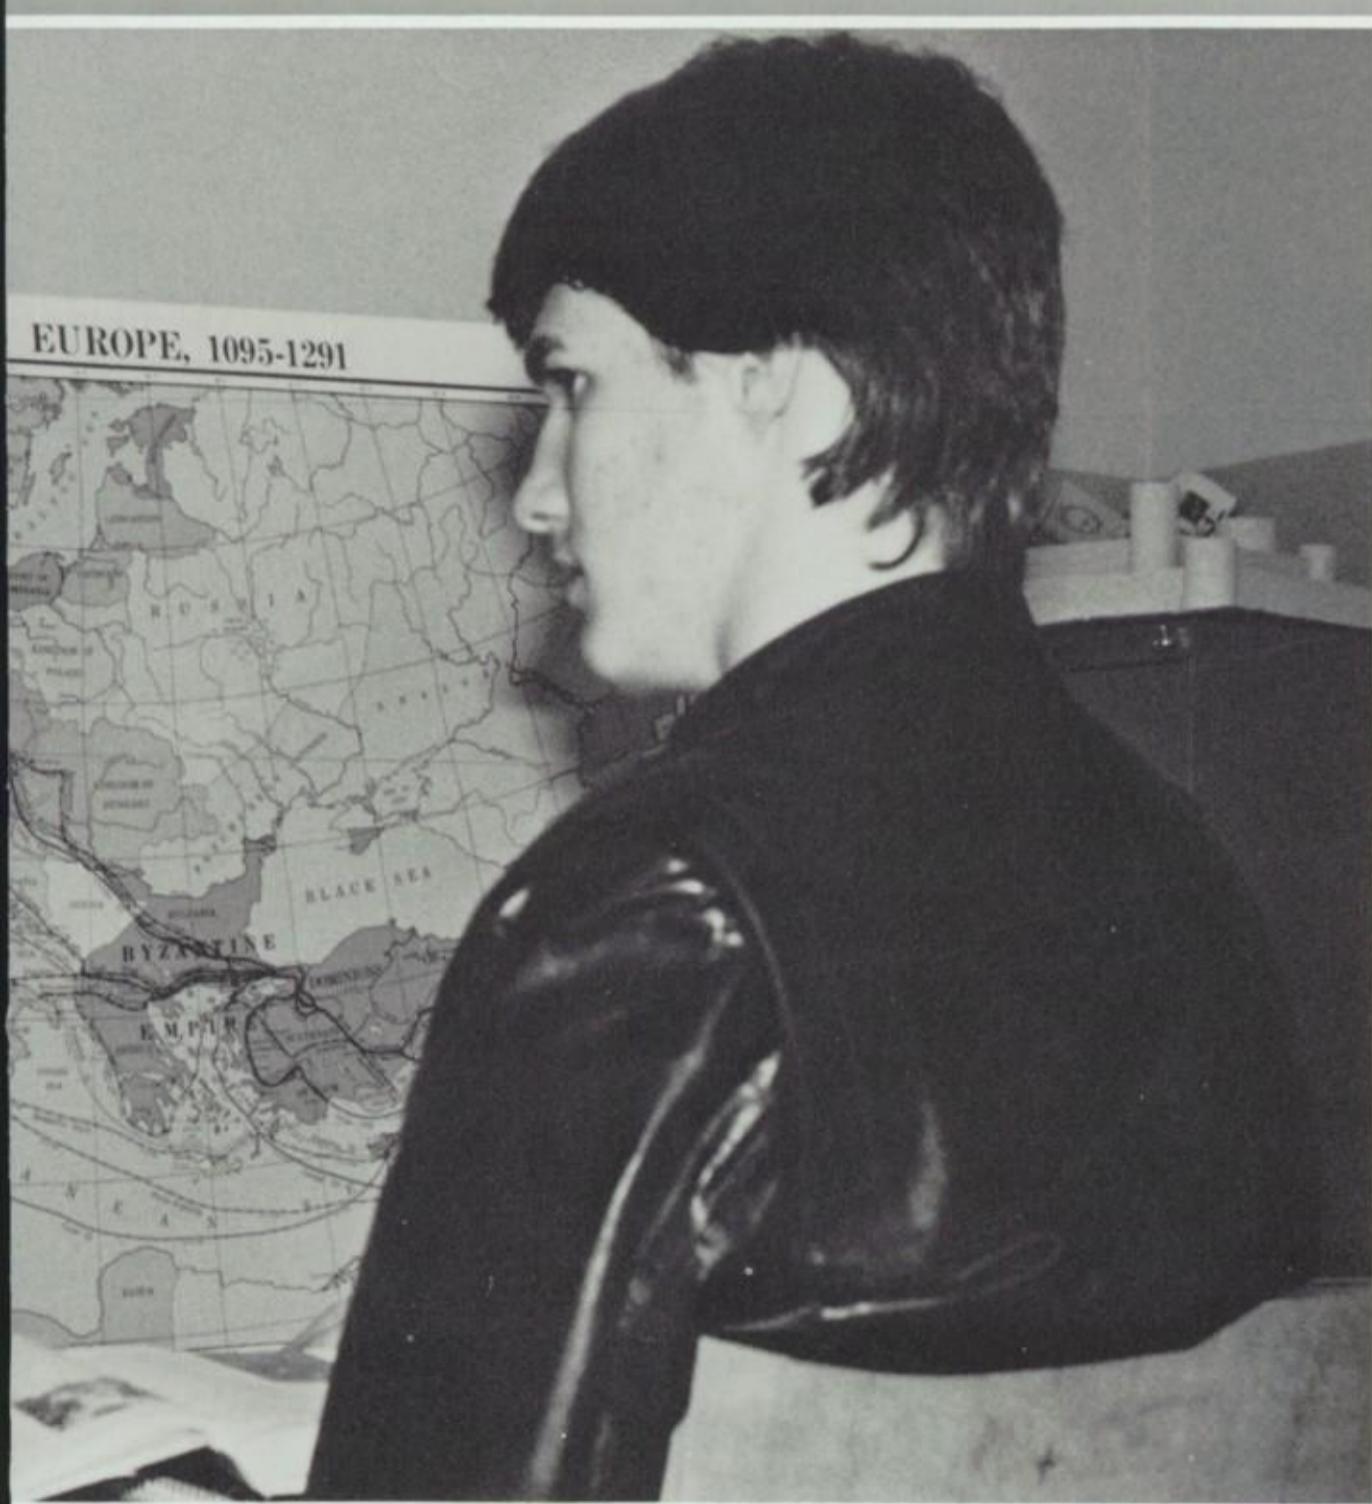

Junior Jeffrey Laborde tries to convince his history teacher, Mrs. Dawson, of the importance of the history of Hot Rods to America. However, Joseph Huff feels that he didn't succeed.

Concentrating on the lessons being taught, sophomore Kaye Evans listens attentively so she can learn more about the history of our world.

Lecturing is a good way for history teachers to teach. Mrs. Cherie Dawson explains one of the many important events in our country's past.

Obviously experiencing an American history overload, junior Robin Veitch struggles to look interested, but just can't pull it off.

Mrs. Dodson's history classes are notorious around the school for their interesting topics and fun activities. Apparently, senior Trey Schenk hasn't heard.

No Pain No Gain

What + What = What? What theorem? Which formula? Use what statement? How many programs? When is the test? HELP!

These are just a few of the many questions that might be heard in any of the Computer Science, or other math classes at Denham Springs High School. Some people may wonder, "Why take these classes if they are so much trouble?" Senior Lane Satcher said she took an Advanced Math class because "I thought it would help prepare me for college. It is a hard course, but I thought it was necessary."

Along with Lane there are many other students who are getting prepared for the future. Senior Brian Langridge says that he took Computer Science because "It's a very challenging course, and I believe that computers will be the thing of the future."

Although some students may find certain math classes necessary, but hard, there are other students who enjoy their classes. Senior Doug Harter says "I enjoy math, and I know it will help me in college, so I really don't mind taking these classes." Also, another student, senior Erin Davis, stated about her Computer Science class, "I enjoy working with computers, and my ability to do this will benefit me in the future."

Students are required to have certain math credits for graduation. In addition to these credits, they may elect to take other math courses, as many students have done. This system lets the students decide which course will prepare them for their futures.

Students Jason Aydell, Mark Pope, Jeff Irwin, and Jamey Allen try to grasp the meaning of Algebra 2.

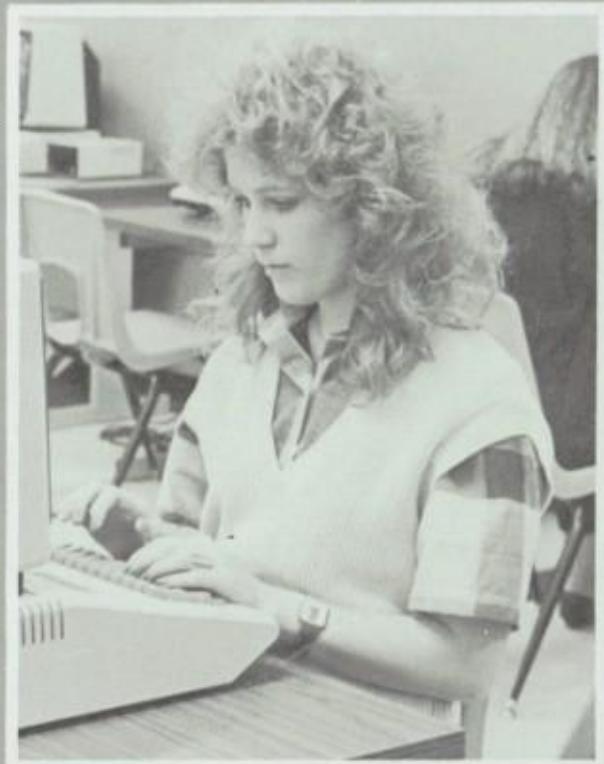

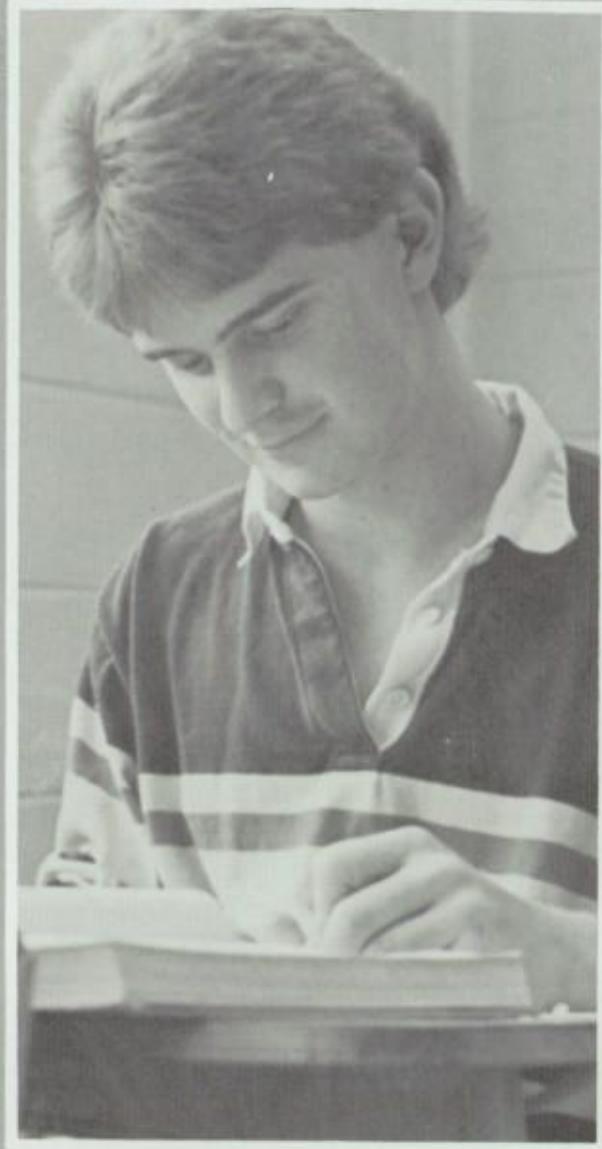

Working on her program, senior Joy Tesei gets some assistance from senior Si Pham.

After finishing their class work, seniors Brian Langridge and Erin Davis use their extra time to read up on a few fitness tips.

Making wise use of his time, senior Rusty Stafford carefully finishes his assignment.

Senior Wendi Watts works to finish her Computer Science program.

Reaching For The Top

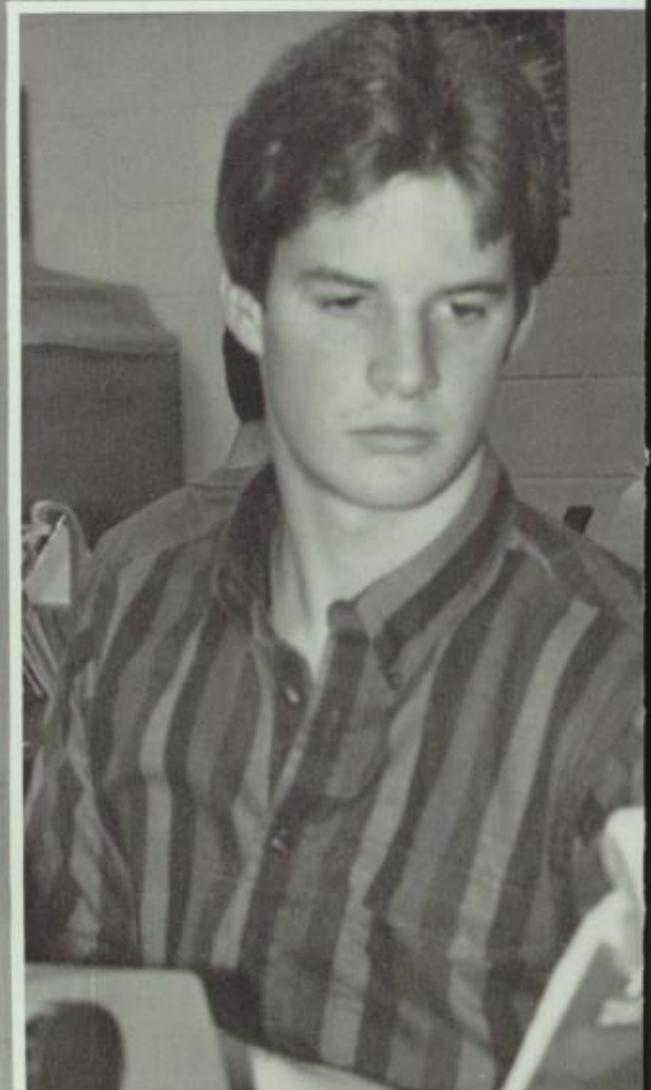

Ambition means competition. Everyone wants to be "on top". Because of this competition, teenagers entering the "real world" rarely have a chance to succeed when they must compete with those who are already on top. To help these students as much as possible, DSHS has developed a very advanced business department. Courses touching on the basics of business education give students a background knowledge of business which is useful in any field. DSHS also offers students a chance to use these skills in COE and CDE programs. These programs allow students to receive on-the-job training while earning experience, school credit, and money. The jobs may also be jobs where they can work after graduation or even settle in for a career. They may even advance to become "on top" of that field. Senior Sandy Mons says she likes CDE because, "It makes it easier to go to work than it would be if I had to go to school all day and then go to work."

"'A' students no doubt!" Students William Sauls, Jeff Caskey, Mary Jo Fouse, and Eileen Carson show proper typing techniques.

Seniors Rebecca Payne and Christine Alelio use teamwork to get through clerical "practice".

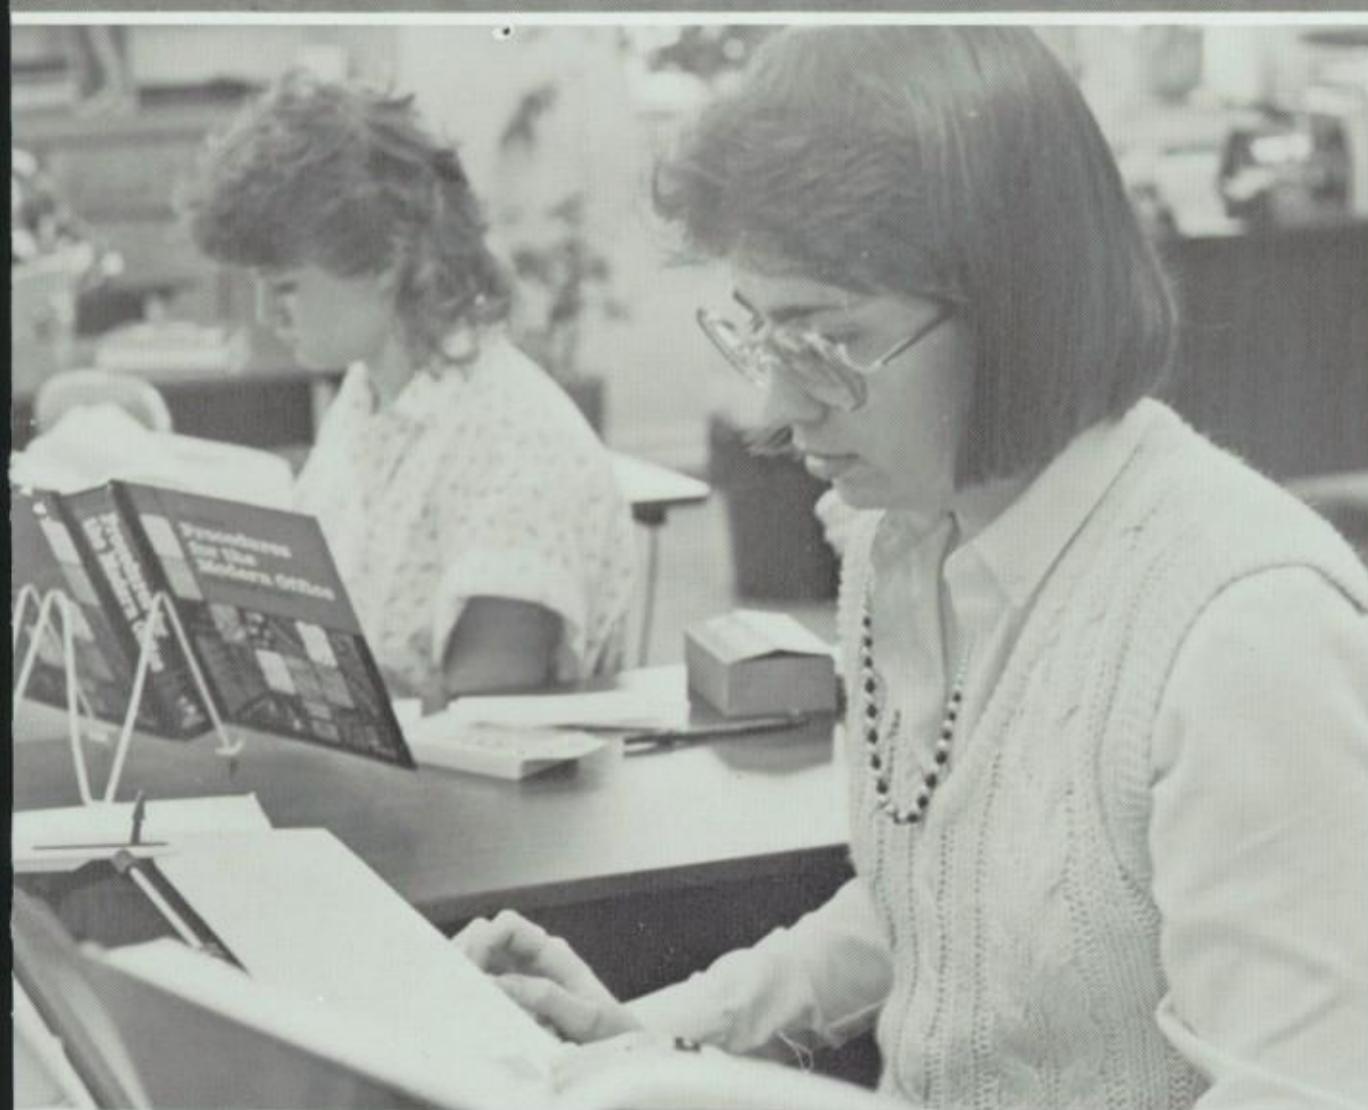

Taking care not to loose his place, senior Brian Keller can only imagine what the photographer is doing.

Complete concentration is the key! Senior Liz Paille reconsiders her final answer before turning her paper in.

Loosing all concentration, junior Mary Fouse doesn't find the interruption to be very amusing.

Students often find time to enjoy their classes. Junior Annie Wilkerson has fun doing her filing.

"I'm so confused!" Jennifer Orr becomes very involved in her work at the typewriter.

Darn Near Dead

It's that time again. Your brow starts to sweat, and you begin to feel like you're going to die! It is a temporary illness all yearbook staff members encounter, and it only comes near deadline dates.

Deadline dates always seem to come much too soon. A week before the deadline comes, the yearbook room seems to lose the lighthearted chatter and the usual pleasantness in the air. It is replaced by ruffled layout sheets and editors' cries of "revise it!! Revise it!!

After it is all over, and the deadline is past, everyone seems to breathe a sigh of relief. For the pressure to meet it has left everyone darn near dead!

Typing is one of the less pleasurable jobs for staff members. Erin Williams is just "thrilled" to be typing her copy over.

Everyone feels relieved when their work is done. Allison Pope is excited she's not under the pressure to get her work finished.

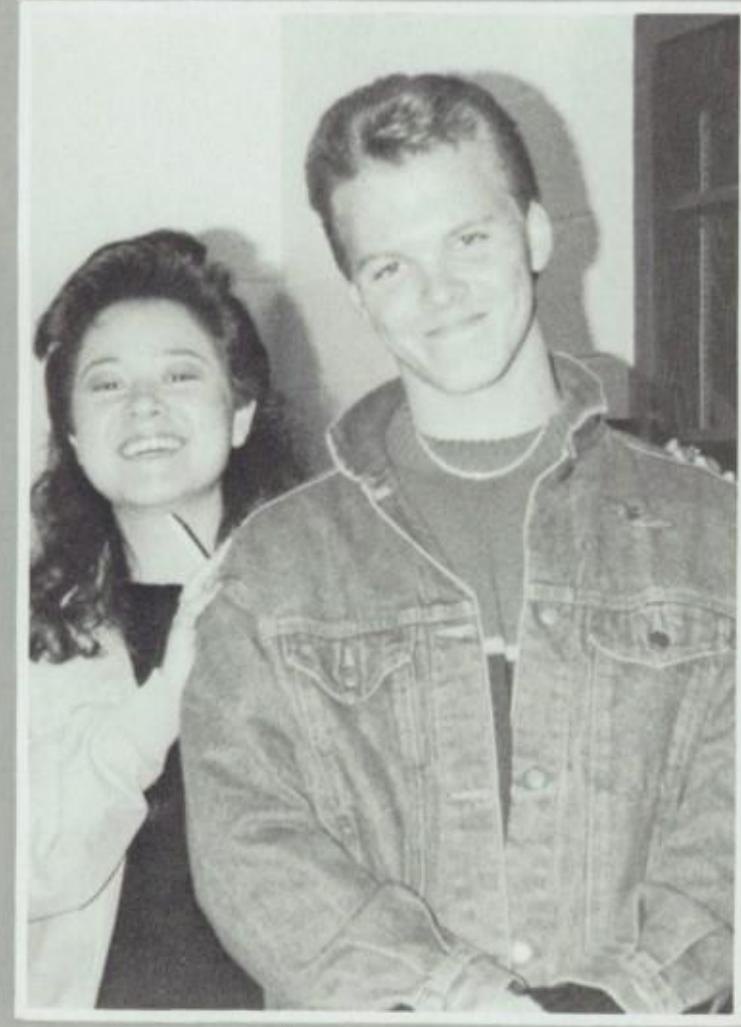

Advisors always have something important to discuss. Staff advisors Ann Clement and Mary Ballard discuss a problem with the ladder.

Getting into focus, staff photographer Kelley Smith takes aim.

Writing copy takes time and concentration. Laura Harper and Thea Lobell take pleasure from such tedious work.

Smile Michelle! Staff member Michelle Gremillion does some occasional modeling.

Surprise!! Photographers Deanna Murphy and Jesse Kleinpeter were surprised to find someone else taking pictures.

Surveying land is just one of the many activities that Agriculture students enjoy. Students Patty Faulkenberry, John Clayton, and Donald Devall work together with the surveying equipment.

Preparing for the future, Jimmy Smith and Chuck Lott use team work to learn the techniques in repairing a small engine.

Practical Plans And Production

Craftsmanship is a trade that is alive and well in our own high school. Agriculture and industrial arts are two classes in which students are taught every aspect of working with metals, wood, wiring, and the land. "It is helpful to know how things are put together and made," explains sophomore Lee Goodson.

Some of the products of the industrial arts classes are bought by the students who make them. "I sometimes give some of my projects away as presents," comments junior Steve Davis.

Before any work takes place on a project, a student must first carefully plan out what he will be doing. Therefore, industrial arts students learn how to draft things first. Drafting in itself is a very successful trade to get into. "It is interesting to try and create something on paper, then see if it will work," says junior Shay Cooper of his drafting class.

Agriculture class is 100% natural. Working with the land and its many products as well as electricity and wiring, these students are learning about the basics. Pat Mason points out, "We learned about several different things in one class."

Everyone may not take an industrial arts or agriculture class, but these are two courses that can be very helpful no matter what you have planned for the future.

Testing his ability, Industrial Arts student Darin Glover demonstrates the technique of welding.

Concentrating on his woodworking project, Thad Lentz puts his skills to the test.

Industrial Arts students Charles Van Osdell, Tracy Thompson, and Chris Rouse work together to finish their woodworking project.

Waiting anxiously students John Foster, and Chris Rouse watch as Mr. Gill grades their projects.

Academic Excellence

Academic excellence can be described as reaching the pinnacle of success. Denham Springs High School earned more than its share of recognition this year thanks to the outstanding efforts of a select group of students.

National recognition was bestowed upon two art students, Vikki Shaffett and Marita Doolittle who placed 1st and 2nd in Mothers Against Drunk Driving Billboard Competition.

Additionally DSHS students placed in district and state literary rallies, local essay contests, and in fact, in every competition in which they entered.

Other members of the literary rally team are: Mike Crowder, Civics; Brenda Young, Bookkeeping and Accounting; Richard Brown, Biology II; Billy Davis, Physics; Buddy Mincey, Physics; Juliana Pope, Spanish I; John Burch, Am. History; Jennifer Waldrep, Civics; Jennifer Orr, Human Development and Family Relationship; Pat Connelly, Agriculture; Melissa Warmstead, Trigonometry; Laura Grantier, Chemistry; Angela Bacot, Chemistry; Kelly Thomas, Typing I; Cindy Doiron, Typing I; Jennifer Webb, English II.

Juniors Tammy Roberson, John Burch, and Laura Grantier stand for a picture before leaving to go to the rally.

Members of the Literary Rally team are: Micheal Edwards, Algebra; Vanessa Laird, Bookkeeping/Accounting; Ashley Fontenot, General Business; Michael Cappadonia, Algebra; Rhett Wilcombe, Physical Science; Jason Russell, Biology I; Todd Jones, Spanish I;

First place literary rally winners are: (top row) Michael Edwards, physical science; John Burch, American History; Kenneth Rester, Agriculture; Lara Karwick, Stenography; Kelly Thomas, Typewriting; Jennifer Orr, Human Development and Family Relationship; Pat Connelly, Agriculture.

U.S. Representative, Richard Baker, congratulates Maritta Doolittle, 2nd place winner, and Vicki Shaffet, 1st place winner, on winning the M.A.D.D. poster contest. Maritta was allowed to accompany Vicki on her trip to Washington D.C. since they are both from D.S.H.S.

First place winners on the literary rally team are: John Burch, Grady Reed, Damon Laspe, Michael Cambre, Vicki Duncan, Wade Holden, Rusty Burlingame, and Michael Edwards.

Grand Achievements

Webster defines success as "achieving a personal aim". Every day students set goals; some are very high while others aren't so very high. Some students set their goals upon entering high school; some goals aren't reached, while others aren't only reached, but are exceeded. These people are successful. They are the valedictorians and honor graduates of 1987. They set their goals and they achieved them; they deserve recognition and congratulations. Denham Springs High School salutes them. Valedictorians of 1987 are Veronica

Haynes and Buddy Mincey.

Other honored graduates maintaining a 3.5 or better average are as follows: Ron Camp, Lisa Collins, Billy Davis, Fabian Didier, Lisa Doiron, Marita Doolittle, Eric Grimmer, James Hood, Brian Kellyer, Paige Kirkendoll, Brian Langridge, Annette Loper, Kathy McIntyre, Angie Molcany, Deanna Murphy, Jennifer Orr, Joel Ritchey, Elizabeth Shephard, Tricia Smith, Carlyn Spangler, Yance Stam, Grant Stevens, Joy Tesei, and Laura Whitehead.

The 1987 honor graduates are: (second row) Joel Ritchey, Eric Grimmer, Yance Stam, Brian Keller, Grant Stevens, Billy Davis, Buddy Mincey, Brian Langridge, James Hood, Fabian Didier, Ron Camp, Lisa Doiron; (first row) Angie Molcany, Lisa Collins, DeAnna Murphy, Jennifer Orr, Annette Loper, Joyann Teei, Tricia Smith, Veronica Haynes, Carlen Spangler, Laura Whitehead, Paige Kirkendoll, Kathy McIntyre, and Elizabeth Sheperd.

Honor student and drum majorette, Paige Kirkendoll, smiles with her parents at the Academic Achievements banquet.

President of the senior class, Buddy Mincey proudly accepts his position as Valedictorian.

Co-valedictorian Veronica Haynes excelled academically and athletically during her high school years.

Senior honor student Carlyn Spangler, along with Mrs. Robbie Spangler, is proud of her achievements.

Senior Billy Davis, who was named to the AAAA All State Academic team, poses with his dad.

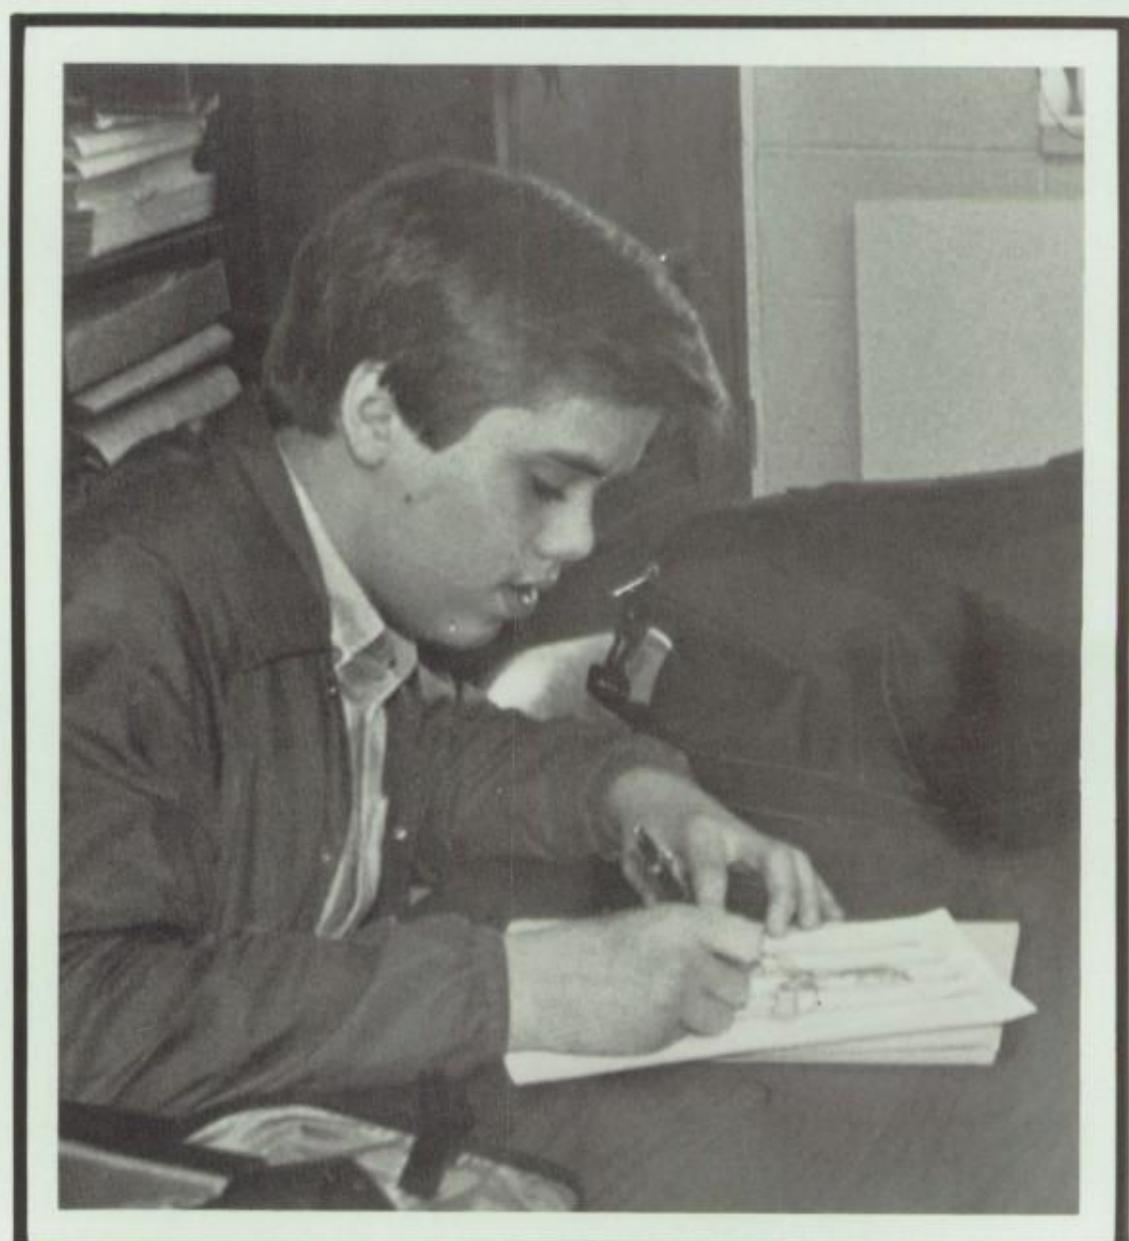

Using Creativity

The Art classes at Denham Springs High school are really fun classes where students can use their creativity. "Mr. Matlock is a great teacher; he lets us enjoy a casual atmosphere," commented junior Vicky Duncan.

First year art student Melinda Peel said, "I've learned a lot because there is always room for improvement. When you make mistakes, Mr. Matlock lets you know that you're only human." Classes are offered to all students ranging from Art I to Art IV. In the first and second years, the basics are usually learned. In the third and fourth year classes, more experienced students are encouraged to come up with their own assignments or interests.

These students are suffering from the feared "Art-Head" disease!

Second year art student Cary Beth Rector uses the new light table for tracing her project.

Metamorphosis drawings are one of the projects students like best. Sophomore Scott Corbitt works diligently to finish his drawing.

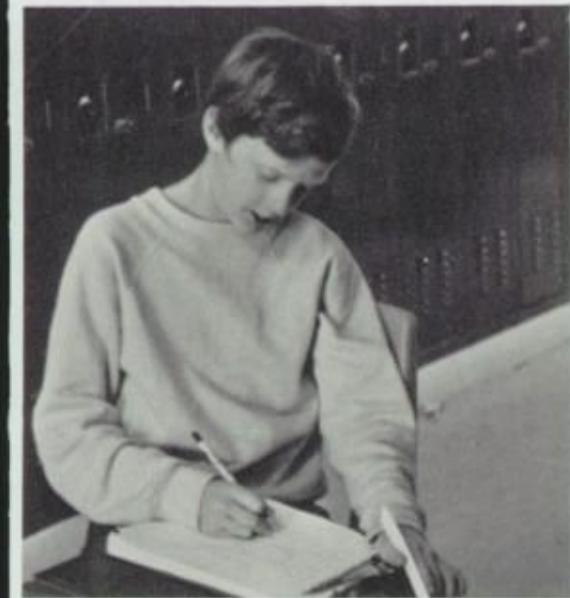

Mr. Matlock expresses his opinion about a student's idea.

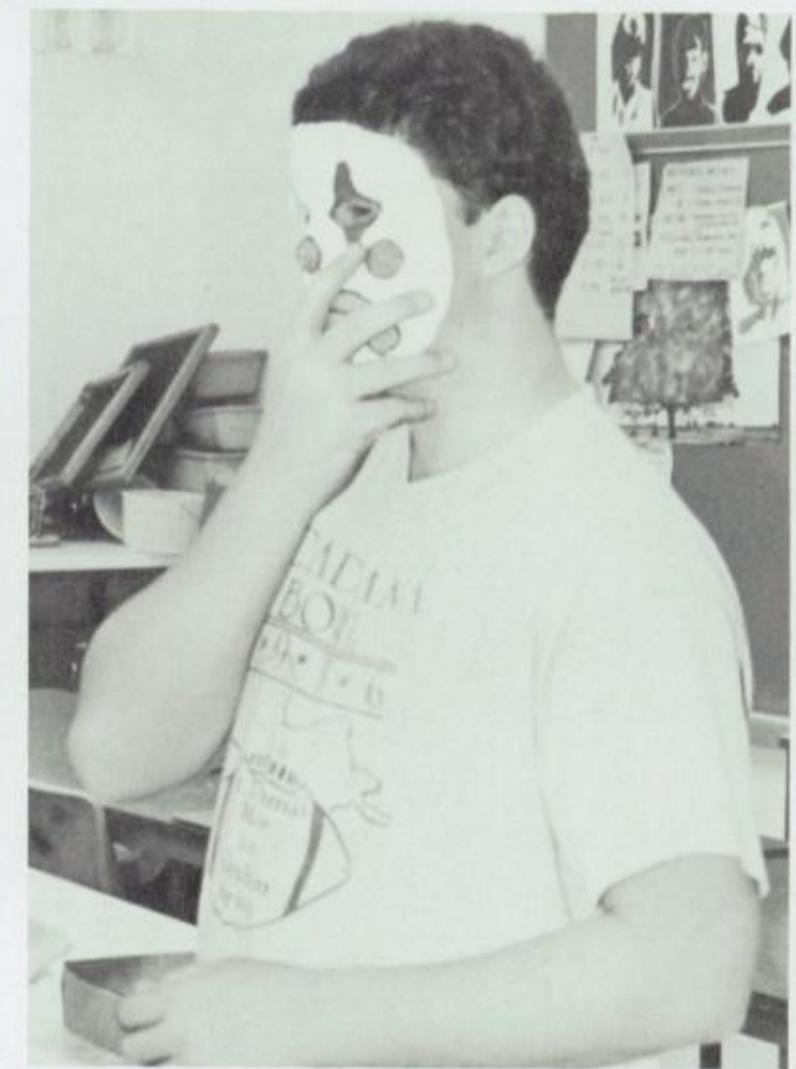

First year students draw the halls to help with depth and perception.

Vicki Shafett paints a papier-mâché yellow jacket dressed as "Lady Liberty".

John Blount puts a big effort into his drawing.

Will Brown asks if his new face is an improvement!!

Senior Darlene Hood checks her pattern before beginning to cut the material for her apron.

Practical Practices

"Are you SURE that we were not suppose to put the peanut butter in?", "Do we have to eat this stuff?" "I can't clean up this mess by the time the bell rings!"

If you are standing outside Mrs. Dutch's class these are a few of the comments that you might hear. Home Ec. is a great course for those who plan on cooking, mending clothes, planning a budget, or learning about household appliances.

"I like the days that we cook," said junior Shelly Clary, "even though I hardly ever get a dish to come out perfect!"

Home Ec. isn't only for girls, the guys that plan on "roughing it" for a while ought to be somewhat interested in Home Ec. So if there are any guys that want to show some girls what they can do in the kitchen, prove it in Home Economics!

wn Caston laughs at the fact that she has a quarter inch seam rather than a half inch.

The Home Economic officers for 1986-1987 are (l to r) Darline Hood, Jennifer Orr, Adrian Morris, Ginger Arnold, Shavon Robinson, and Shane Allen.

Freshman Alice Clark gathers the waistband on her new skirt she sewed.

Fitness Can Be Fun

Do you want to get in shape or try to keep the one you have? Then Physical Education (P.E.) classes are the place to be. Physical Education teaches students how to condition themselves and how to stay fit and healthy for life. Physical Education allows students to compete against each other.

Physical Education is a required subject that must be taken for two years to graduate. Because of the new requirements for graduation, the average students may be unable to take additional classes of P.E.

Mrs. Dot Hammock, Mrs. Nikki Leader and Mrs. Mabel Guntz are the coaches of the girl's Physical Education classes. These coaches instruct their classes in such activities as tennis, soccer, softball, square-dancing and also modern dancing, volleyball, bowling, and aerobics. These activities keep both the teachers and students in shape throughout the school year. Participation in these sports by the students enables them to meet people and become friends with new people.

The coaches that teach the boy's Physical Education classes are Coach "Butch" Wax, Coach Steve Long, Coach Lloyd DeGeneres, and Coach John Watson. These coaches teach their classes to play such sports as flag-football, volleyball, and softball.

Denham Springs High School has an outstanding faculty of coaches who take pride in their jobs and who care about what their classes learn. The main goal of all of the coaches -both girl's and boy's- is to teach their students good skills and good habits that will stay with them throughout the rest of their lives.

Stretching out is an important part of daily exercising.

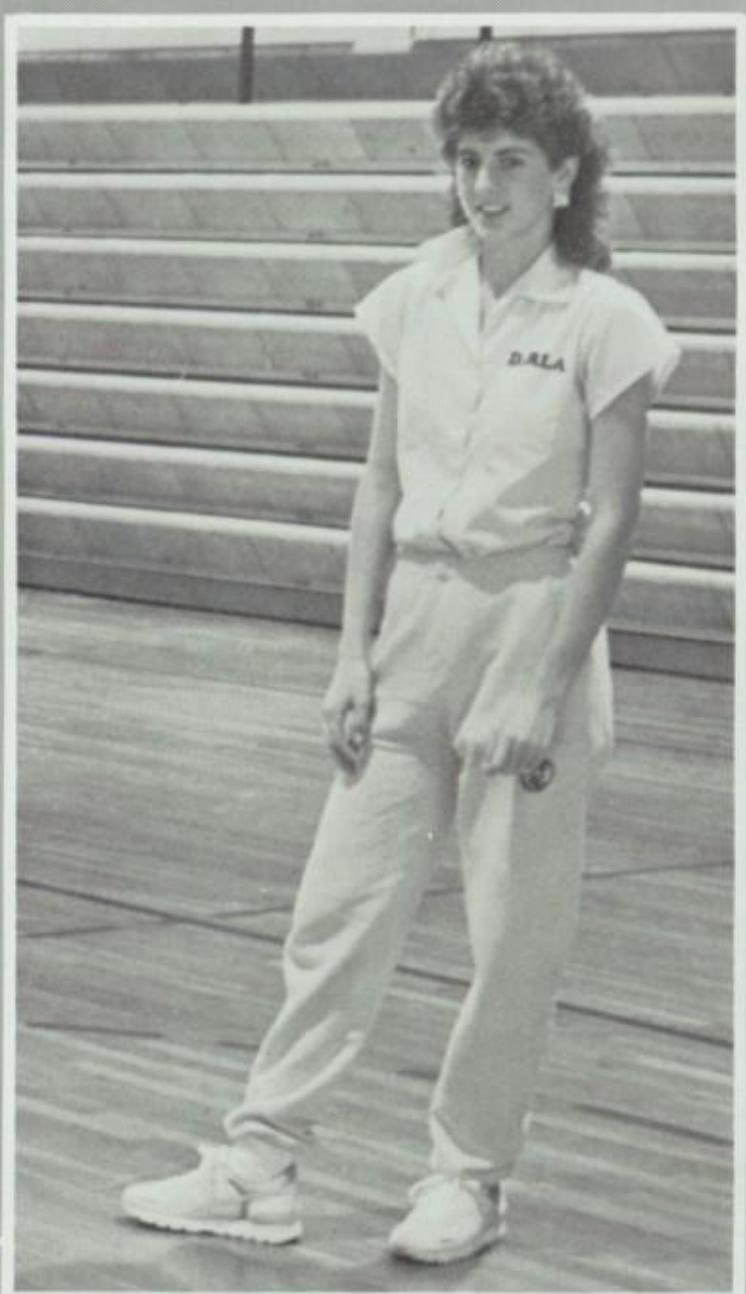

Ricky Ellis, Tony Graham, and James Johnson listen attentively to the day's instructions being given to them by their coach.

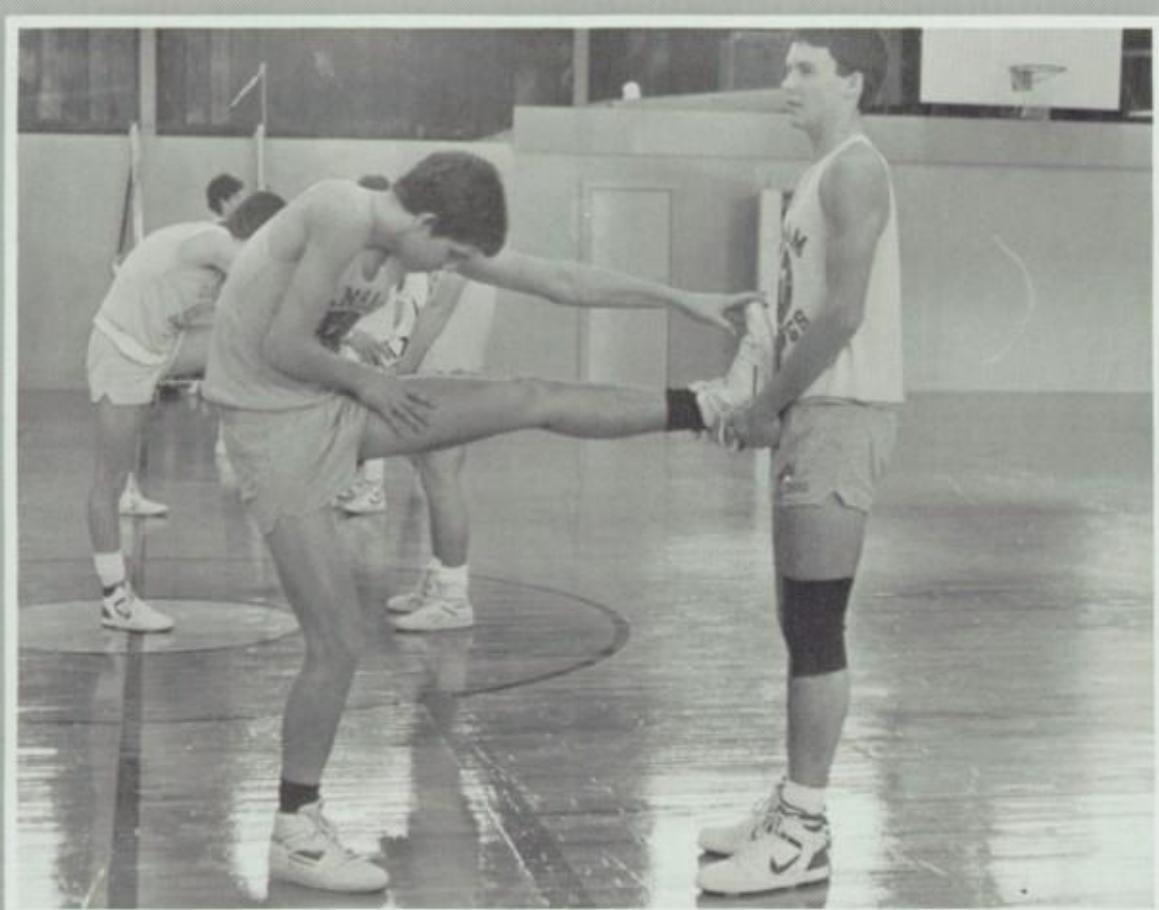

On cold days, Jodie Brewer, Amanda Russell, and Christi Deason try to keep warm by wearing their street clothes.

Most boys take P.E. for more than two years. Junior John Odell does not seem to mind that he is surrounded by sophomores.

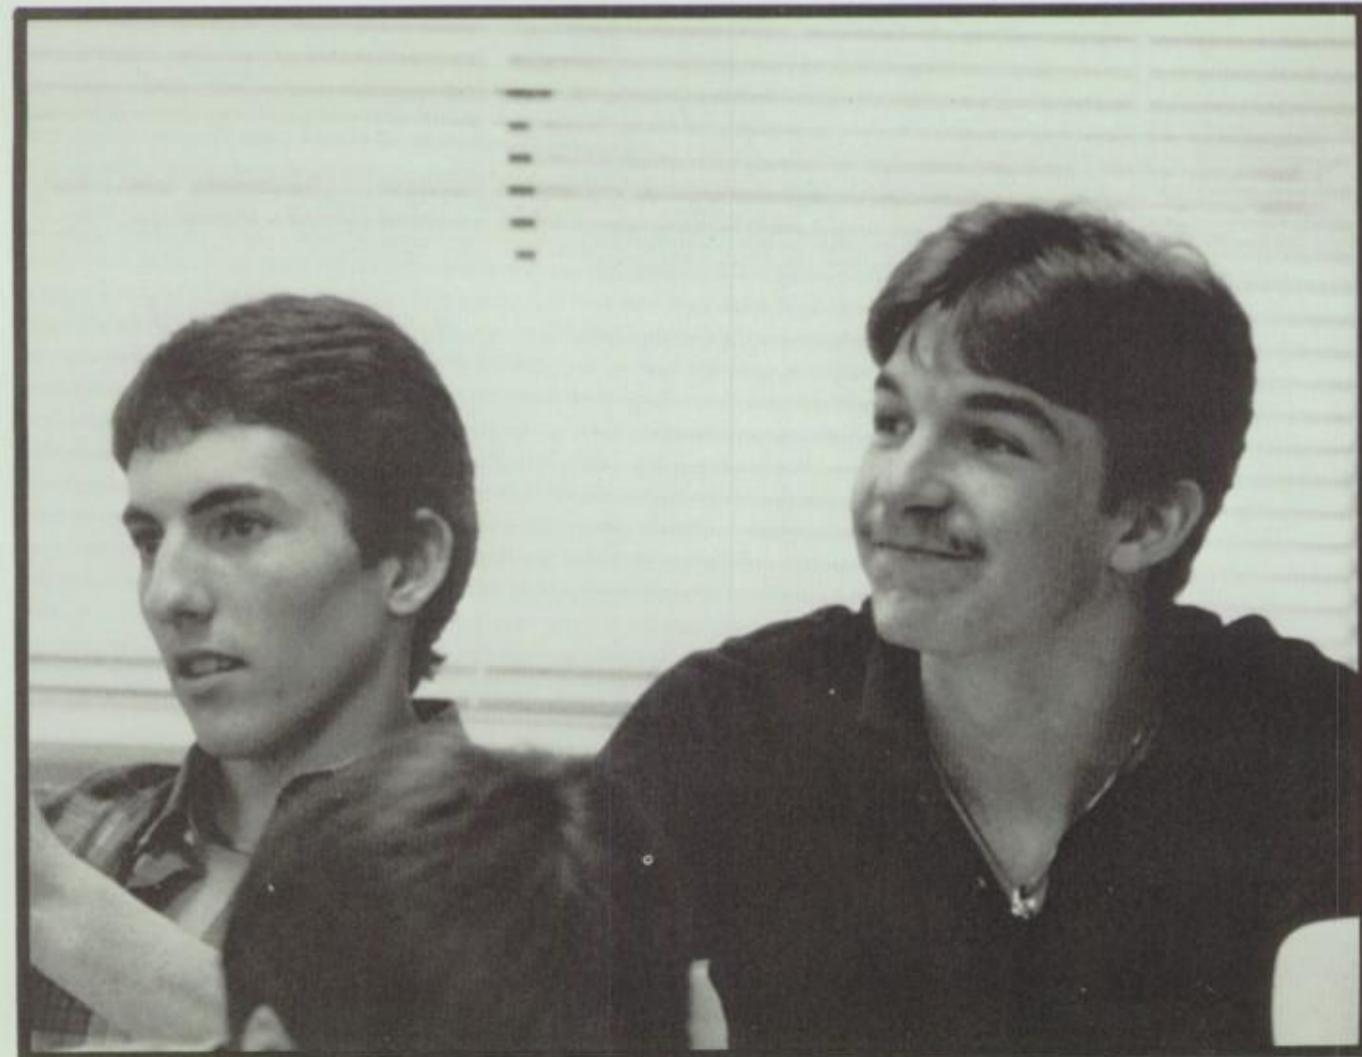

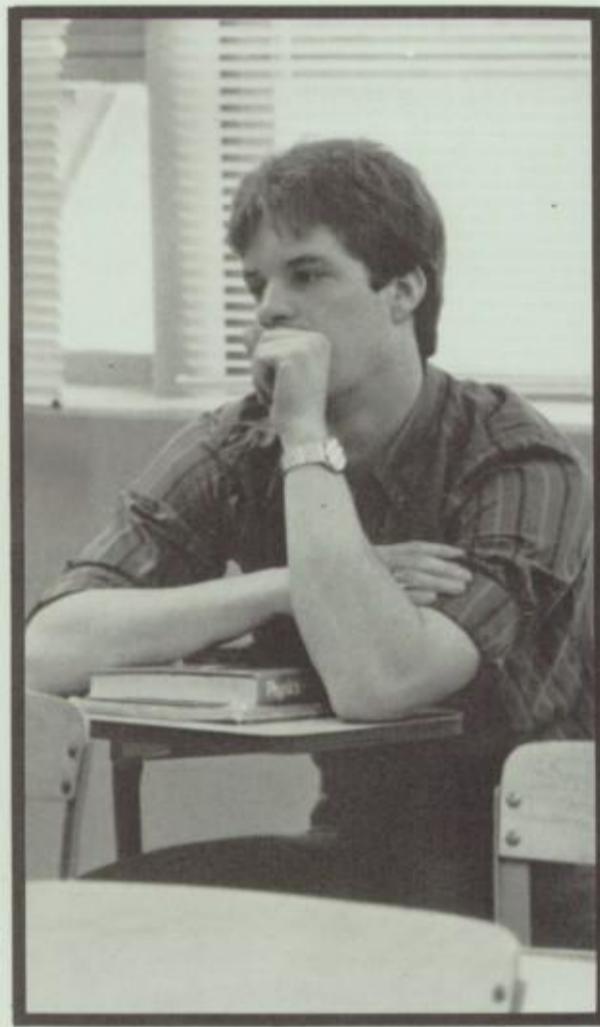

Uniforms are required for girls taking P.E. Darla Rutherford tries to make the best of her "Banana" suit.

Junior Sean Davis gives senior Kelly Small a helping hand while he stretches out.

"I like being in 4-H because it gives me a chance to help others, while I'm helping myself," said sophomore Lori Lamm.

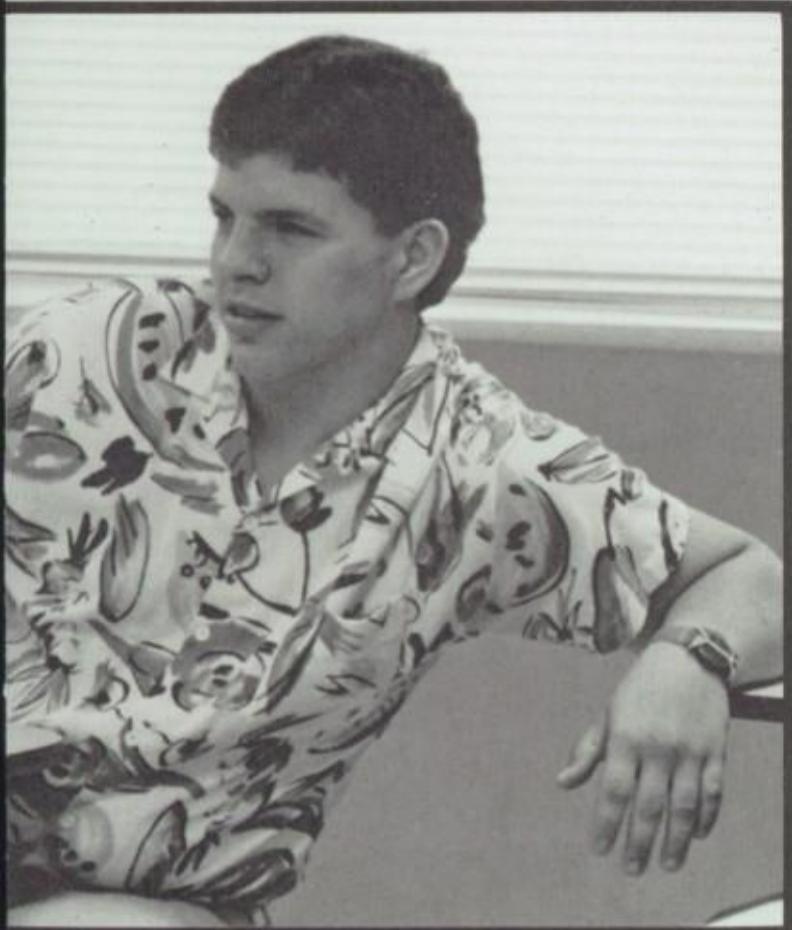

Senior Brian Keller listens intently to a speaker, during one of the 4-H meetings.

Vice President Andrew Lewis, and junior Wendell LeBlanc listen with interest, as Mrs. Charlotte Hutchinson discusses National 4-H week.

Mrs. Hutchinson's student teacher, Ms. Padgett, looks on during a meeting with interest.

Coy Berthelot listens as Mrs. Hutchinson discuss the upcoming Achievement Day.

Becky Amacker pays serious attention to the officers at the meeting.

Serving Their Best

Whenever you think about community organizations, 4-H Club always tops the list. Not only were they involved in the Heart Fund, National Grandparents Day, National 4-H week, and Achievement Day, but they also have been actively involved in thirty-three community and school projects this year.

Longtime sponsor Charlotte Hutchinson said the purpose of 4-H is "to train leaders to live tomorrow".

The officers for the 87 year include Brian Keller, President; Andrew Lewis, Vice President; Becky Amaker, Secretary Treasurer, Candis May, Reporter, and Lorie Williams, CDR Chairman.

"I enjoy being in 4-H, because it gives me a chance to help people while I'm also helping myself," said sophomore Lori Lamm. Other actively involved members include Angie Harris, Roni Harris, Gary Spence, Sonay Ohmer, and Richard Mikel.

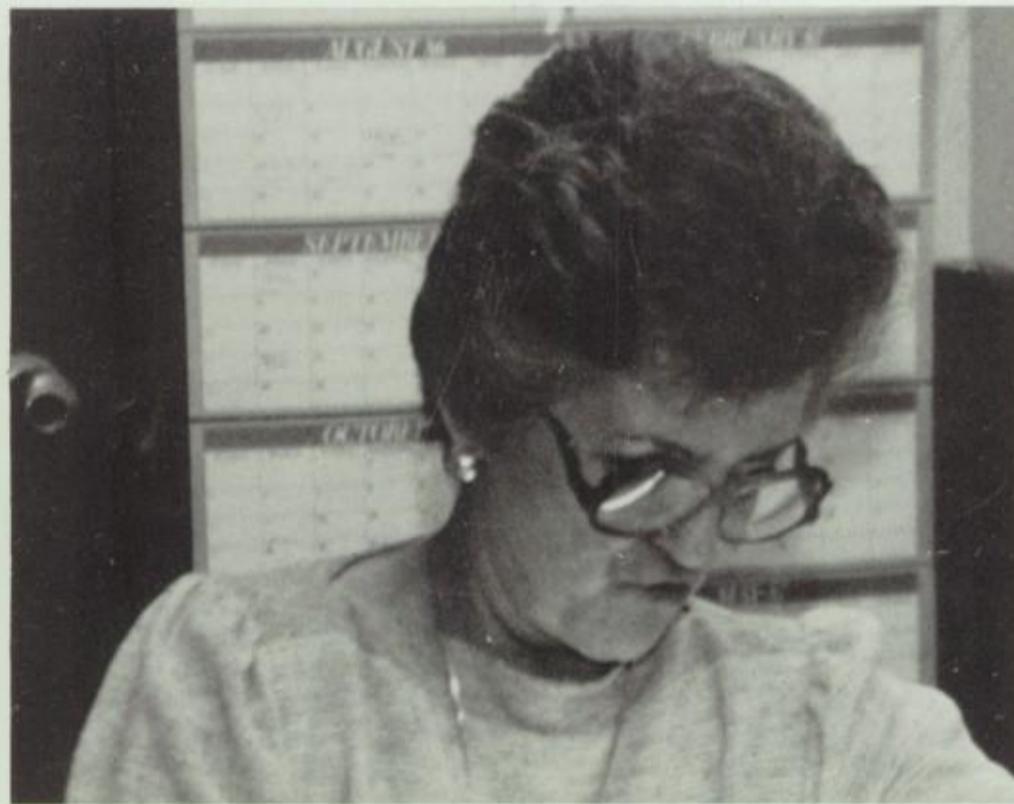

"The hard work and dedication of our members always show through at the end," said sponsor Diane Morgan.

Sophomore Sonya Ohmer enjoys a fun moment listening to a speaker, at the 4-H meeting.

Two of Mrs. Tate's many jobs include answering the phone and typing up the days announcements.

Being an office helper calls for a lot of work. Jenny Crow is seen here sorting out excuses.

Lane Satcher finally gets a chance to rest as she looks for a student I.D. number.

A Little Help From Our Friends

We get by with a little help from our friends or in our case, we get by with a little help from our office, guidance, and library workers. We just couldn't do without them.

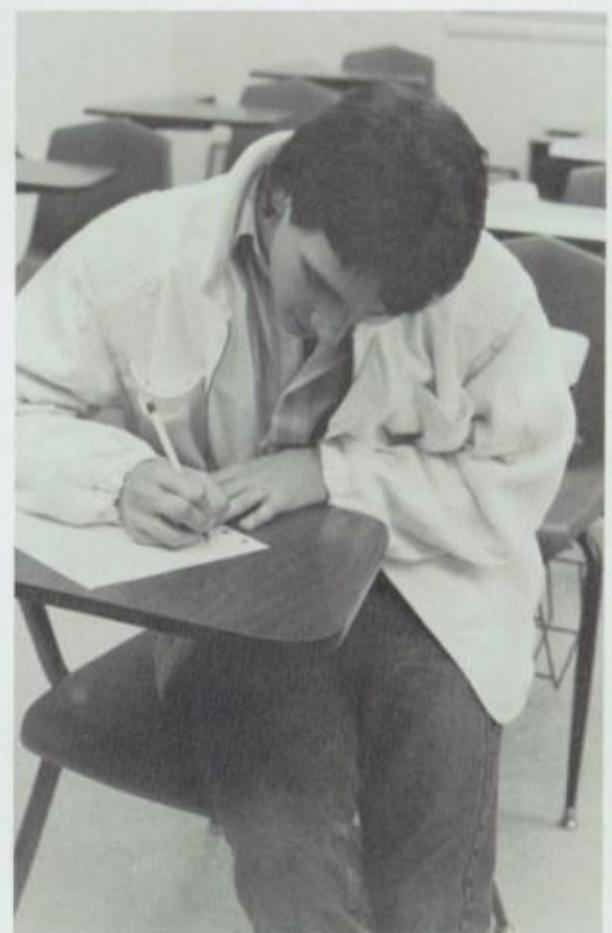

These workers go the extra mile to help things go a bit easier during school. By checking people in and out and answering phones, office workers give the secretaries a chance to get some work done. Library workers do much of the same, checking books in and out and assisting students in finding needed materials. Guidance workers help with much needed chores everyday.

The enthusiasm behind their work is revealed in the quality they put out. We couldn't do it without them!

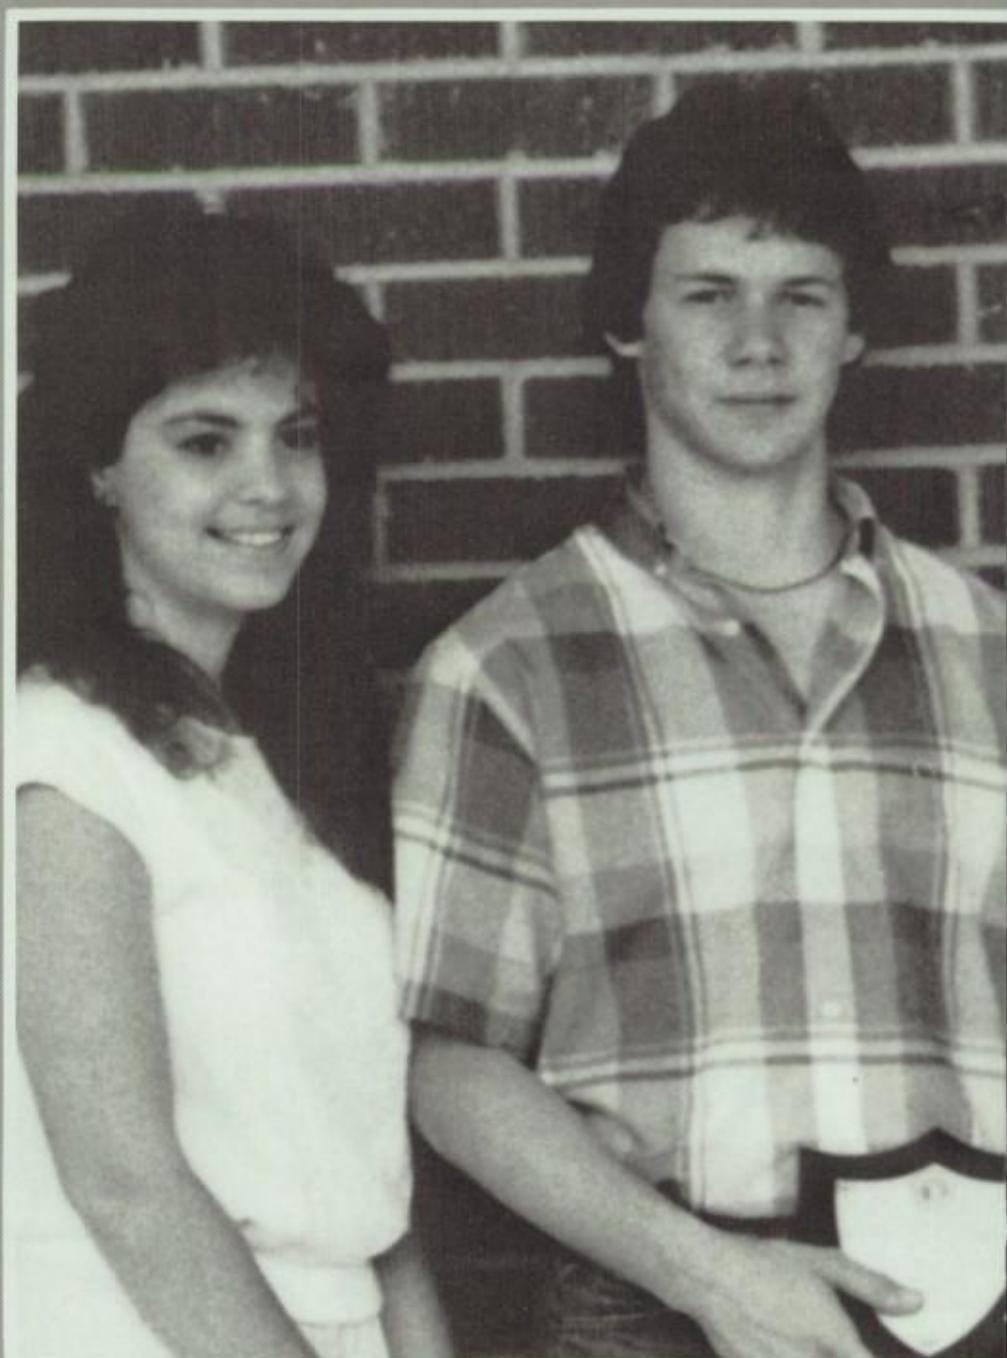

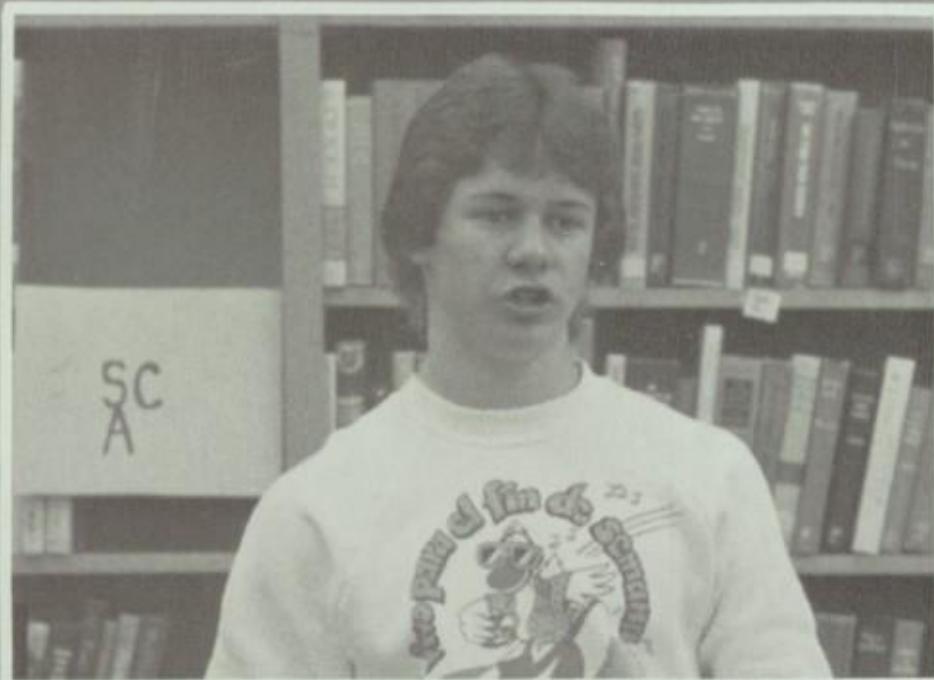

Mrs. Sarah Gully, one of the office secretaries, looks over the agenda for the day.

Don Pace, a helper with the audio-visual center, writes down the duties that he'll be performing throughout the week.

Mrs. Coleman, one of the guidance counselors, rechecks the work she has just finished.

Wade McKnight informs the club members of upcoming activities.

Kelli Sherwood, Ron Camp, and Ashley Fontenot were among many that were picked to go to the state F.B.L.A. competition.

Winning an award makes anyone proud. Wade McKnight proudly displays his award with Vanessa Laird standing by.

Taking Care Of Business

Joel Ritchey and Vanessa Laird were placed superior in the District Rally, along with Ron Camp, Kelli Sherwood, and Ashley Fontenot as first place winners. This made it possible for the five of them to go to state.

Everyone deserves a reward when they achieve something good. Here are a few plaques that F.B.L.A. earned this year.

The F.B.L.A. Club helps prepare students for the business world. This year the club has had many achievements. Five members of the club were chosen to go to the District Rally, where three of them ranked first place, and the other two ranked superior.

Each year the club gets together and makes fruit baskets for the residents at Harvest Manor during the Thanksgiving Season.

The sponsor, Mrs. Paula Miley, was very happy with the things that the members have achieved this year.

Liz Paille concentrates on making sure that her work is done correctly.

Wade McKnight is proud to show off one of the plaque(s) that the F.B.L.A. Club has won this year.

Freshmen Sharon Day, senior Mark Day, and junior Michele Falgout concentrate on the subject being discussed.

"Pressing On"

FCA, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, is a club dedicated to a cause. Besides inviting new members to join, FCA also gives regular members a chance to hear the Word taught by many interesting speakers.

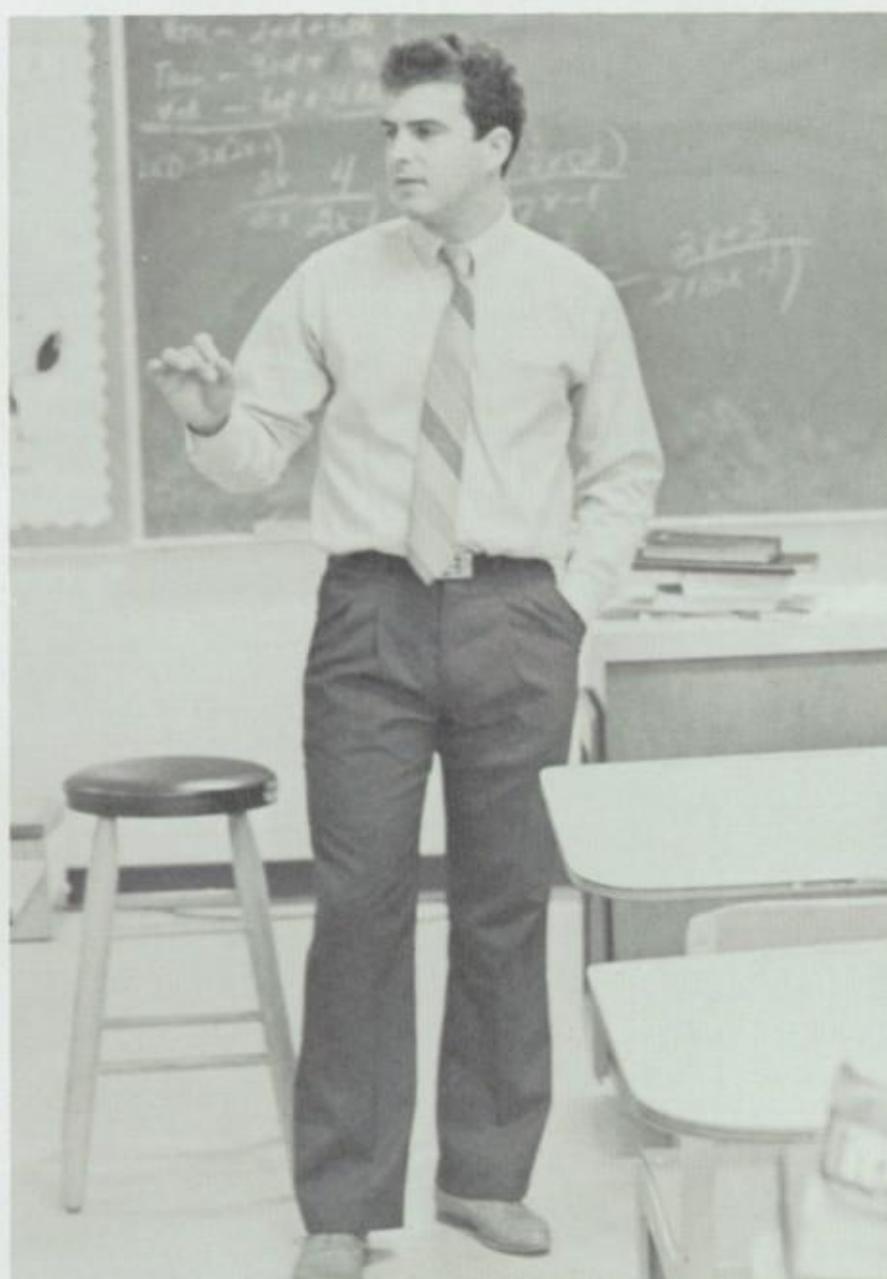

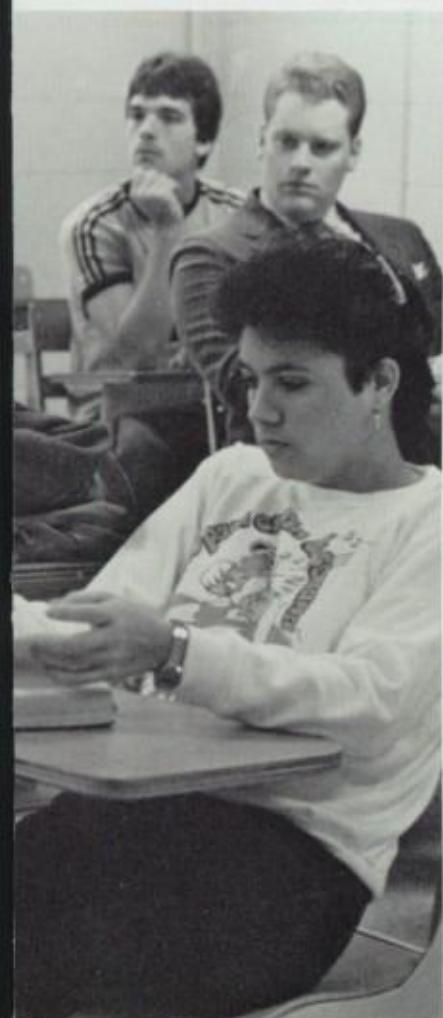

"I really enjoy hearing the various speakers' different viewpoints on issues from the Bible and from everyday life," commented FCA secretary, junior Joanna Beattie.

Whatever their reasons for being a part of FCA, all of its members share a common bond — the desire to share their faith.

Freshmen Joycelyn Adams, junior Joanna Beattie, and junior Michele Falgout listen to the guest speaker at the FCA meeting.

Officers of FCA are: president, Mark Day; treasurer, Joel Ritchie; vice-president, Edgar Stevens; and secretary, Joanna Beattie.

Junior Krista Saucier looks on with senior Mariam Rifai in her Bible while senior Kim Saucier listens to the speaker, Phil Courson.

During one of the weekly Crossfire Campus Club meetings, secretary Missie Collins takes notes on that morning's topic.

E. T. Tapper, assistant youth pastor of Family Worship Center, tries to point out how very important prayer is.

"Crossfire Ablaze"

Crossfire Campus Club began this year at DSHS. It's not a club, but rather it's students reaching out to fellow classmates. They try to share the happiness and peace that they've gained. When spreading the news that God loves everyone, these young people help others to see that drugs, alcohol, and suicide are never the answers to problems.

Each Thursday morning students meet to hear why they should give it all to Jesus and rejoice in His goodness.

Mrs. Hughes, the sponsor, believes, "Crossfire Campus Club is a great encouragement to Christian students. They know that they are not alone on campus, and it makes it easier for them to take a stand for Christ." Many can truly agree with junior Missie Collins when she says, "It's one of the best things that has happened to this high school."

"More Than Just Farming"

FFA is a very strong club at Denham Springs High School. Most of us recognize FFA simply as a club to help sharpen farming skills, animal husbandry, etc. There is, however, more to FFA than these few skills or apprenticeships. Leadership and speech techniques are taught to selected members of FFA, such as parliamentary procedure and various other seminars. Members may also participate in other programs such as welding, plumbing, land surveying, and maintenance on small engines.

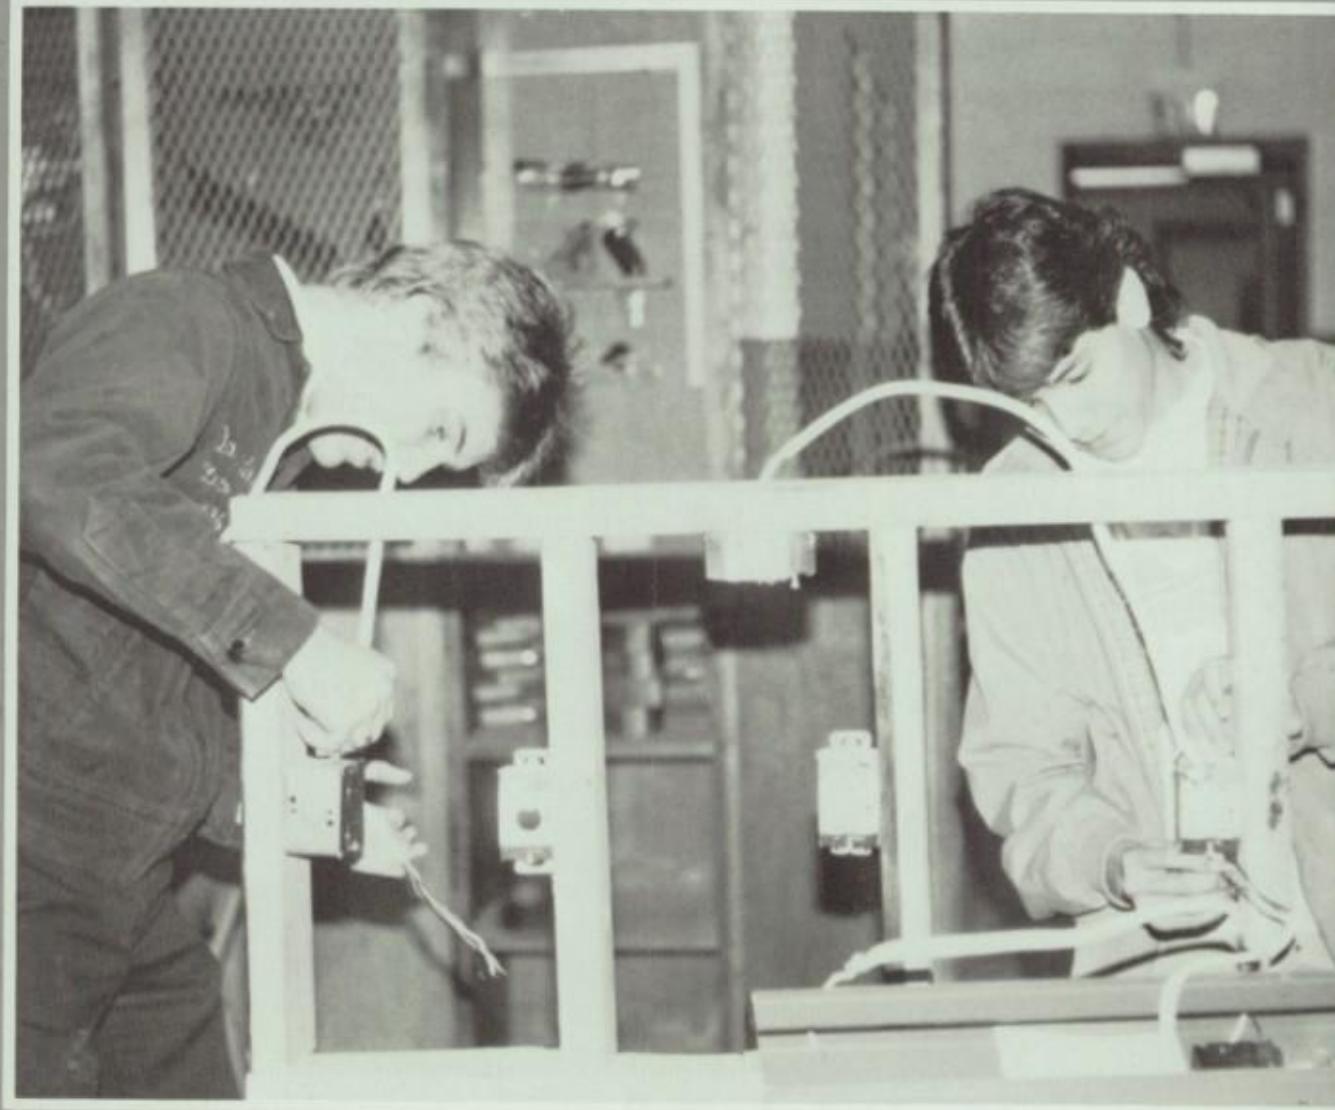

Reflecting on parliamentary procedure, senior Buddy Mincey said that "FFA has enabled me to express myself to others and feel comfortable in front of a group."

Juniors Damon Laspe and Anthony Clarke apply their skills as they wire electrical outlets.

Senior Joe Restivo and Junior Shannon Brogan tighten down on a pipe as they learn about plumbing.

Senior Patty Faulkenberry addresses the audience during a recent slide show in the lunchroom.

Junior Robert Chopin sharpens his skills in wood-working.

Shane Allen, an FHA senior, is proud of the gift that she was given at the FHA "Get Aquainted Party".

Senior Ginger Arnold and freshmen Debra Hood show their enthusiasm at the "Get Aquainted Party" which took place in the beginning of the year.

Shaping America

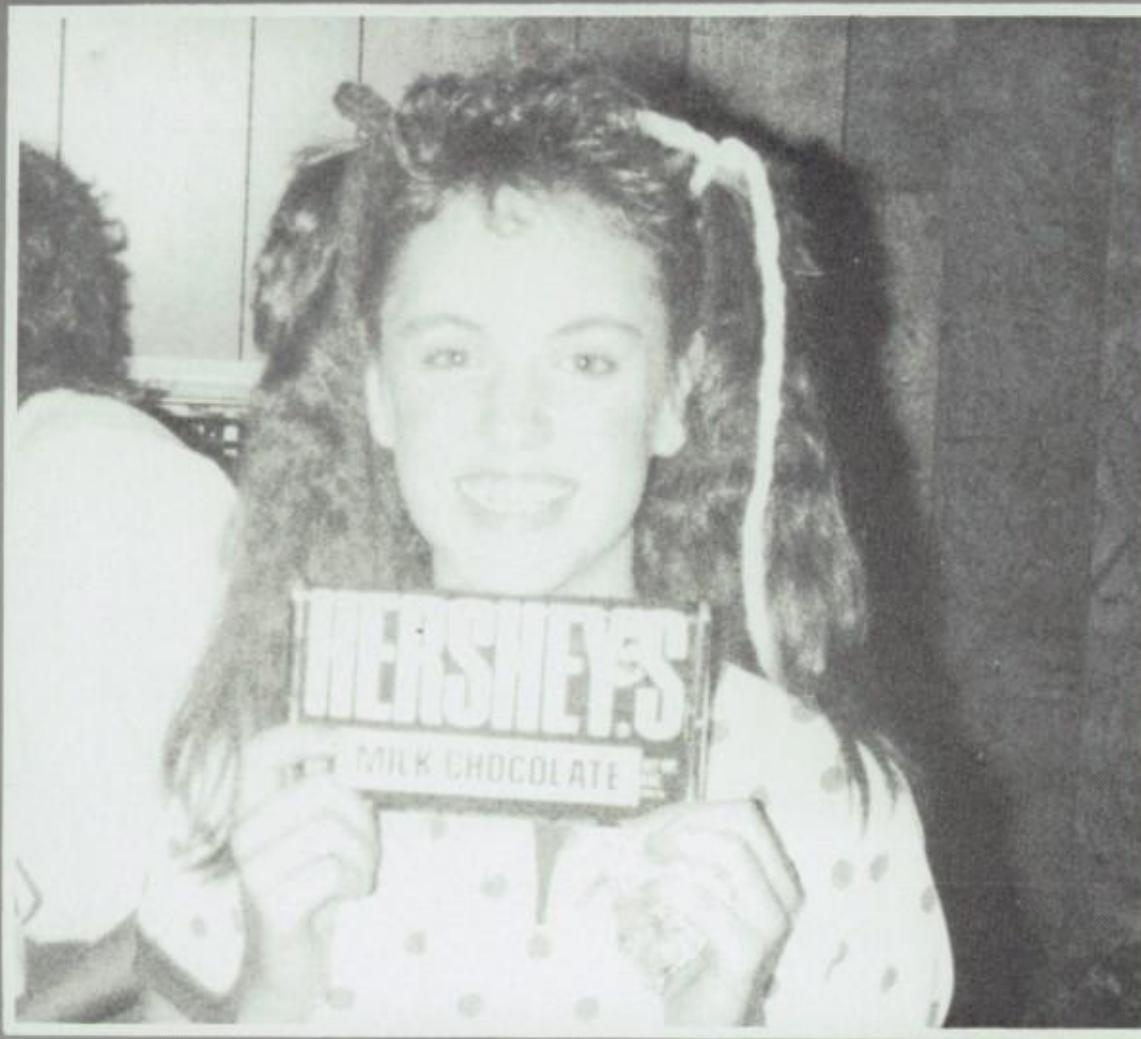

Future Homemakers of America functions as a part of the curriculum called Home Economics. This vocational organization helps students with the role they play in society, family life, vocational programs and also in community involvements.

Future Homemakers of America (also known as F.H.A.), is the club that is responsible for livening up the Christmas spirit at Christmas time by buying, decorating, and caring for a Christmas tree which they put in the lunchroom.

Usually during October, F.H.A. has a "get-acquainted" meeting. At this meeting, the old members and the new members meet each other and become familiar with each other. Besides this meeting, other ones are held in which guests are invited to speak to the club about various ideas.

The officers are as follows: Jennifer Orr, president; Shavon Robinson, vice-president; Darlene Hood, secretary; Tonya Morris, reporter; Ginger Arnold, parliamentarian; Shane Allen, song leader.

Ginger Arnold, senior, finds her gag gift at the FHA "Get Aquainted Party" very amusing.

As president of FHA, Jennifer Orr has many responsibilities such as leading each of the clubs' meetings.

"Student" Teachers

"No way! I'm not gonna be a teacher! Who wants to go to school all these years just to come back and work in one?" This may be the attitude some people have about teaching, but there are others who would really consider teaching as a profession, such as the members of Future Teachers of America.

"I really like helping other people, and teaching is a great way to do just that," said senior member Danita Aultman.

Throughout the year the FTA club is involved in many activities, such as teaching in local elementary schools, giving a teacher's tea, and having fundraisers.

"Every year we try to let the members teach at least twice. This gives them an idea of what it's really all about," said FTA Vice President Tammy Mazie.

Also, each year the FTA club gives a teacher's tea for the faculty. This gives the faculty an extra special place to come on their break.

Senior member Jenny Crow stated that "the teachers really appreciate the teacher's tea we have, and it gives the club a chance to do something for the students because the teachers are in a pretty good mood after their visit to the lounge, which helps us out in class."

Future Teachers of America is just one of the many clubs at Denham Springs High School, but if you're interested in being a teacher, or just like the activities the club is involved in, then FTA is for you.

Members Gay Parish and Sherrie Spence show their positive attitude about being future teachers.

Juniors Susan Connelly and Tally Campbell find the next idea brought up at the meeting something to laugh about.

FTA members Matt Picou, Todd Daniels, Carolyn Spangler, and Ashley Wall find the topic of Mrs. Killebrew's test more interesting than that of the meeting.

Exhausted from all of the FTA club work, member Cindy Watson takes a rest while Krystal Fredricks finds out what's next.

FTA members Becky Broussard and Lori Lamm pay close attention to the ideas brought up for the end of the year trip.

I give up! Club member Rosiland Harkins finally agrees to bring something for the teachers tea.

Uncomfortable bus seats lent to a somewhat sleepless trip. Foreign exchange student Paula Cellerino obviously lost a lot of sleep on the trip.

A fifteen-year celebration parade started at 3:00 every day. Winnie-the-Pooh was one of the characters featured in the parade.

Many rides are available at Disney World. This policeman can be found in Mr. Toad's Wild Ride.

Lines were sometimes very long. Mrs. Sarah Guley waits patiently to get into Snow White's Adventure.

"Together With Disney"

The senior class (as well as a few juniors) did it "Together with Disney", over the Mardi Gras holidays.

By driving all night long, anticipation grew, as did shaving creme on the bathroom door handle. Sleeping was made difficult due to the lack of cooperation from the bus seats.

Quite a few showers were taken on the bus because of smuggled ammunition; waterguns that is. Automatic, as well as hand, waterguns were taken aboard the bus and used to drench slumbering passengers.

Many people were also the victims of practical jokes. Plastic flies found their way into drinks, Exlax was discovered in cheeseburgers, and grasshoppers were conspicuously hanging on to lightswitches.

It was definitely a memorable trip. Mickey, Figment, and Captain EO will never be the same.

Long days resulted in tired tourists. Senior Tonya Sharon sleeps like a rock in her Holiday Inn hotel room.

To get a good seat for the parade, senior Tricia Hebert waits on the curb of Main Street.

The Kodak Company offers many picture spots throughout the Magic Kingdom. Wendy Warren, Tricia Hebert, Marc Carbanetto, Ashley Wall, Sherry Jackson, Chip Lovett, Todd Daniels, and Bryan Keller participate in one of the spots offered.

Cold days bring playful ways. Seniors Brian "Catfish" Alexander, Buddy "Applehead" Mincey, and Pat Mason clown around during the meeting.

Mr. Paul Tyler is one of the school's favorite teachers. Mr. Tyler has sponsored Key Club for many years.

Even though the meeting is held early in the morning, Junior Lee Barr and Seniors Randall Pitre and Rickie Johnson find something to smile about.

Need your car washed? Come to the Key Club car wash; you are guaranteed a good clean car and some good clean fun.

The Key Club car wash is an annual event. Everyone enjoys working and playing and getting wet and whatever else comes along with it. It is a rarity for anyone to leave the carwash dry. "Between getting buckets dumped over my head or being chased with the water hose, I couldn't help but have fun," said senior sweetheart Wendy Duncan.

The money earned from the car wash this year went toward the air conditioning in the lunchroom. Other money earned is going to the Special Olympics.

Key Club car washes are always fun. Junior Matt Nicou is the victim of a playful spray.

Juniors Ronnie Landry, and Jason Tullous listen to the speaker while Jon Odell (center) gives his undivided attention to the photographer.

Senior members Brent Newsom and Doug Harter relax after the meeting. Doug was president of Key Club this year.

In Key Club everyone pulls his own weight. Because a cast prevents him from washing cars, Senior Scott Garret does his share by collecting money.

"Keyed-Up!"

The Keywanettes were organized at D.S.H.S. in 1979, and Mrs. Tanner has been their sponsor since then.

This service oriented organization is dedicated to serving our school and our community in any way possible.

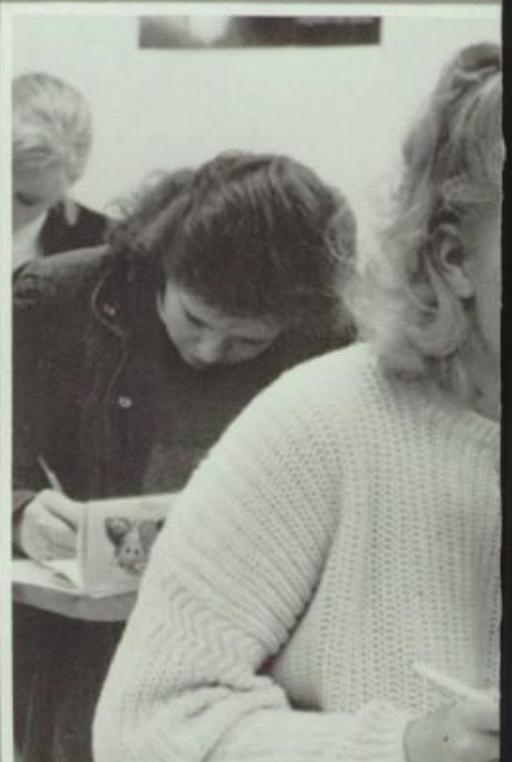

For fund raisers each year, the Keywanettes sell football programs and are in charge of the Easter Boutique. From the funds, scholarships are awarded to the outstanding senior Keywanette; contributions are made to Dreams Come True and to the D.S.H.S. administration.

Weekly, the Keywanettes are involved with volunteer work at the Golden Age Nursing Home, and almost every member volunteers to baby-sit.

Sophomore Shawn Langridge counts up her total Keywanette hours and then compares them with the total that Mrs. Tanner has during a meeting.

Judy Tanner has been the clubs' sponsor for many years. During the meeting, Mrs. Tanner reviews the hours with each of the Keywanette members to make sure they are accurate.

The Keywanettes appear to be busy with their assignments, while Holly Fisher seems to have her mind some place else.

Mrs. Tanner explains the order the meeting will follow, while senior Joy Tesei grins at the camera.

Senior Joy Tesei listens attentively to something that is being said by someone at the Keywanette meeting.

Freshmen Amanda Austin and Amy Aswell find some gossip to share with each other after having an interesting Keywanette meeting.

Seniors Kelly Thomas and Angela Stam find something amazingly funny as they thumb through their calendars.

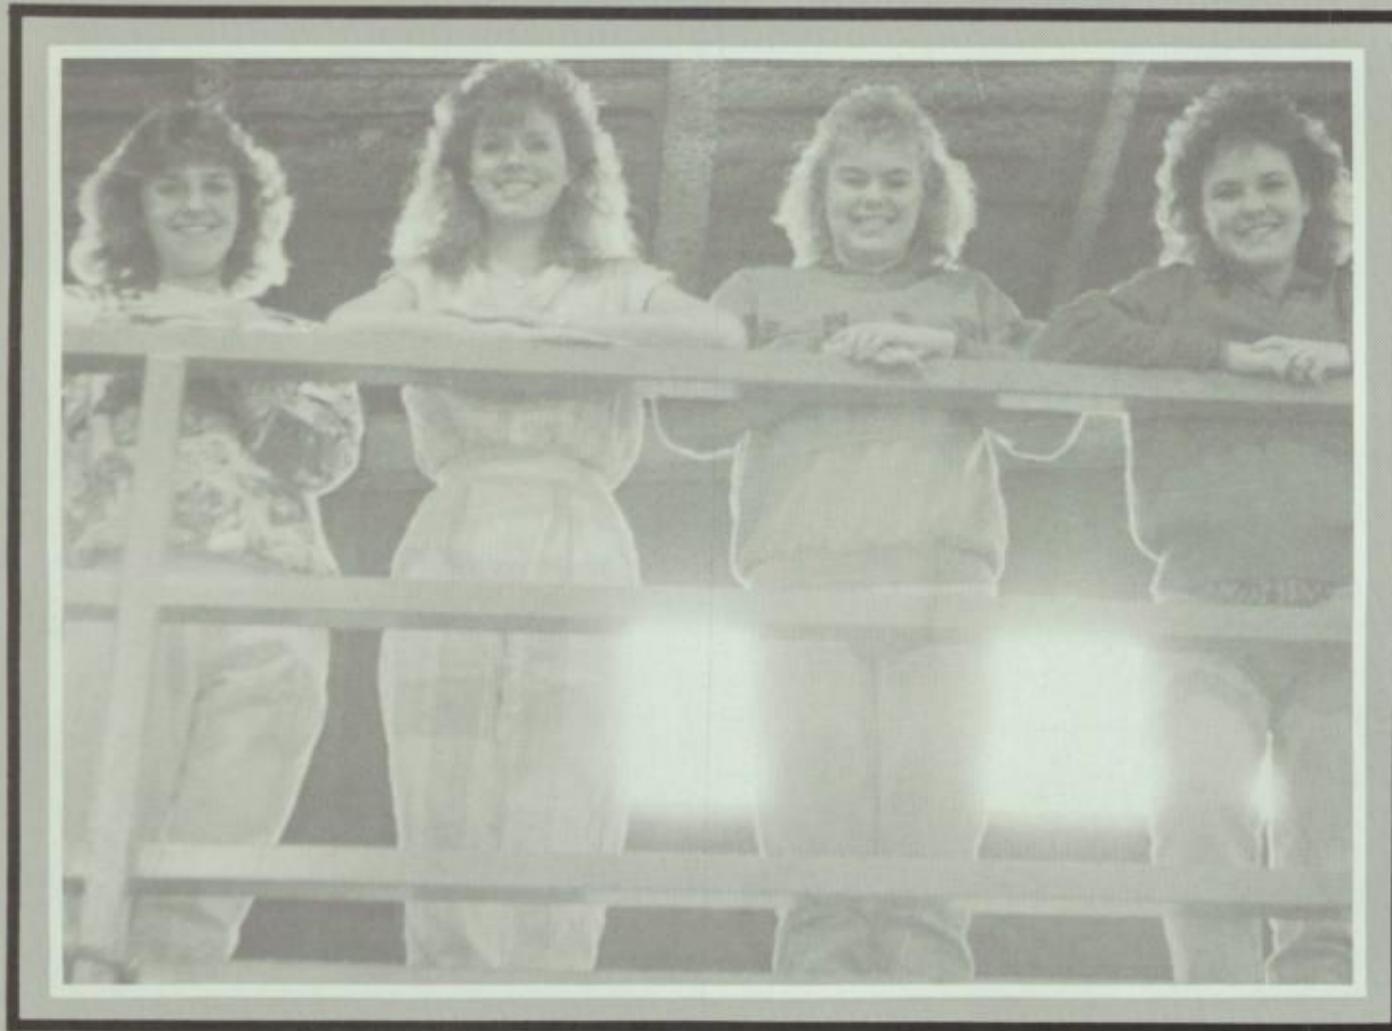

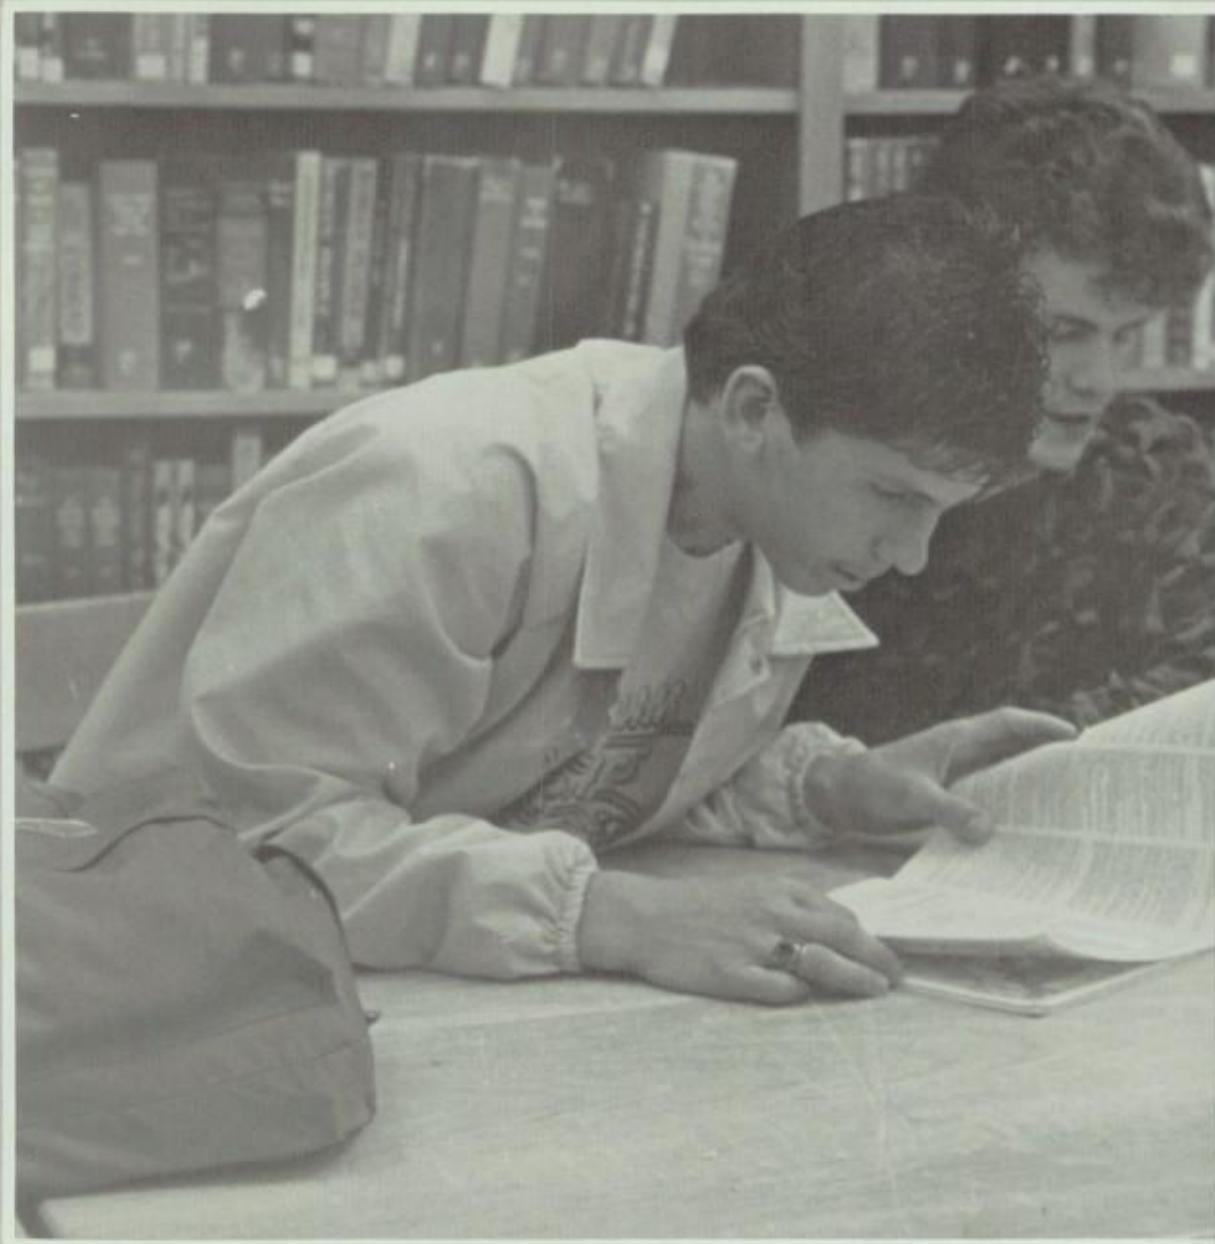

At one of the meetings, juniors Jean Hayes and Cindy Watson laugh at something one of their classmates just said.

While trying to take notes during a Keywanette meeting, senior Missy Wamstad politely signals someone sitting in front of her to be a little quieter so that she may hear what is being said.

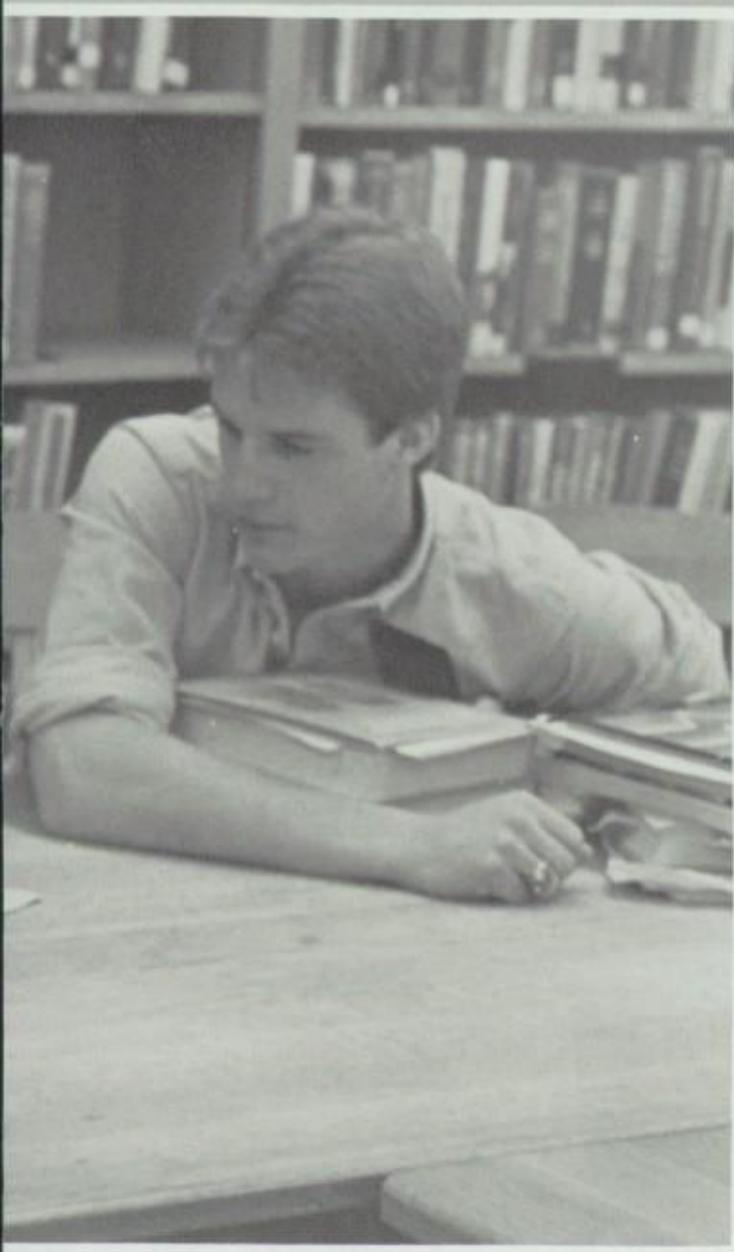

Marc Carbonetto, Paul Phillips, and Brian Keller hurry to get their homework done.

Billy Davis speaks to the Senior National Honor Society about what their futures hold in store for them.

The 1986-87 Junior National Honor Society officers: Program Chairman, Alycia Patterson; Secretary, Monica Sanders; Vice-President, LaAnn King; and President, Laura Schmitt.

Taking a break are S.N.H.S. members Joel Ritchey, Tricia Smith, Amy Lou Carter, and fellow members.

Academically Excellent

The pride of Denham Springs High School, the Junior National Honor Society and the Senior National Honor Society have many members who reach above and beyond the average to achieve and maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average. Not only are these students intelligent, but they also must be respected throughout the school. "We are supposed to be examples to other students and help them do better if we can," says sophomore Monica Sanders, a member of the Junior National Honor Society.

Students are first selected for their grades. Then they are invited to the meetings either the Junior National Society or the Senior National Society. After these first meetings, the students are invited to join the club. "Later on when you apply for a job, it looks good on a resume if you were a member of a high achievement club like Senior National Honor Society," points out senior Wendi Watts.

Listening carefully are S.N.H.S. members Shannon Covington, Taffy Campbell, Jean Hayes, and Jamy Allen.

The 1987 S.N.H.S. officers were; Program Chairman, Thea Lobell; Treasurer, Buddy Mincey; Vice President, Veronica Haynes; and President, Billy Davis.

Shh - Shelve It DS Library Club

The Library Club is one of the most active clubs at Denham Springs High School. The Library Club consists of approximately forty members who work on various service projects throughout the year. During the football season the club sponsors the Homecoming Dance. For Thanksgiving, the club provides two families with Thanksgiving dinner. At Christmas time the members sing and visit the residents of Golden Age Nursing Home. One of this year's largest projects is helping Seventh Ward Elementary establish a library. Several times during the school year the club members dress as various book characters and visit elementary schools and read to the children. In February the members attend the Library Club State Convention. The Denham Springs High School Library Club is proud to have two state officers, Dee Dee Strickland and Lisa Guidry. The club finishes the year with an educational excursion.

1986-87 library club officers are: Angela Bacol-historian; Rachelle Rheams-secretary; Artice Mitchell-vice president; Lisa Deemer-parliamentarian; Tonya Morris-treasurer; Becky Vick-president; and Lisa Guidry-reporter.

Library club sponsor, Mrs. Elaine Parker advises the club at one of the monthly meetings.

Library club members, Lisa Guidry and Becky Vick help to locate a magazine for a student.

Members of the library club are shown dressed as storybook characters. As a community service the group went to various elementary schools and read stories to the children.

While listening to the minutes, Tiki Philips and Mimi Singleton enjoy the club meeting.

Listening intensely to the speaker, Holly Fisher shows her seriousness toward the library club.

Senior library club members Becky Vick and Lisa Guidry listen to plans for convention.

"Leisure And Industry"

The Industrial Arts Club is relatively new at Denham Springs High School. It consists of students in classes ranging from metals to drafting. We have the largest Industrial Arts club in the nation.

Many feel that it is important to have a basic background in these types of vocational classes. Industrial arts offers these special students not only this type of education, but also the wholesome experiences of belonging to a club.

Senior Scott Musgrove said that "Industrial Arts has been a very exciting experience for me this year, I only regret I couldn't take it again next year."

Mr. Morgan presents a certificate acknowledging Mitch Clark's astounding work in selling Jambalaya tickets.

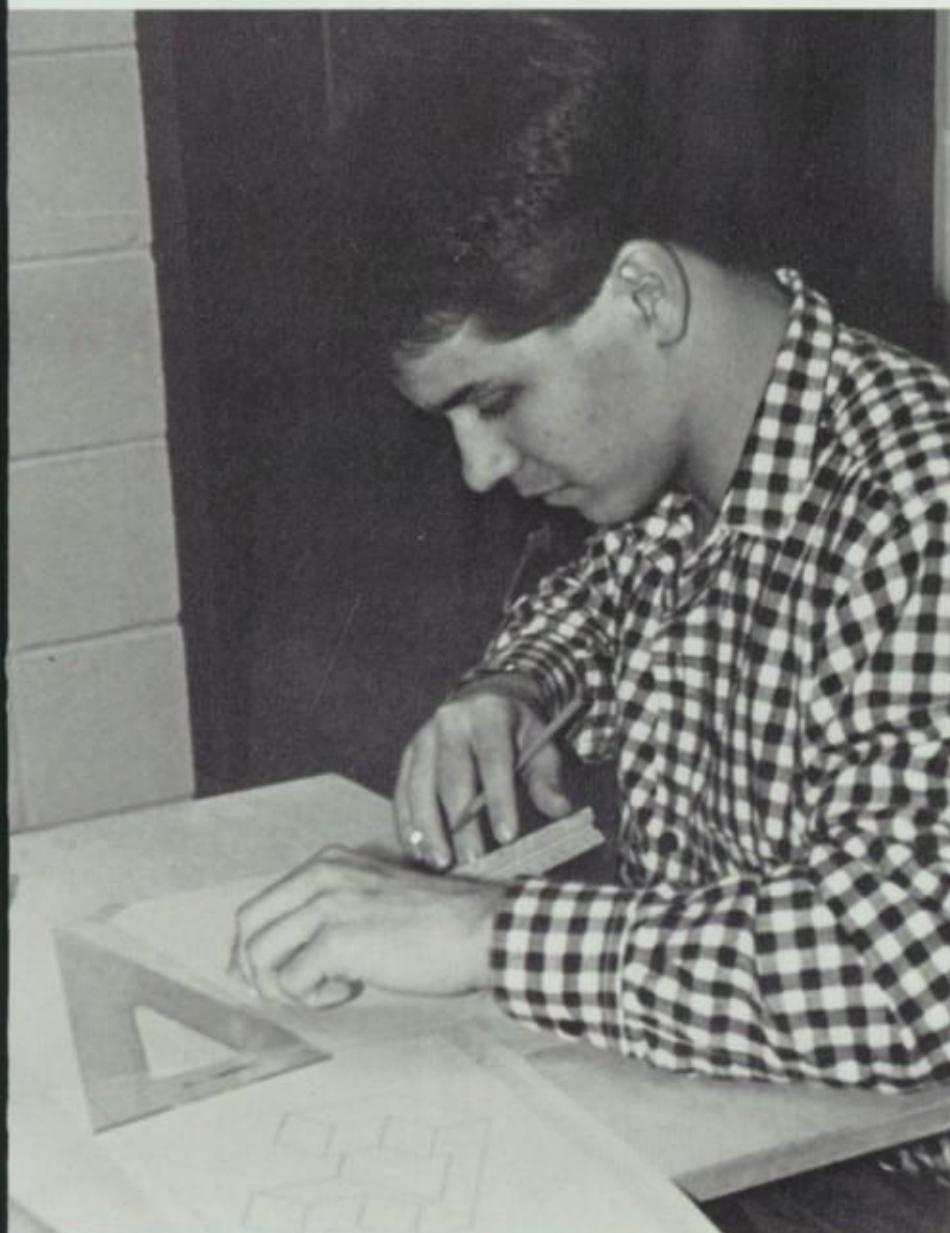

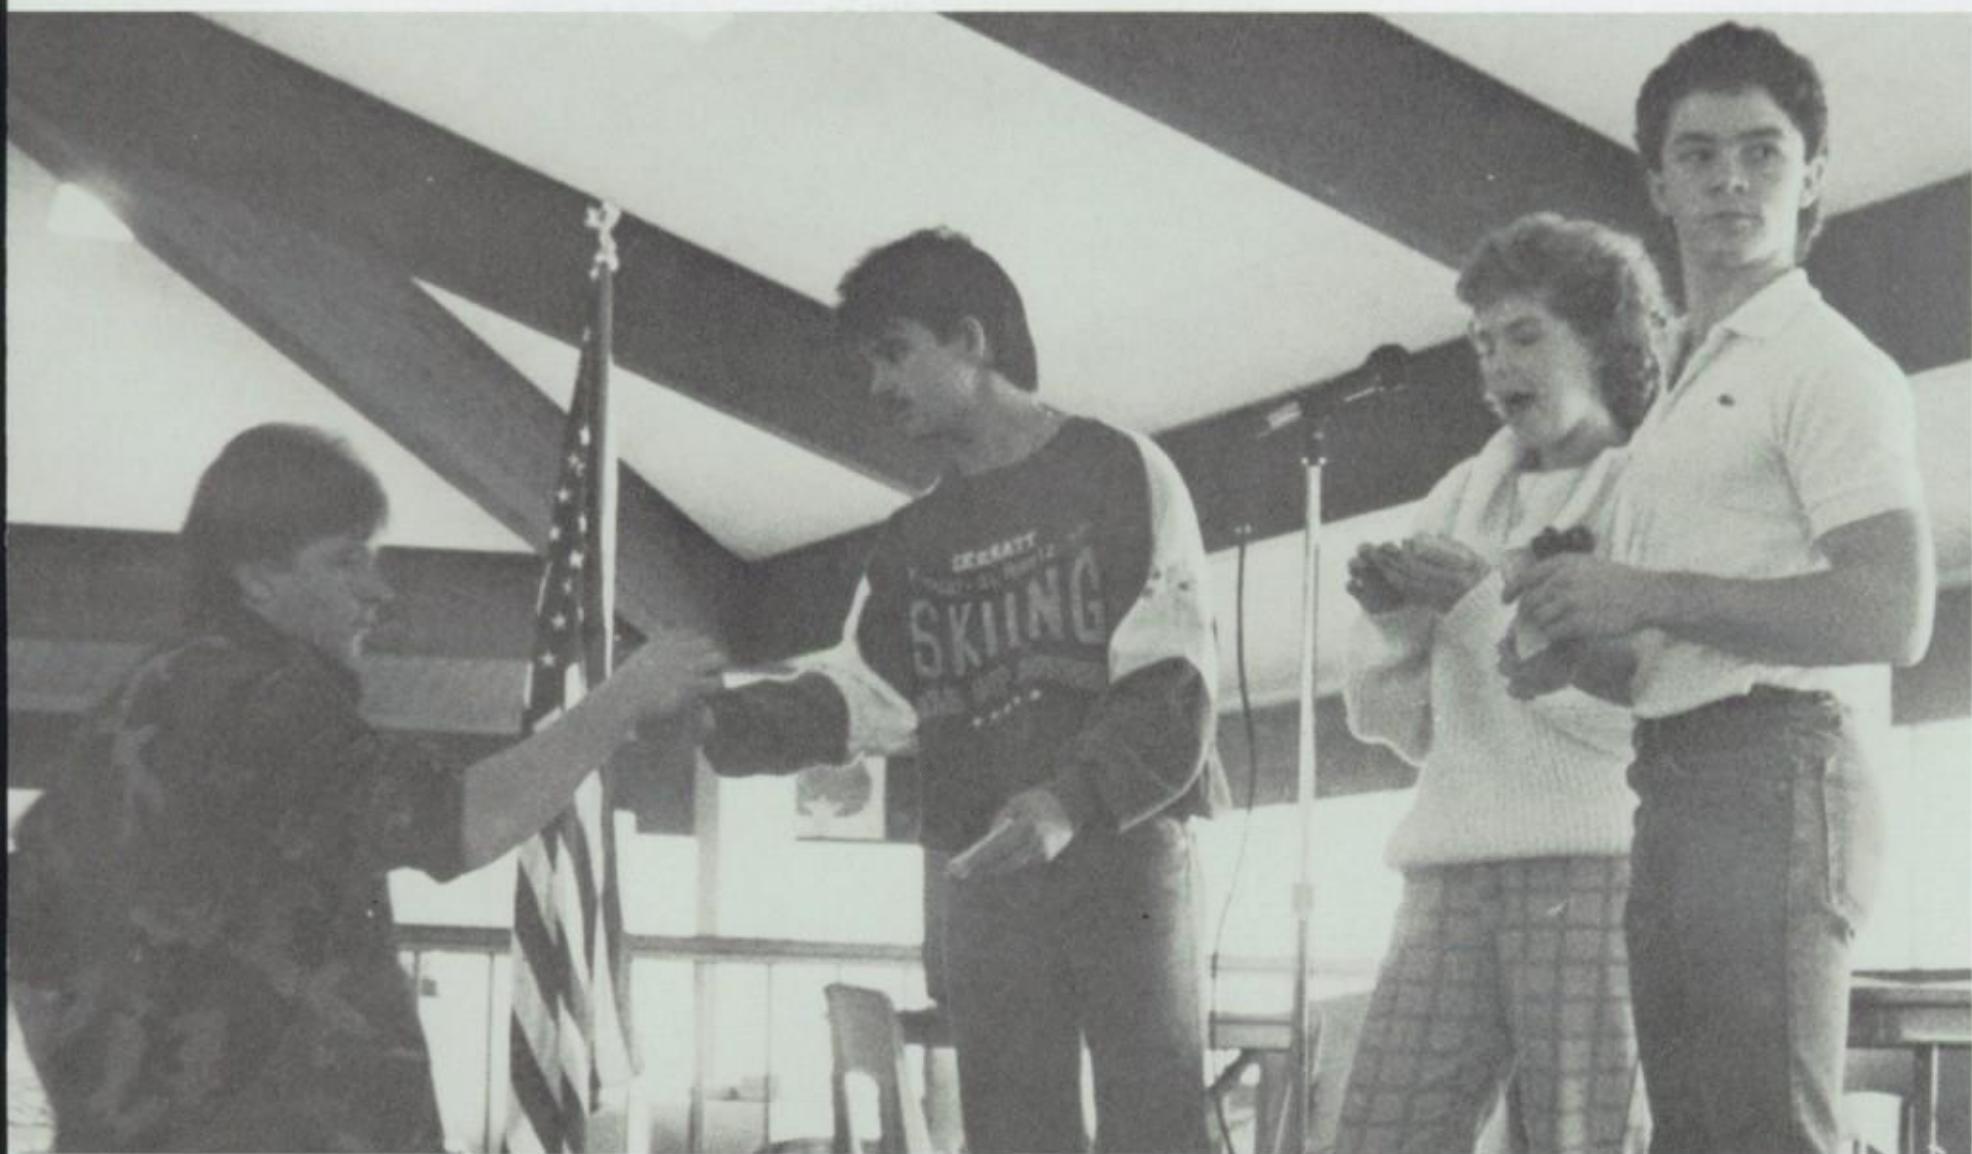

David Lee grins as he waits for the beginning of the Industrial Arts meeting.

Mr. Gaudin gives a helping hand to Michael Zeigler on a drafting problem.

Mitchell Cook receives an award from Steven Martino as Melissa Britton calls out names of other club members while Wally Avary keeps the peace.

Mr. Morgan gladly awards a Industrial Arts Scholarship to Wade Holden.

Academics are also part of the Club. Shay Cooper studiously finishes a draft.

Biologically Speaking

The Denham Springs High School Science Club was developed to help students better their knowledge of science. The sponsors, Mrs. Mercedes Walker, and Mrs. Tammy Lavigne, keep the clubs motto of "Knowledge, Skill, and Understanding" going strong.

Sponsor, Mrs. Mercedes Walker stands between two junior members: LeAndre Odom, and Eric Doolittle.

Co-sponsor, Mrs. Tammy Lavigne, poses with Eric Doolittle, a member of the Science Club.

President of the Science Club, Laura Whitehead, receives an award.

That Figures

The Denham Springs High Mu Alpha Theta is an honorary society. The organization provides tutoring services for our school. The forty members who serve in the Mu Alpha Theta must maintain at least a 3.0 average in both math and over all.

The sponsors of Mu Alpha Theta, Mrs. Celia Girard, and Mrs. Mary Hughes see to it that the members are well prepared for the state and district competitions they attend.

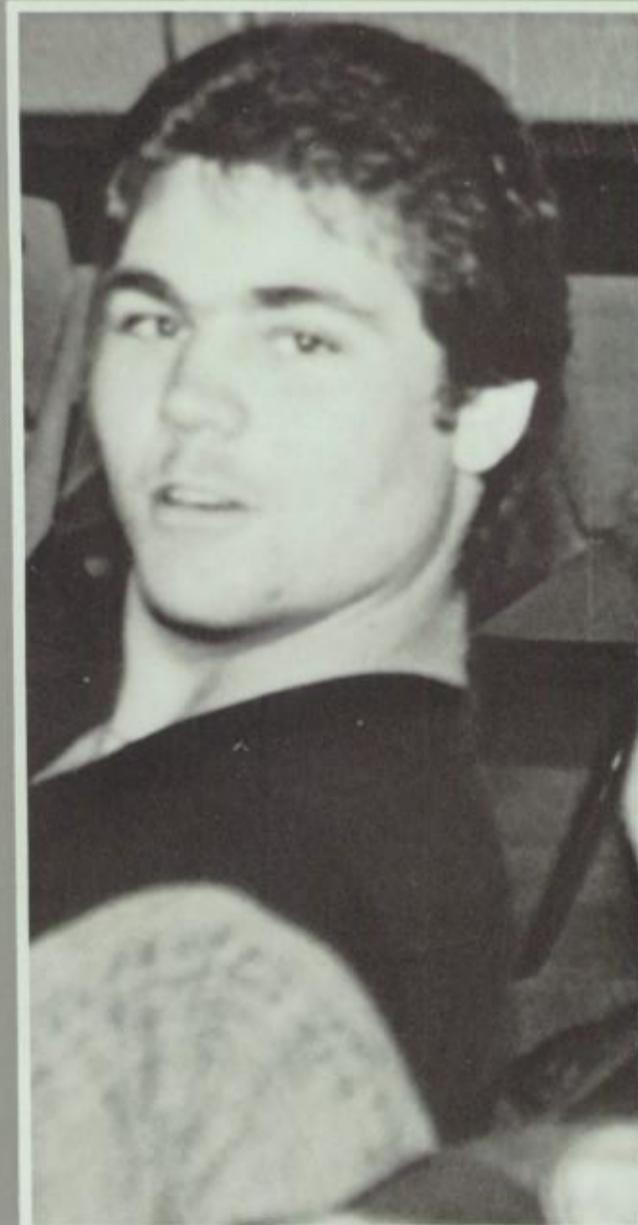

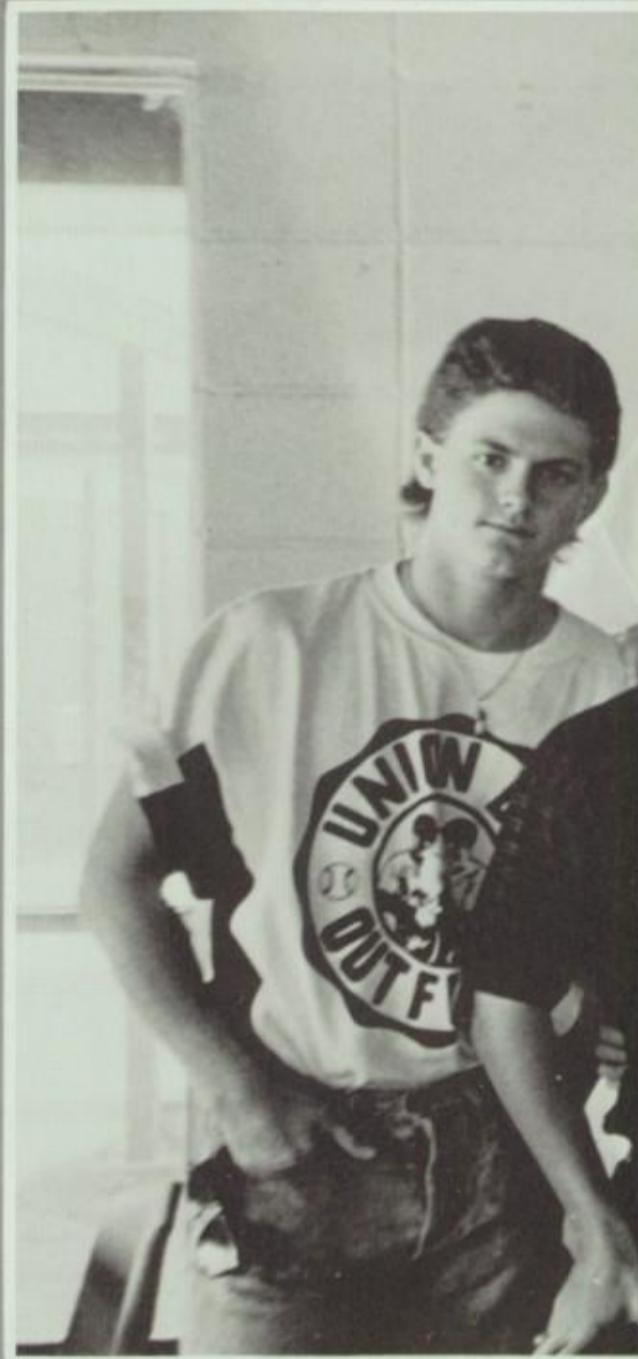

Senior, Missy Womstad, tries to cool off after a long session.

Seniors, Jim Hood, Lenore Stilley, and Rodney Ellis take their seats before the next meeting.

Sophomore Tamah Smith finds the guest speaker for the meeting interesting.

Trying to decide whether or not to pay attention, Kim Parker considers taking a nap.

Tricia Hebert, Laura Whitehead, Shannon Fancundus, and Wendy Duncan are shocked by the news Jenny Crow has revealed.

Seniors Brandon Kunetke and Brian Alexander love to get out of class for the meetings.

Exclusive . . . For Members Only

The Student Government Association is an exclusive club. A club exclusively for leaders only. The members are voted in by their classmates.

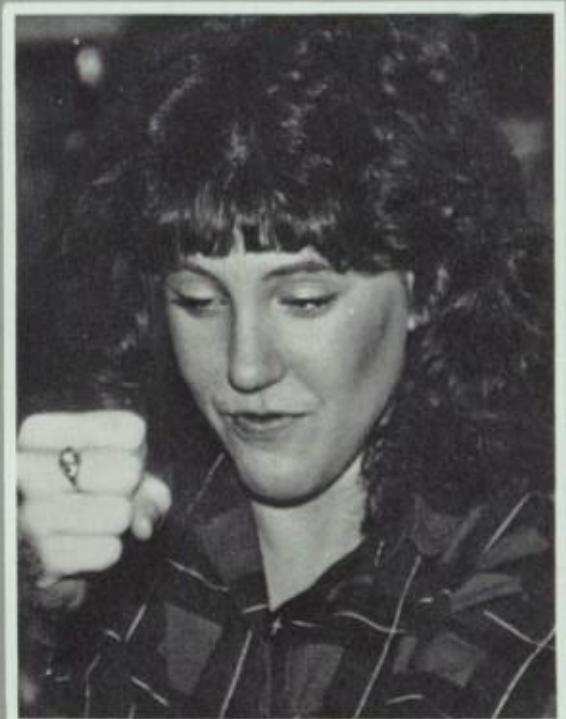

First hour classes elected their SGA representative. The class nominates candidates and then votes on them. One representative and one alternate is elected from each home-room class.

At the end of each school year, executive board elections are held. Any member of SGA can run for an office. A school assembly is called for the candidates to give their speeches. After the assembly, students vote for their candidates.

It is an exclusive club for members only. Only the best members make it work.

The SGA officers are: Bruce Easterly, Ronnie Howard, Mary Williams, Nan Duke, Allison Pope, Crystal Lott, Tia Meadors, and Monica Robinson.

During one of the SGA meetings, Shawn Langridge takes out her days frustrations on the table.

Old Artists Would Appreciate Young Art

If Michaelangelo or Pablo Picasso or even Van Gogh had been able to join a club they probably would have joined the same one. YACA. YACA offers a chance for young artists to compete within their abilities. A convention is held annually to give students around the state to show their work to their peers and to gather professional opinions about it. Though Picasso and the rest made it on their own, YACA might have made it easier.

Sophomore Vikki Shaffet paints the rattle on her paper mache baby.

Junior Vicki Duncan "goops" the paint on her work of art.

Everyone likes to help when it's fun. The art students all help paint on a project.

Jeff McMorris is oblivious to the fact the monster is after him.

The monster expresses his opinions of being painted on.

Mr. Matlock patiently listens to a student's complaint.

The 1986-87 officers are; Vicky Duncan V.P., Scott Corbit-treasurer, Vikki Shaffet-secretary, and Will Brown-reporter.

1986-87 Advanced French Club officers are: Jamy Allen and Angie Bergeron, co-social chairpersons; Lynnette Martin and Mary Williams, co-parliamentarians; Glenda Distefano, reporter-historian; Tia Meadors and Randall Pitre, co-presidents; and Monica Robinson (not pictured), secretary.

Attending the Spanish Club meeting are Calvin McMickens and Layne Barnum.

Senior Allyson Martin delivers the minutes to Spanish Club members.

Friends are an enjoyable part of club meetings. Lawson Covington and Tracy Mathis share good times.

A Cultural Advantage

There is always an advantage in learning, especially when this learning involves a new language. The valuable part of this education is discovered when this knowledge is put to use. Denham Springs High gives its students the opportunity to gain this experience by offering membership in the French, Advanced French, and Spanish clubs, in addition to the foreign language classes already offered. These clubs give a little extra cultural education as well as provide a lot of fun in the process.

The clubs are very busy. Not only do they host the most delicious teachers' teas, but also the "Singing Christmas Tree", various fundraisers, and last but most definitely not least, the very best parties!!! Along with these events, students make friends. Sophomore Staci Waits states, "I like being in Spanish Club because I make a lot of friends and it's fun!"

Members of the French Club show enthusiasm about their activities.

Senior Wade McKnight listens intently to the Spanish Club's guest speaker.

Spanish Club officers for 1986-87 are: Mariam Rifai, treasurer; Staci Waits, vice president; Wade McKnight, president; Allyson Martin, secretary; Jody Carney, social representative; and Stacey Smith, reporter.

1986-87 French I officers are: Melinda David, parliamentarian; Kathy Williams, president; Brenda Wolfe, chairperson; Jennifer Maher, secretary; and Rachael Watson, chairperson. Other officers not pictured are Susie Aubin, treasurer; Michelle Thornton, historian; and LaAnn King, president.

"Anchor's Away"

The DSHS Anchor Club was established on May 26, 1986, with twenty-eight members. It is a branch of the Denham Springs Pilot Club, an organization for professional women. The members' objective is to develop leadership, initiative, and personal integrity; they are to practice thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others. They are to emphasize the importance of home and family and serve their community in the most respectful way.

Senior Lyn Brown patiently waits for the meeting to begin.

Junior, Donalyn Johnson listens closely to what is being said

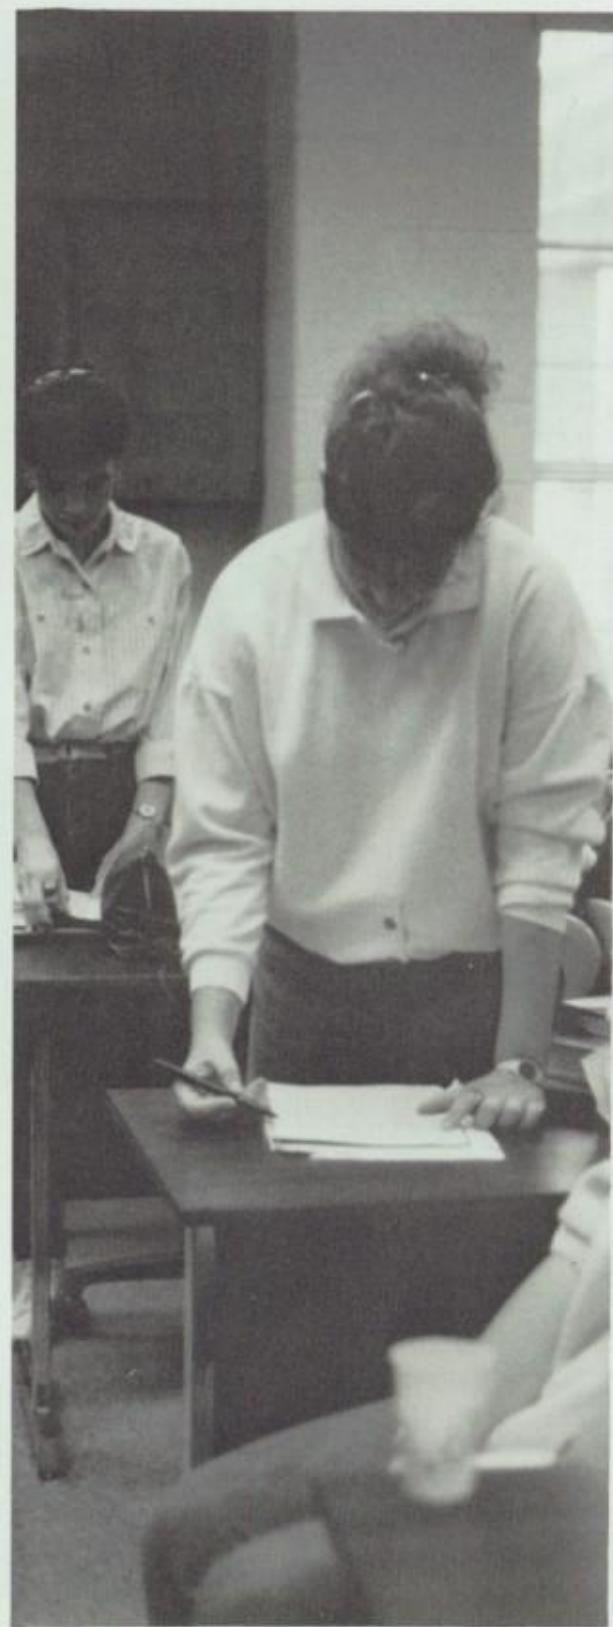

Sponsors of the Anchor Club, Mrs. Carol Sue Parker and Mrs. Kathy DeGeneres quietly observe.

President of the Anchor Club, Jeri Ann Whittington calls the meeting to order.

Juniors Kristi Keeton and Christy Morgan strive to stay awake at a Wednesday morning meeting.

Juniors Allyson Tollison and Gaye Perish read over their notes at the beginning of the meeting.

Sometimes meetings get out of hand. Seniors Cary Beth Rector and Lynette Martin wait patiently for members to become quiet.

Demonstrations are the key to good Act-O-Grams. Senior Chip Lovett shows that gestures are important for an effective gram.

Mrs. Annette Wagner has been a Thespian sponsor, friend, and teacher at Denham Springs High for twenty-two years. This is Mrs. Wagner's last year, because she is retiring from teaching. She is an exceptional lady and will indeed be missed.

Mrs. Wagner has a great deal to smile about, she finally gets a long vacation!

What A Talented Group

Thespian Club, also known as Drama Club, is an "active" group of students. These are the students that wish to show off their talents.

Throughout the year the club has an annual raiser; they sell Act-O-Grams. These are given from one student to another for any occasion. At the end of each year they try to hold a play. Having these fund raisers gives the members a chance to show off their talents.

Thespian members always add creative touches to events. These members add excitement to the annual Denham Springs Christmas parade.

Someone Special

Carol Sue Parker is a special person. She was named special education teacher of the year. A great deal of patience and understanding goes into being a special ed. teacher. It is a great honor and privilege for Denham Springs High to have her instructing our special students.

Special Ed. teachers must be just that-special. Mrs. Carol Sue Parker takes time to clarify a word for a student.

A smiling face always makes teaching more fun. Mrs. Parker always has a smiling face to offer to her students.

"Burger Backers"

The Burger King Corporation has adopted Denham Springs High School as one of the schools it will offer financial aide. They will provide much needed equipment that the parish and state do not provide funds for. We are excited to have been chosen as one of the schools sponsored by Burger King.

Denham Springs is a Burger King town; DSHS is a Burger King school

Senior Thea Lobell enjoys what made Burger King famous: a whopper, shake, and fries.

It's becoming one of the biggest problems for teenagers in America today—drinking and driving. This year our faculty, staff, the Denham Springs Police, the FFA department, and several of our students sponsored a "mock" accident for the prevention of drinking and driving. A poll taken in October of 1986, reveals that eighty-one percent of all high school students have experimented with alcohol and over one-half drink it often. Statistics also prove that teenager drivers cause the largest number of car accidents, the majority of which involves alcohol. Maybe you should think twice before drinking and driving or getting into a car with someone who has had too much to drink. Learn to say NO!

Experience is our best teacher. The seeming reality of Buddy Mincey's death in the mock accident made everyone think twice about drinking and driving.

It is always a privilege to be able to have foreign exchange students attend our school. It is culturally beneficial for both the foreign exchange students and the residents. Not only are they able to learn from our lifestyle, but we also benefit as we become familiar with theirs.

This year Denham Springs High served as host to Paola Cellerino from Milan, Italy; Hans Behrens and Andrea Krause, both from West Germany.

They came a long way to learn about us. Foreign exchange students have enjoyed living in the U.S.

Something . . . Different

"That's what friends are for" surely made a difference in a very special person's life this year. Students from Denham Springs High School and other area schools joined together to help out cancer patient Lori Nicks. The Spirit Committee of the class of 1990 sponsored a fashion show benefit. The endless hours of planning and hard work paid off when participants realized that their time and energy made a big difference in the life of Lori Nicks.

A special school assembly was held in honor of Lori Nicks. The money earned from the benefit helped to pay some of Lori's hospital expenses.

Each year Denham Springs High welcomes the eager faces of our future teachers. These potential S.L.U. graduates come face to face with the experiences that, up until now, they've only read about in their text books. Student teachers are required to make lesson plans, keep grades, and stand on duty. At some point during the semester, they take on the job of actually teaching the classes in which they were assigned. Although their supervising teacher's never leave the room, they are given full control of running the class.

Student teachers make school a bunch of fun. Even student teachers need a break every once and a while to have fun.

Tonya Morris displays some of the latest fashions with her high-neck cropped top and her straight skirts.

Comfort is an important part of staying in school. Here are some fashionable boots that are comfortable also.

Totally Different

We wake up every morning and get dressed and go to school. That's where most of us get our ideas about fashion. It goes from traditional blue jeans to elegant skirts, and everything in between.

Some of the "hottest" fashions this year are large bows, old faded blue jeans with holes in them, white boots, silver jewelry and accessories, mini skirts, and the long-waisted dresses. Some of the "hottest" hair styles are the medium bobbed, highlighted, colored, and large bows, the banana clips. Many students have their own ideas about what they consider fashion, that's why everyone is totally different.

Jamie Walker, Jason Tullos, and Sonny Jackson add a touch of class and color to their hair.

Kelli Covington proudly models her silver accessories on her way to class.

Lisa Harris keeps cool in the hot sun by pulling her hair back in a banana clip.

Thad Lentz gets into double trouble when both Kathy Benton and Kathy Williams read his shirt.

It's A Secret

Shhh! It's a secret. Have you ever wondered why beauty pageant contestants look so beautiful? It is because there are a numerous beauty secrets they use for competition.

Some tricks are; to put vaseline on your teeth to make your teeth shine and make it easier to smile, and to wear the rest of your makeup darker so not to look sallow under the bright lights.

These are just some of the beauty secrets contestants use to get an edge of her competitors.

Freshman Jolie Meadors was named Junior Miss Denham Darling.

Senior Buffie Thibodeaux's mother touches up her hair.

Junior Marsha Adams smiles for the judges.

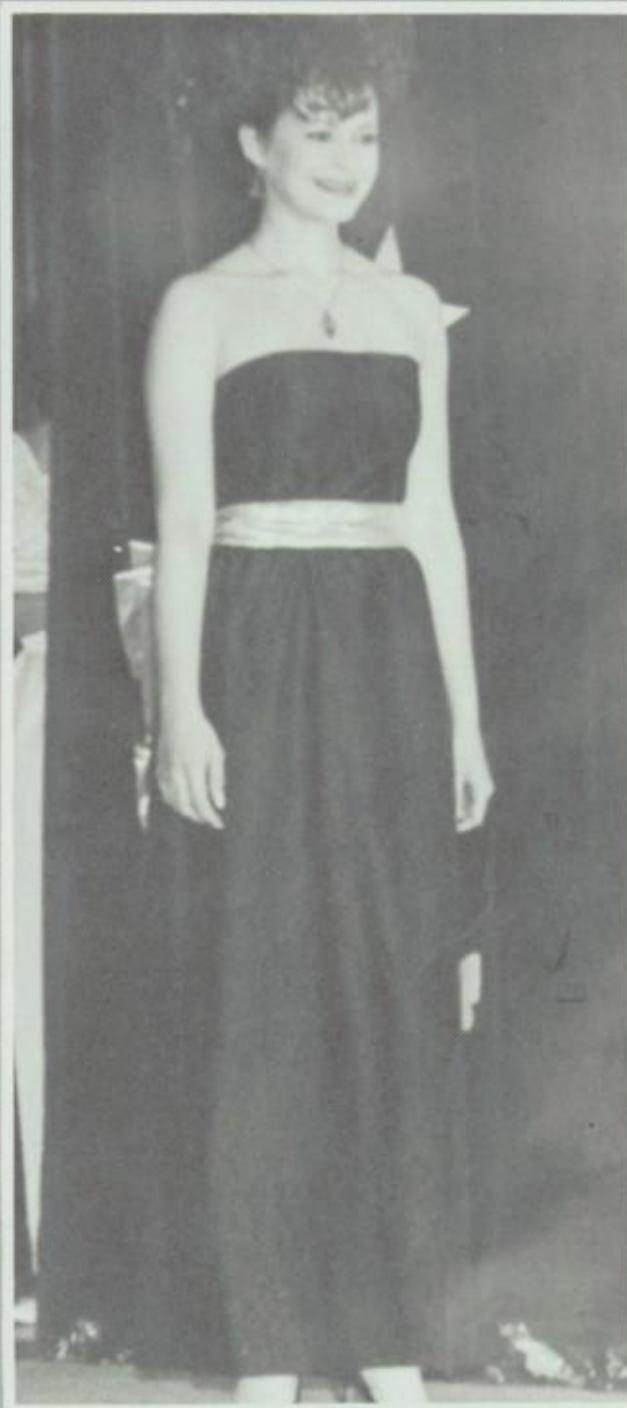

Senior Lynette Martin has it all together. Lynette was crowned the 1987 Denham Darling.

Good posture is important. Junior Rachel Denham keeps her shoulders back to get a good score.

Experience helps to win the contest. Freshman Heather Varando's modeling helped her to place as a runner-up in the pageant.

Prophet Or Profit?

The entire world of television evangelism was dealt a devastating blow as the Reverend Jim Bakker, president of PTL (Praise The Lord Ministries), was accused of having an affair with former church secretary, Jessica Hahn. None of the charges concerning Ms. Hahn were denied by Bakker, who has since resigned his position as president. The Reverend Jerry Falwell, founder of the Moral Majority, became the host of the TV show "PTL Club", and assured donors that the ministry would survive. However, since the scandal began, contributions from donors have been on the decline for TV evangelist all across the country. It seems that the audiences which were once captivated by these TV evangelist are now very skeptical and reluctant in responding to their pleas.

Convicted Killers

Barry Seale, a major drug dealer who later turned informant, was murdered February 19, 1986 at the Salvation Army Center in Baton Rouge. Seale, who refused government protection, was gunned down as he attempted to get out of his car at the center. The trial, which resulted almost a year later, convicted three Colombian drug dealers for the murder of Barry Seale.

Jury weighs fate of three in Seal killing

By JOHN SEBENR
Associated Press Writer

LAKE CHARLES — The question of who killed Agent Barry Seal was left for a jury to decide Thursday night after six days of closing arguments from prosecution and defense attorneys.

Seale was killed at 8:30 p.m. in the first-degree murder trial here of Miguel, Valerio, Bernardo, Adolfo, Rodriguez and Luis Carlos Quintero-Cruz.

District Judge Charles Quisenberry discussed the jury of 12 women and two men mostly older than 40, with orders that they could resume deliberations at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

In closing arguments, state prosecutor Freda Black described gory, chaotic and chilling circumstances inside her brother's law office against the three Colombian nationals.

The three men left a trail of money, documents and luxury cars, one used in executing a nuclear compact placed in Seal's life by Colombia's Medellin cocaine cartel.

To some degree, seal's killing is just another case of Barry's bad luck. Since an attorney's a charge with killing is the crux of any criminal case, the question is who killed it is the question.

Attorney Richard G. represents Valerio, including his wife, Rodriguez, Bernardo, Rodriguez and Luis Carlos Quintero-Cruz.

He said Valerio was a member of Colombia's Medellin cartel, which "caught wind that the men their son was was a questionable criminal."

"Why did the guys happen," Rodriguez said. "Seal was killed, there's an egg on the face of every country."

Political Ploy

The Reagan Administration came under fire this year for its alleged contributions to the Contra-rebels, using money made from the sale of arms to Iran. The United States has been supporting the Contra-rebels in their efforts to overthrow the Sandinistas, who have been supported for quite some time by the communist countries of Cuba and Soviet Union. However, much distrust and suspicion has crept its way into this nation's highest political office once again because of the secrecy that surrounds the case.

President Reagan felt that the sale of arms in exchange for American hostages was a justifiable reason for re-opening diplomatic relations with Iran. However, the fact that it was accomplished without Senate approval has come under fire. It is a deception that is sure to make its way into our history books.

Music Memories

The music that captivated our stereos during the 1986-87 school year was greatly influenced by superstars such as, Bon Jovi, Janet Jackson, Beastie Boys, Cameo, Ready for the World, Run DMC, and the Two Live Crew!

The 1986-87 school year saw many changes made in the Louisiana law books. A numbers game was played as the legal speed limit climbed from 55 to 65. Seat-Belt safety also became a reality as the state passed a law making the use of them mandatory.

Changes in the laws were accepted with mixed emotions. Many saw the change in the drinking age as a positive move in lowering the death rate due to drunk drivers. Others saw it as an injustice. "If I can die for my country, I should be able to buy a beer", said senior Mike Crow.

Most felt that the higher speed limit was for the better. However, many noted the irony of raising the speed limit and requiring that seatbelts be worn all in the same year!

When it came to the new seatbelt law, most felt that wearing one was probably the better alternative. However, the majority expressed much disapproval that it was made a law. "It's our life, and we should be able to make that decision for ourselves", commented junior Pam Reppond.

Only time will truly test these new laws. Maybe they are valid changes and will endure; and, then again, maybe they will not!

SPEED LIMIT 65

Percentage of people who buckle in:

	England	95 percent
	West Germany	94 percent
	Australia	92 percent
	USA	34 percent

We are behind some countries, but the percentage of Americans buckling up is growing.

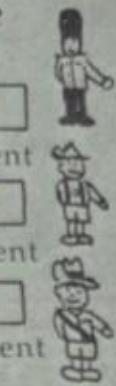

With the passing of the seatbelt law came a flood of media support. Articles like the one above were used to heighten the public's awareness of seatbelt safety.

Louisiana highways experienced a facelift in April of 1987, as the 55 m.p.h. speed limit signs were removed, and the 65 m.p.h. signs took their places.

Legislature OKs drinking age bill

Faced with the possibility of losing several million dollars in federal highway funds, March 15, 1987, saw Louisiana raise its legal drinking age from 18 to 21.

Hard Workers

Of all the staff at Denham Springs High, the lunch room and custodial workers are the least recognized at our school. We all appreciate their efforts very much. It would be very hard for most of us to get up so early day after day and clean floors, mow grass, clean restrooms, cook lunch and clean up for 1400 students. Our janitors and lunchroom workers tirelessly labor on in their thankless and neverending deeds.

Mrs. Vera Lazarre took a group of students, their relatives, and friends to see the beautiful land of Canada.

The group left Saturday morning, April 11, from the New Orleans Airport and arrived safely in Montreal, Canada at 3:51 p.m.

They visited many of the famous monuments, walked along the crowded streets, and went on tours everyday.

At night they would go to quaint restaurants and enjoy the delicious Canadian and French foods that they were served.

Everyone that went had a great time and many loved their tour guide whose name was Alan Murphey. On April 18 they loaded onto the plane at noon and arrived home bearing gifts to share with everyone and memories to keep forever.

As a symbol of freedom the Canadian flag waves freely with its eleven-point red maple leaf.

Senior Penny Barton expresses how much people mean to each other as she sings "Friends."

Remember

Each year a special event takes place that no one is soon to forget. In years to come all who attended Prom will say one time or another, "Remember?" Who can forget going to the nicest restaurants Baton Rouge has to offer — Joey's, Jacques, The Village, and Jack Sabin's? Also, who can forget how much preparation for this one date took?

"Prom was really special for me because it gave me a chance to share this special occasion with my closest friends, friends," says senior Cindy Rimes. Prom means very much to many people. Senior Wendi Watts said, "It was kinda emotional, because I knew this was my last prom. For a little while, everybody was in the spotlight." Each person has a special memory that they'll always treasure. "REMEMBER?"

Seniors Erin Delafield and Buddy Mincey dance to the music of the live band, "Ace."

The Grand Event

Graduation is definitely a heartfelt event in a senior's life. Mariam Rifai said, "I only regret leaving, because I'll miss my friends and some great teachers." Everyone in Mrs. Hughes second hour class agreed, "We've looked forward to graduating for so long, but when it finally hit us; it's sad."

The graduating class of 1987 ended their high school years with many tears and much rejoicing. Graduation is the most exciting night of a senior's year. They're looking ahead to a new beginning. "I'll miss the fun I had, but I'm looking forward to more great times," said Paul Philips. The future has much in store for each and every one of the graduating seniors.

The spring of 1986 was an exciting time for Denham Springs High School. On April 4, 1986 the juniors sponsored the Jr.-Sr. Prom, with the theme "A Night To Remember." In the late spring the yearbook staff sponsored the annual Denham Darling pageant. The title of Denham Darling was won by senior Christina Kabel. Melissa Baylous was chosen as Jr. Denham Darling.

Several national issues influenced students at Denham Springs High School during the spring of 1986. In January, the Challenger space shuttle exploded into a ball of flames, killing seven people. Another issue of national importance was President Reagan ordering retaliation against Libya for Libya's previous actions.

Spring sports were excellent during 1986. Denham Springs High School earned three state first place titles. Boy's baseball, girl's softball, and individual tennis were the three sports Denham Springs High School held state titles in.

After winning their respective titles, Sr. Denham Darling, Christina Kabel and Jr. Denham Darling, Melissa Baylous pose for the winner's picture.

"Revenge Is So Sweet!"

In 1985, the Lady Jackets made it to the state championship game against Barbe High School. Unfortunately, they were defeated with a score of four to zero. In 1986, however, the girls softball team came back swinging. They were undefeated through the entire season, and once again faced the Barbe Buccaneers in the final game. This time they were the winners with a score of five to three.

The ladies say camaraderie and teamwork are what gave them such a successful season. Sophomore Larsen Tate says "We all work together and encourage each other. That is why we win."

Success was a feeling often enjoyed during the 1985-86 softball season. Junior Michelle Landry and sophomore Larsen Tate share a high five after a successful play.

With all the work that needed to be done off the field, manager Wanda Caston was always there to pitch in!

You have to be slick to be safe! In this case Shannon Covington is home free.

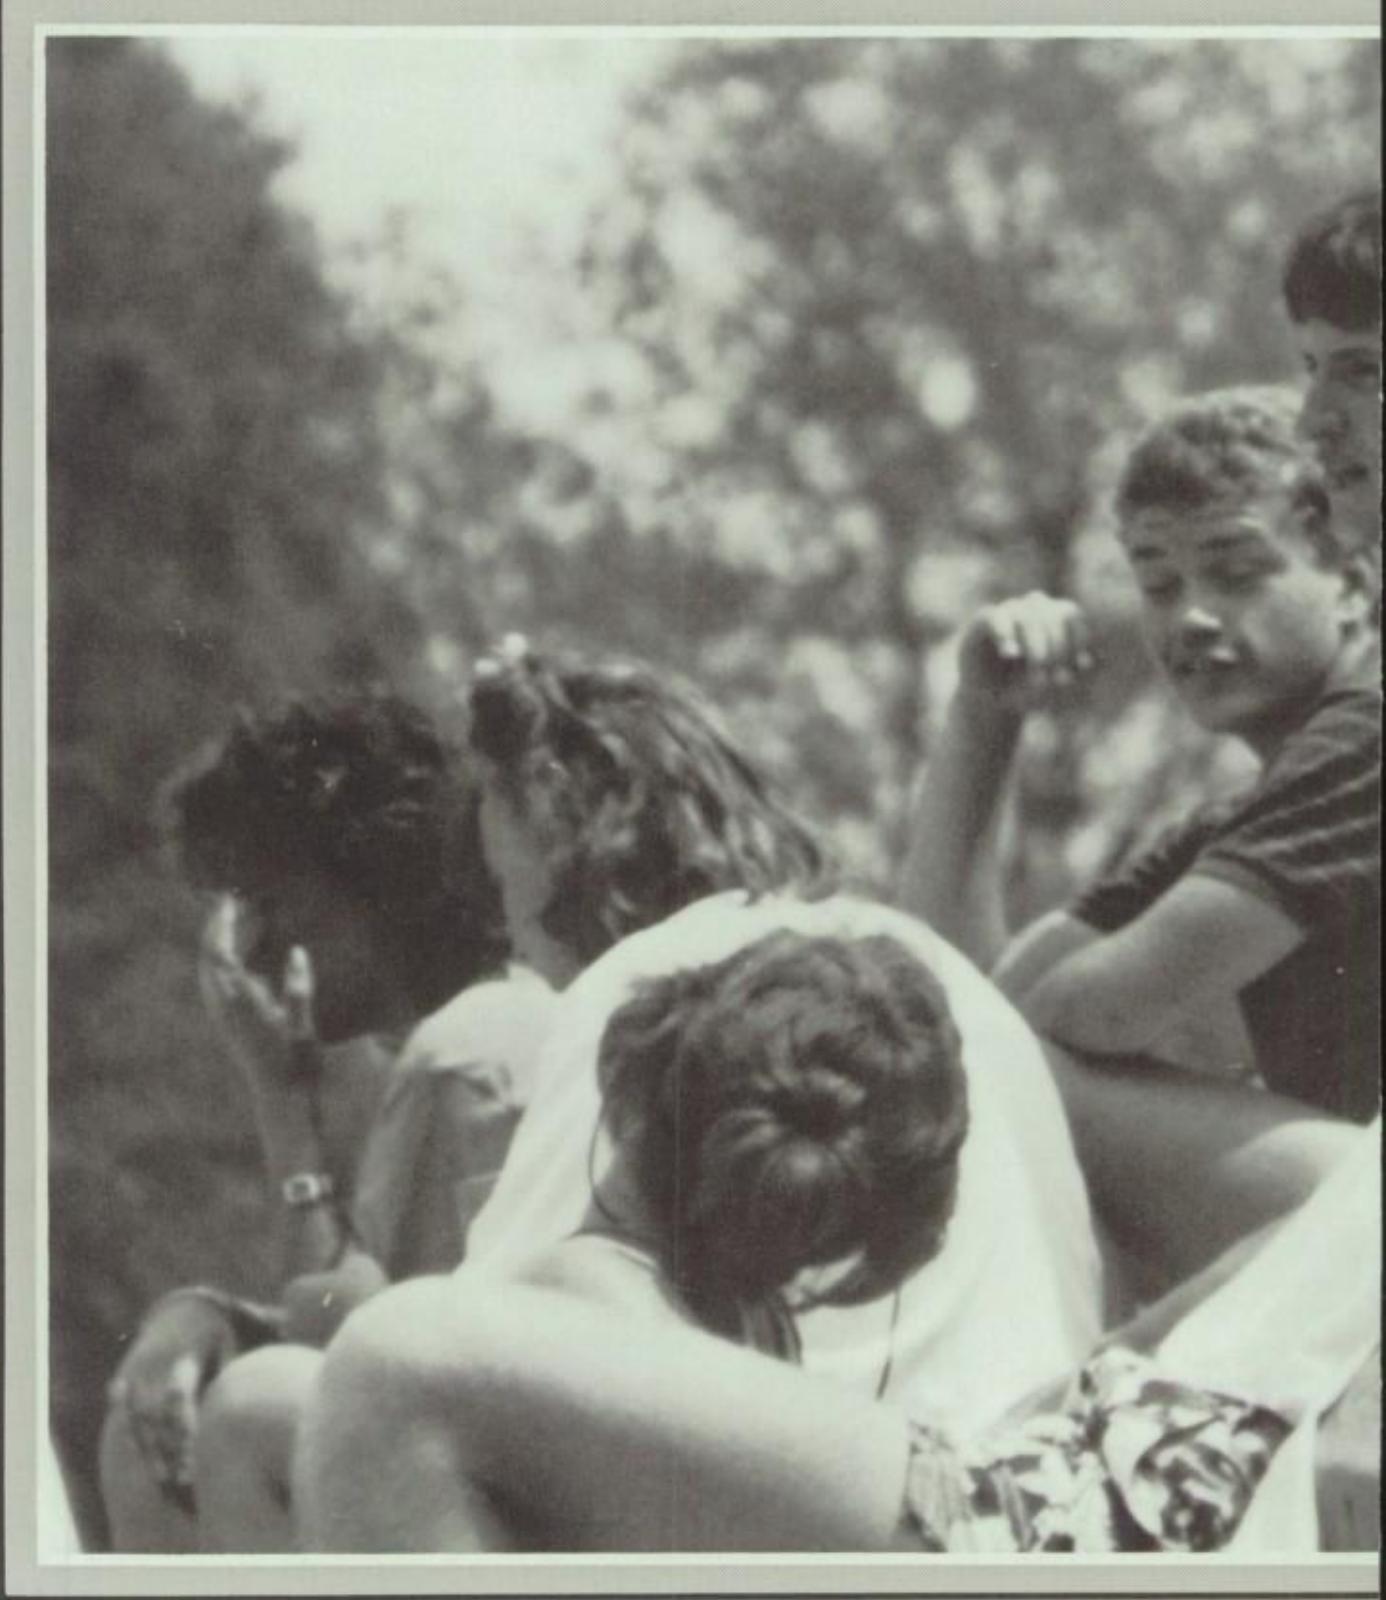

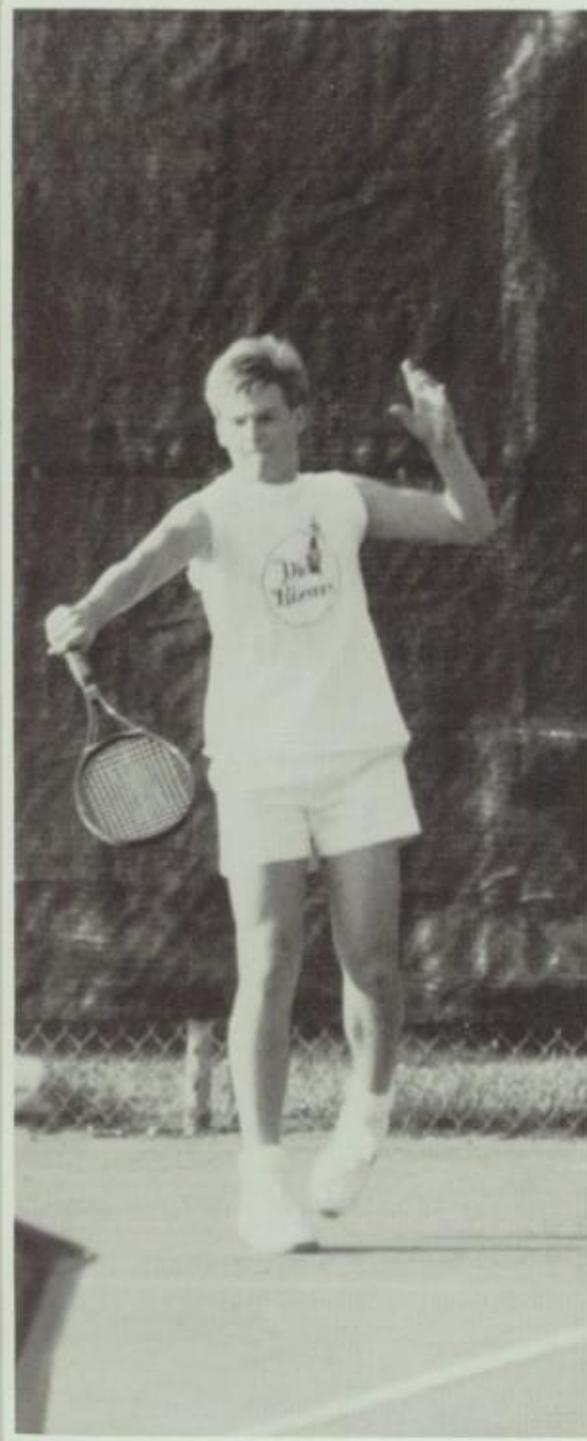

Showing her determination, Taffy Campbell heads for home.

Sophomore Larsen Tate waits eagerly for the play to begin.

A strong backhand can be the difference between victory and defeat. Senior Kevin Keen puts his all into his backhand.

The coach-player relationship should always be close. Senior Jana Garrison and her dad, Sid Garrison, share that closeness.

Tennis is a game of great concentration. Senior Paige Satcher thinks about her performance in the previous game.

Love Is In The Air

When Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote "how do I love thee, let me count the ways . . .", she obviously did not have tennis on her mind.

Love is an odd word. It usually brings pleasant thoughts and memories to everyone's mind except the tennis player's; love then takes a derogatory meaning. Love, in tennis, is not beautiful, it is not wonderful, and least of all it is not fun! In tennis, love is nothing; zero, zilch, none, not even one point, it is nothing.

Scoring in tennis is quite odd. At the beginning of the game, the score is tied love-love or in more common terms zero-zero. The first points earned are fifteen, then thirty, then forty, and the next point wins the match. If the score becomes tied at forty, it is called a deuce. To win a deuce one must win two plays of the ball in a row.

Where love comes into the picture no one knows. Some seem to think it is because, whether or not the player wins or loses, he still loves to play tennis.

Correcting mistakes is important if one is to improve his game. Doug Averette receives some pointers from Mr. Sid before his match.

Being a spectator of tennis has a number of benefits. Junior Russ Stafford takes in some sun while watching a match.

Freshman player Shawn Langridge relaxes with a cup of water after her match.

District playoffs are held at Independence Park. Senior Jana Garrison has won the girls state singles championship for four years in a row.

The handoff is important in relay races. Senior, Justin Harris concentrates on the stick making sure senior Troy Millet has grasp of it.

A coaches opinion is very important. Coaches Wax, Watson, Cothorn, and Tesei observe the tracksters performances.

Speed and determination are two important qualities a runner must possess. Freshman, Chris Dickerson puts his all into his race.

A trackster must always push herself to the limit. Junior, Carlyn Spangler stretches to get those extra inches needed to win.

On Their Mark

"Faster than a speeding bullet, able to leap tall buildings in a single bound—it's a bird, it's a plane, no! It's the Denham Springs High School Track Team."

Yes! The guys and gals have run faster, jumped further, and leaped higher than ever before. They are the all new and improved generation of track stars.

In all actuality the track team is just a hard working bunch of athletes with physical fitness in mind. They run, jump, leap, stretch, throw, and fly. It takes strength and agility to accomplish these things, and the tracksters certainly have it.

Height is essential to jump. Senior, Timmy Schenk pushes himself for a good jump.

Strength is the key to success. Sophomore Tia Meadors puts her all into her throw.

A few inches make the difference. Senior Tommy Walker has the winning edge on his competitors.

Driving On

Golf is a game that isn't mentioned nearly enough — especially around Denham Springs High School — especially since the 1986 Denham Springs Golf team placed first in regionals and fifth in state — especially since senior player Brian Goins received a scholarship to Southeastern Louisiana University for his excellent golf skills — and especially since they back up the reputation of Denham Springs High School as being the best!!

Not only is the team to be congratulated but congratulations are also due to each individual player, the individuals who worked hard, practiced intensely, and used skillful minds to make the team the best. Senior Reggie Poche states, "I like golf because it is one of the hardest games I've ever played; mentally and physically; winning makes me feel great because the competition is so strong."

Members of the 1986 Golf team were: Tim McDowell, Brian Goins, Reggie Poche, Mike Bencaz, Tim Schenk, Todd Browning, Scotty Martone, and Sheila Monk.

Rechecking his putting distance, sophomore Mike Bencaz takes time to get everything right before taking his shot.

Swinging the golf club to hit the golf ball is "batter" Mike Bencaz.

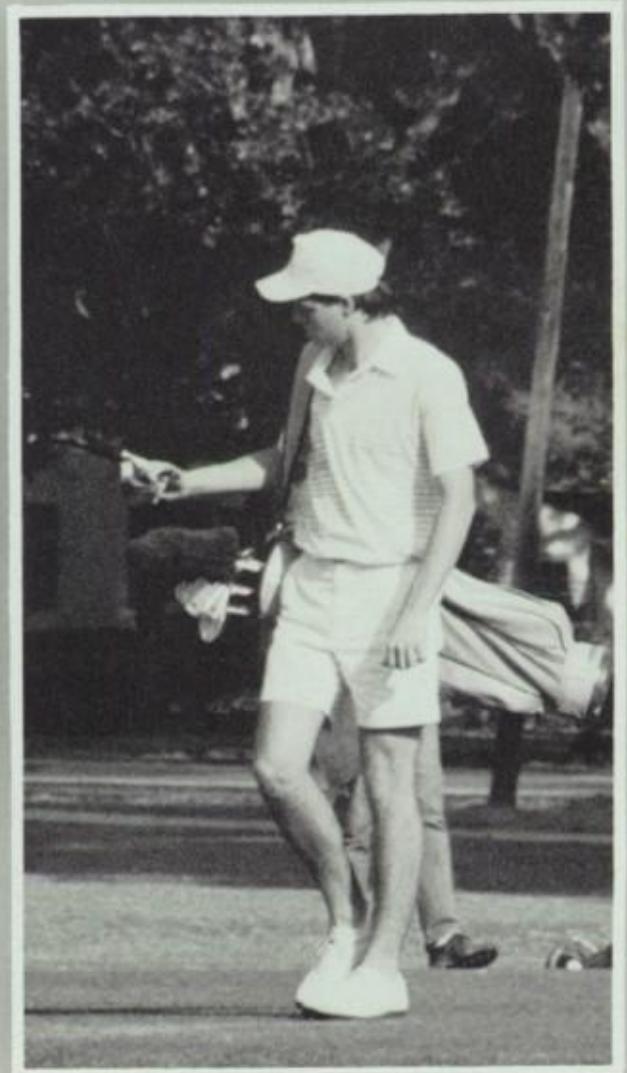

"Golf is a mental game" says Reggie Poche using his skills to move ahead.

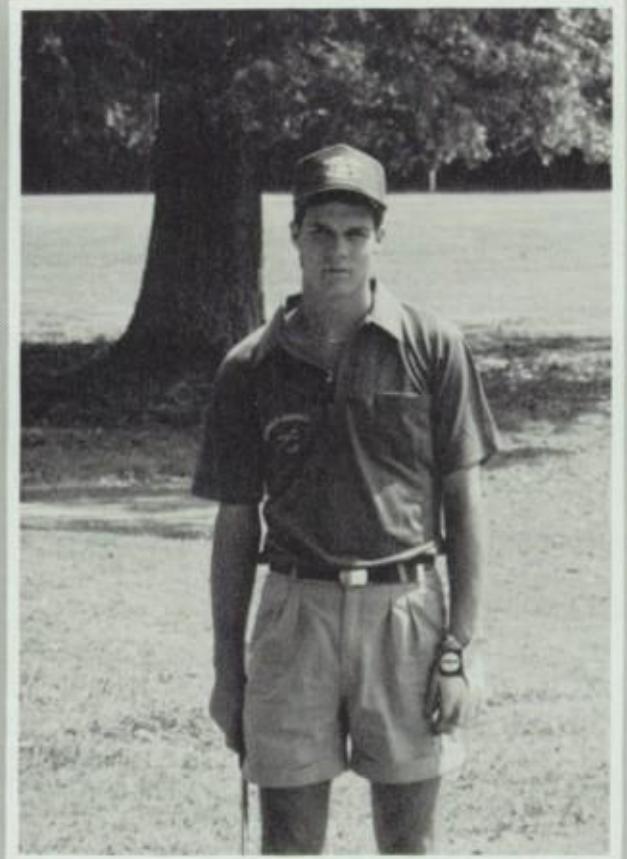

Holding his mouth just right, Reggie Poche taps the ball right into the hole.

"Where did that come from?" asks senior Reggie Poche, "I know it's not mine!"

Taking time out to relax and look over the course is sophomore Mike Bencaz.

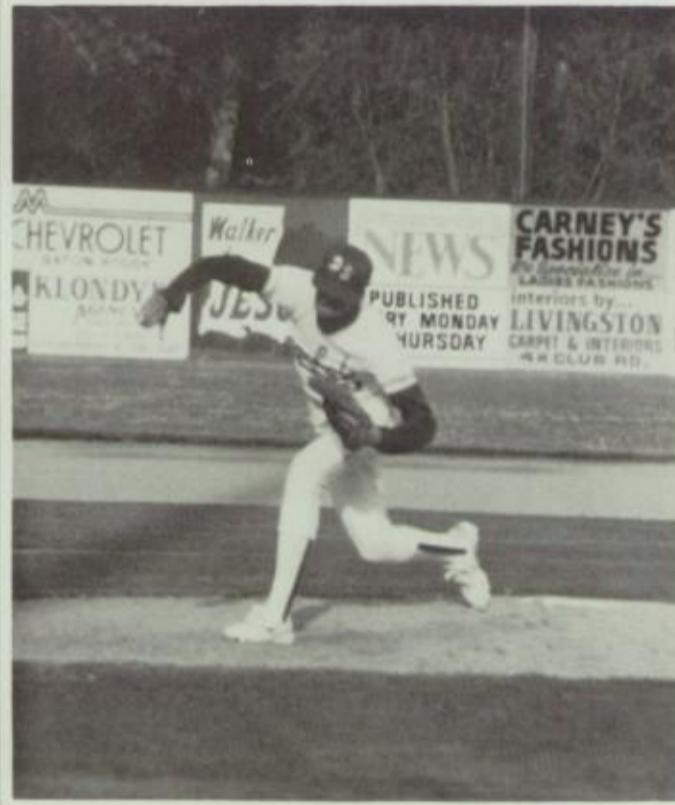

Senior Reggie Poche walks off the course feeling tired but pleased with his final results for the day.

"All The Way To State"

Our baseball team experienced an exceptionally good year, topped by capturing the state championship title. All State members Glenn Glass, a signee at S.L.U., and Ben McDonald, a signee at L.S.U., helped make this such a successful season.

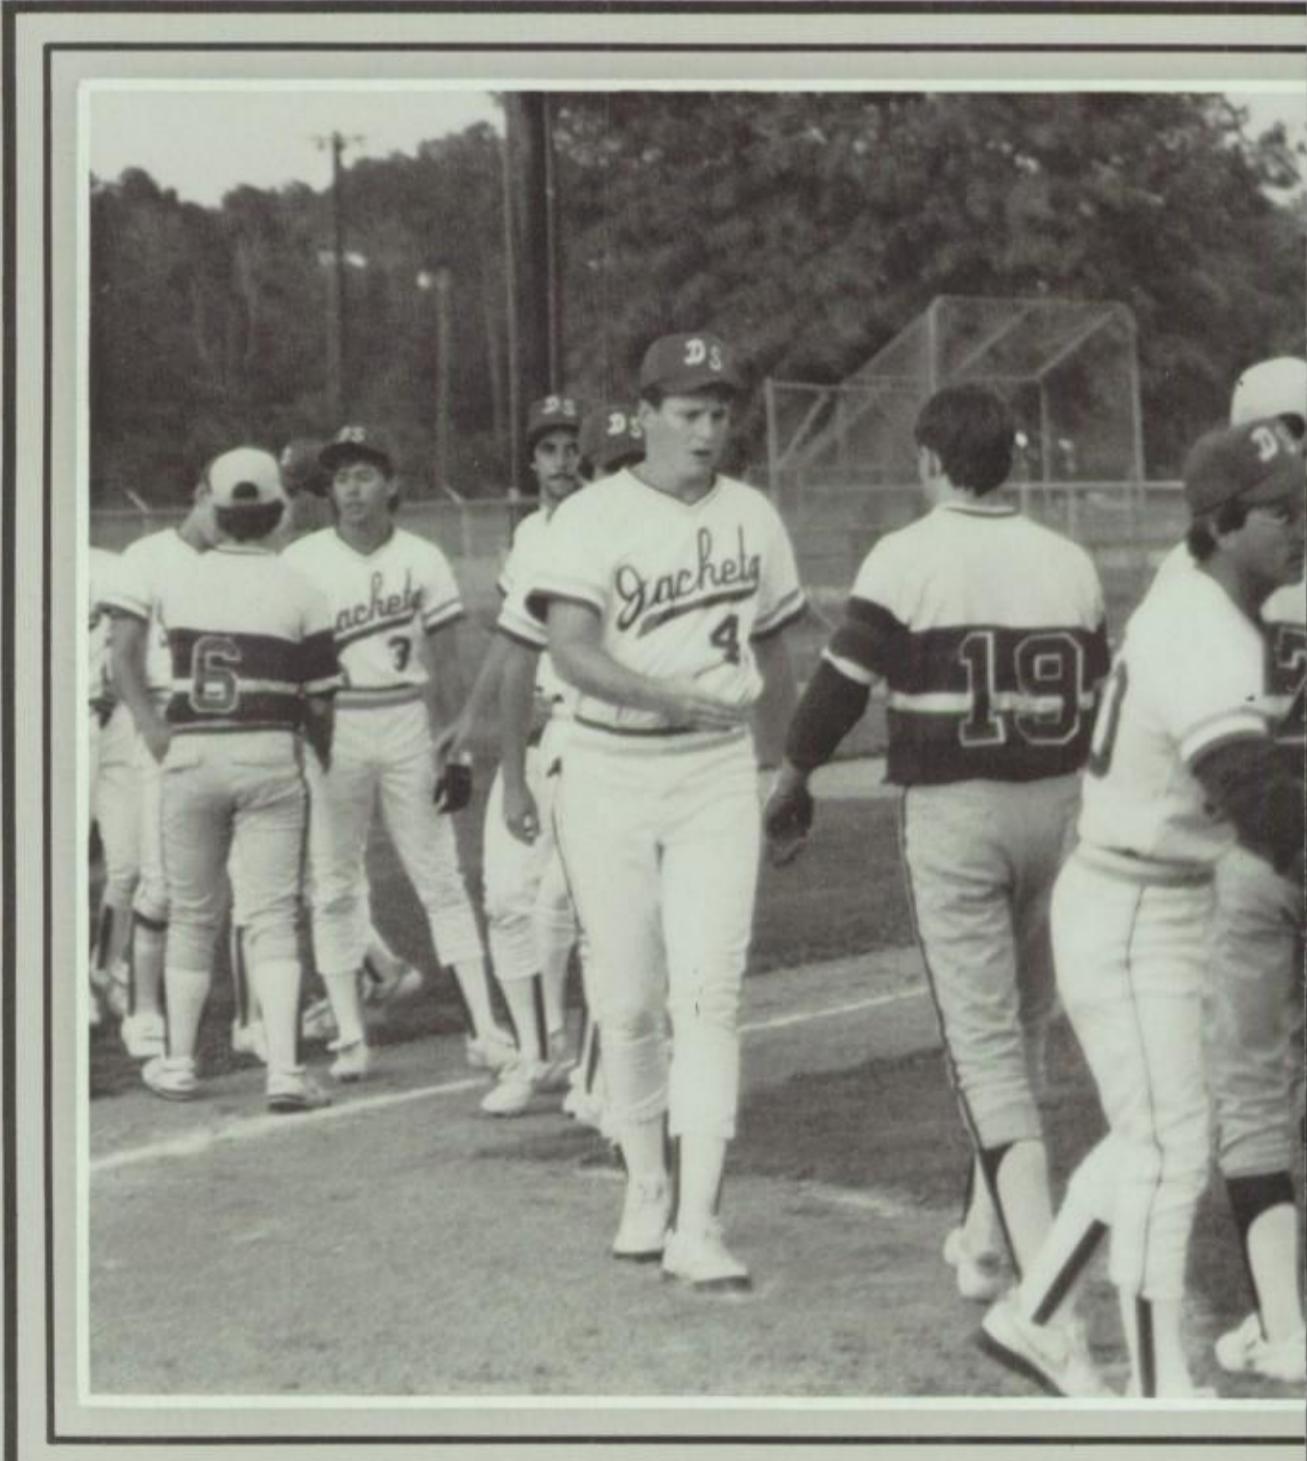

The coaches have played a major part in this years season, Coach Bailey, Coach Long and Coach Terry have all contributed countless hours of work to make the season a success. It has, indeed paid off. The team finished with 26 wins.

Before each game, the team and coaches gather around for a moment of spirit and prayer.

Although he has been famous for playing basketball, Ben McDonald has added tremendously to the pitching game.

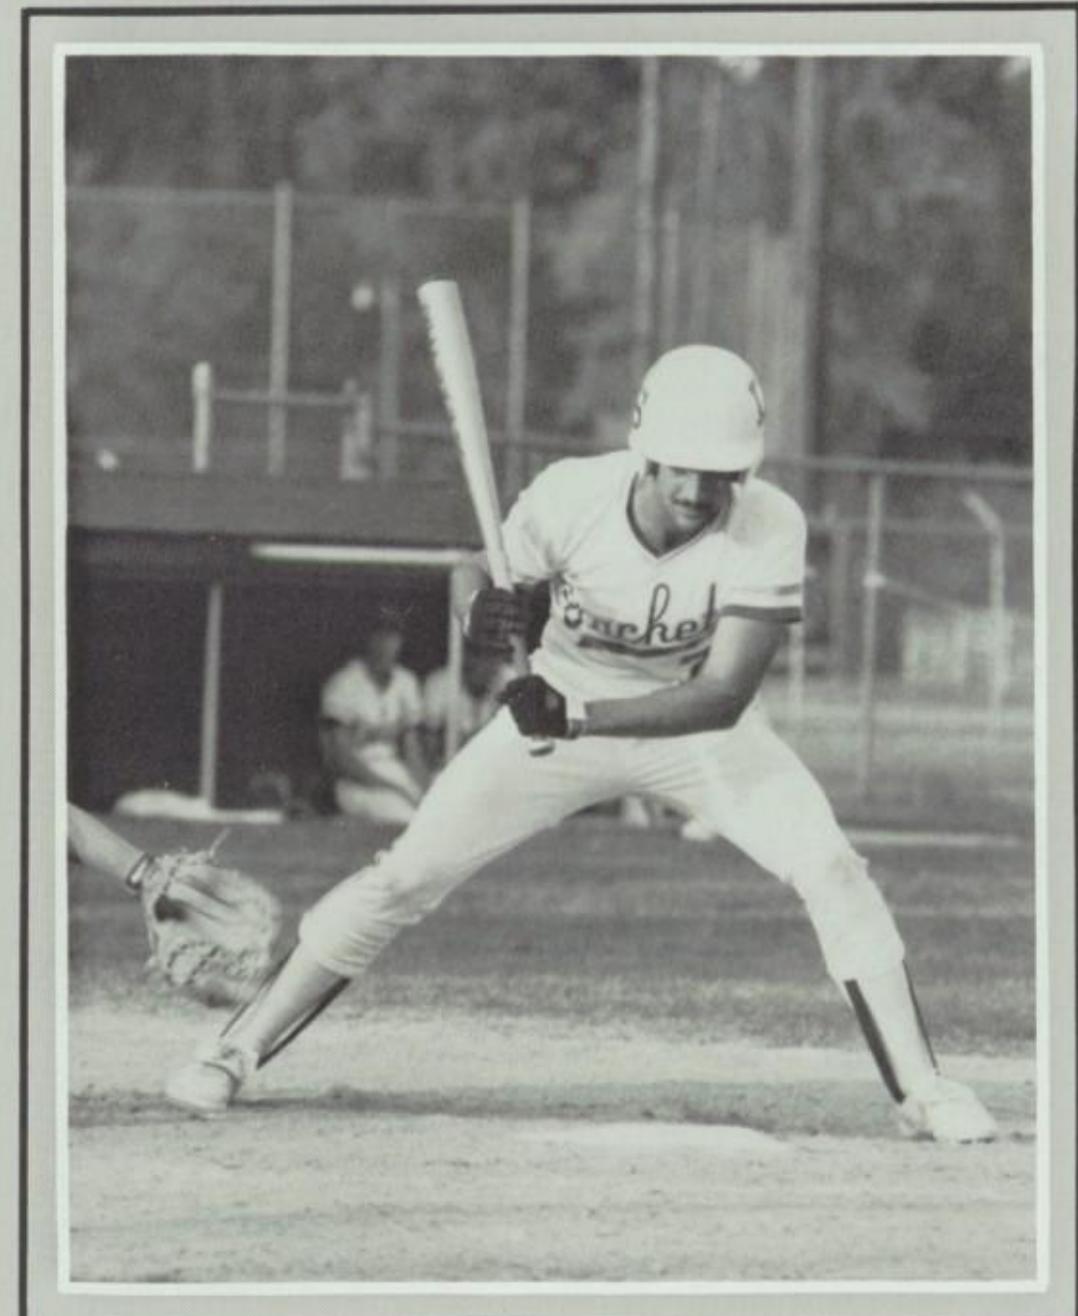

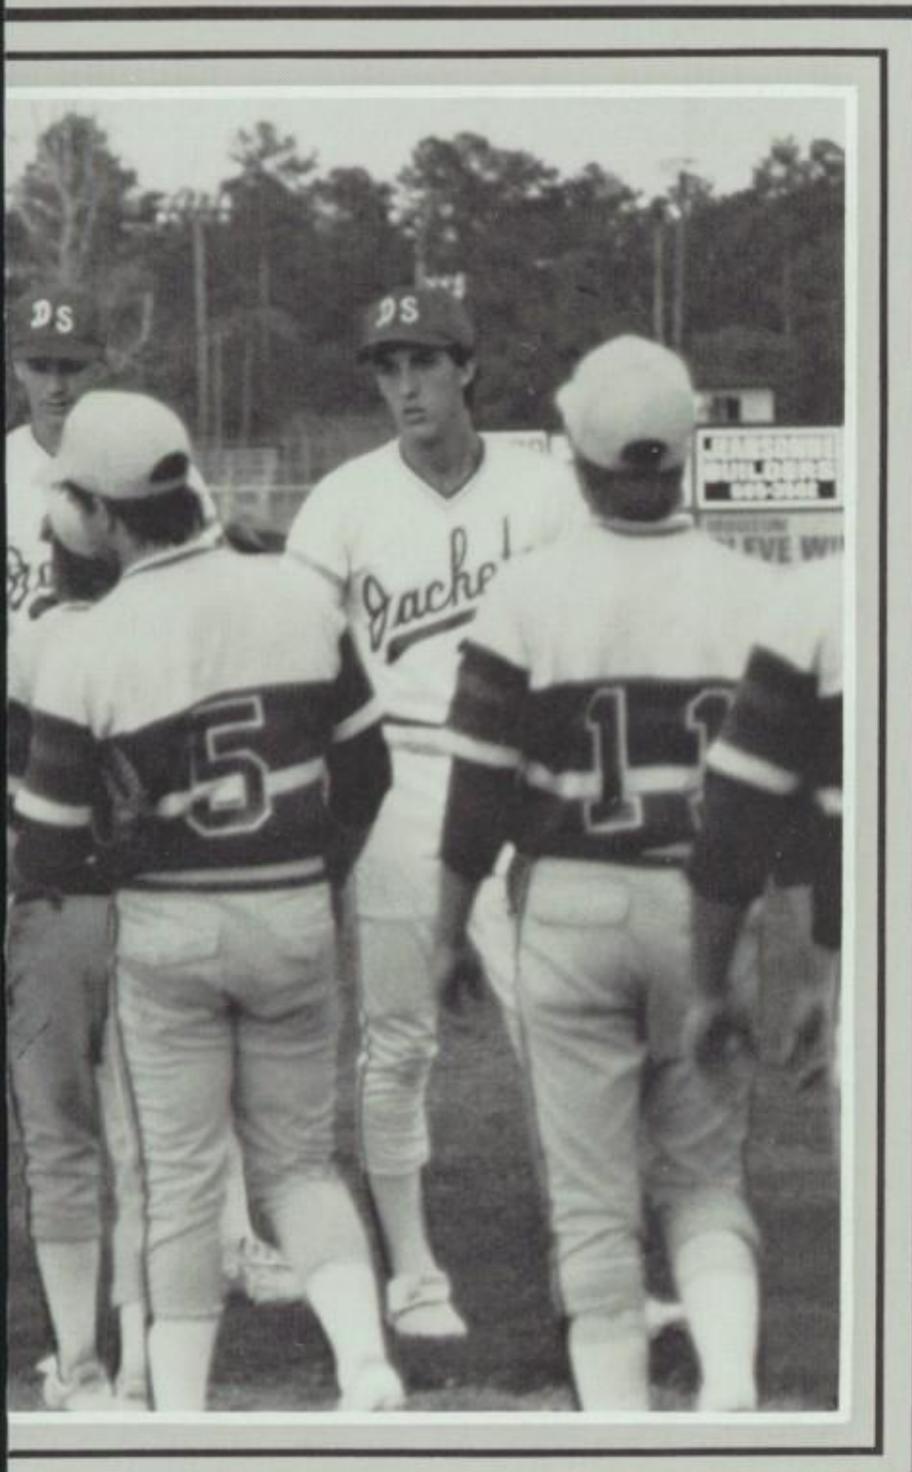

Good sportsmanship is always important. Coaches as well as players congratulate members of the opposing team.

Coach Steve Long drives the signal home to catcher Drew Nettles. Reporter Sandy Seal and Coaches Tony Terry and Tony Brent look on.

Firstbaseman Brad Meadors has played since he was a freshman.

Follow through is very important. Senior Justin Harris analyzes the pitch and waits for a good strike.

Sports Achievers

The spring of 1986, was a noteworthy year for Denham Springs High School sports. In the spring of 1986, D.S.H.S. earned three state titles. D.S.H.S. received first place titles in individual tennis, girls softball and boys baseball. All of the athletes and coaches that helped make this possible are exceptional people. Everyone involved was dedicated to his or her team.

In the spring of 1986, Denham Springs High School had many outstanding sports achievers. Ben McDonald was selected as MVP baseball player for Louisiana. Ben was also selected on first team All-district and first team All-state. Glen Glass was also selected on first team All-district and first team All-state. Jana Garrison was selected as the number one tennis player in high school girl's tennis. Shannon Covington was selected as district MVP and selected on first team All-district and first team All-state. Senior Susan Williams was selected on first team All-district and first team All-state. Tia Meadors set new school records for discus, 92.10 feet and for shotput, 32.85 feet.

Denham Springs High School is proud of the dedicated individuals who made the spring of 1986 a blue ribbon season!

Jacket player Ben McDonald was selected as state MVP. Here he prepares to throw a powerful pitch.

Senior Jana Garrison concentrates on playing tennis to the best of her ability.

Lady Jacket Shannon Covington prepares to deliver a devastating pitch.

The 1986 Denham Darling contest winners pose together after the show.

Jr. Denham Darling, Melissa Baylous, and 1986 Denham Darling, Kristina Kabel, pose happily for the camera.

Senior Kristina Kabel considers her question before answering.

Denham Darling, Kristina Kabel, with first runnerup Ronnie Gausey, and second runner-up, Lara Karwick.

Shining Moments

Every year at Denham Springs High School a tradition is honored by crowning yet another beautiful young lady as the new Denham Darling. 1986 was no exception, with the crowning of Kristina Kabel, Denham Darling 1986. "It is such an honor to know that you are representing your school and hometown when you compete in the Denham Darling contest," said Kristina Kabel.

Charming the panel of judges with a smile is Junior Tricia Smith.

Jean Hayes begins her walk while Christi Morgan and Tia Meadors look on.

An addition to this yearly pageant was the Junior Denham Darling competition which includes the freshmen and sophomore class girls. Freshman Darla St. Angelo says, "The competition is tough enough without the junior and senior girls too!"

Once again, the pageant proved to be a great success with dreams of fashion runways and magazine covers abounding!

Giving a smile of congratulations to winner Melissa Baylous is first runner-up Tia Meadors and third runner-up Jean Hayes.

Dancing takes a lot out of people. Being a gentleman, Mike O'Neal waits patiently for Tia Meadors to take a break.

Traditionally a senior sings a heart-warming song on Prom night. Steve Taylor wins Jenny Gurley's heart by singing to her.

Grand Occasions

Prom and Graduation are two school happenings that are enjoyed and remembered year around by students at Denham Springs High School.

Prom is not only an exciting occasion, but it can also be a very expensive one. "You can expect to pay a lot of money for only one night," said Myles Holyfield, "but it is all worth it." The Junior class officers sponsor Prom, with the help of teachers Mrs. Gloria O'Neal, and Mrs. Mary Ballard.

Graduation is a special school happening filled with the joys, sorrows, and many memories collected in the past four years of high school. Although graduation is looked forward to by the students from their freshman year, it is also an emotional time.

Brad Meadors and Darlene Hughes stop to pose as they look for Brad's other glove.

Seniors and juniors try to look their best on Prom night. "I know I'm cute but do you have to keep taking all these pictures?" questions Ted Sandbom..

Dancing at the prom, Lee Barr and Justin Harris show us how they "jamm".

According to Reneé Broussard, graduation practice takes almost as long as the twelve years it takes to get there.

As secretary of the senior class, Trish Amacker bids her last farewell.

After graduation, Jeff Pratt smiles with relief and looks forward to Florida.

On graduation night Jana Garrison shows us how proud she is.

Something To Remember

Summertime is finally here. No more homework, getting up early or detention.

When the students leave this year, they will take with them the great memories that have been shared with friends! Memories of school dances, football games, basketball games, graduation, and even good memories of their classes and teachers.

Although everyone is glad summertime is here, it is sometimes hard to leave the friends and good times behind. This is something we all must face. It is now time to move on, and make many more lasting memories.

Seniors Randall Pitre and Karl Tuttleton find a way to stop junior Ashley Wall's dribbles in Mrs. Ballard's speech class.

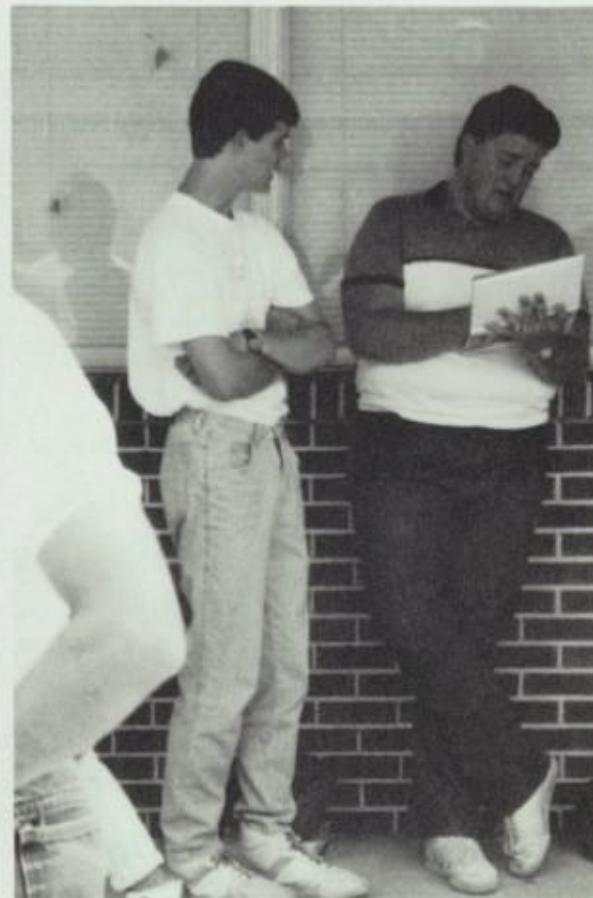

The junior-senior Powder Puff football game is a fun and exciting part of the year. Juniors Jean Ann Hayes, Donalyn Johnson, Jamie Walker, Darby Bullard, Michelle Gremillion, Krystal Massingill, Shelly Clary, Karen Brumfield, Christy Goza, Cherie Stagg, Brandi Ballard, and seniors Allison Pope, Nan Duke, Cary Beth Rector, Tricia Hebert, Shannon Facundus, Wendy Duncan, and Joy Tesei show how "rivals" can be friends, and how both are NO. 1.

Everyone needs a break! Freshmen Margaret Columbia smiles at the thought that she only has two more hours to go.

While many underclassmen were shouting, "school's out for the summer," this group of seniors were shouting, "school's out FOREVER!"

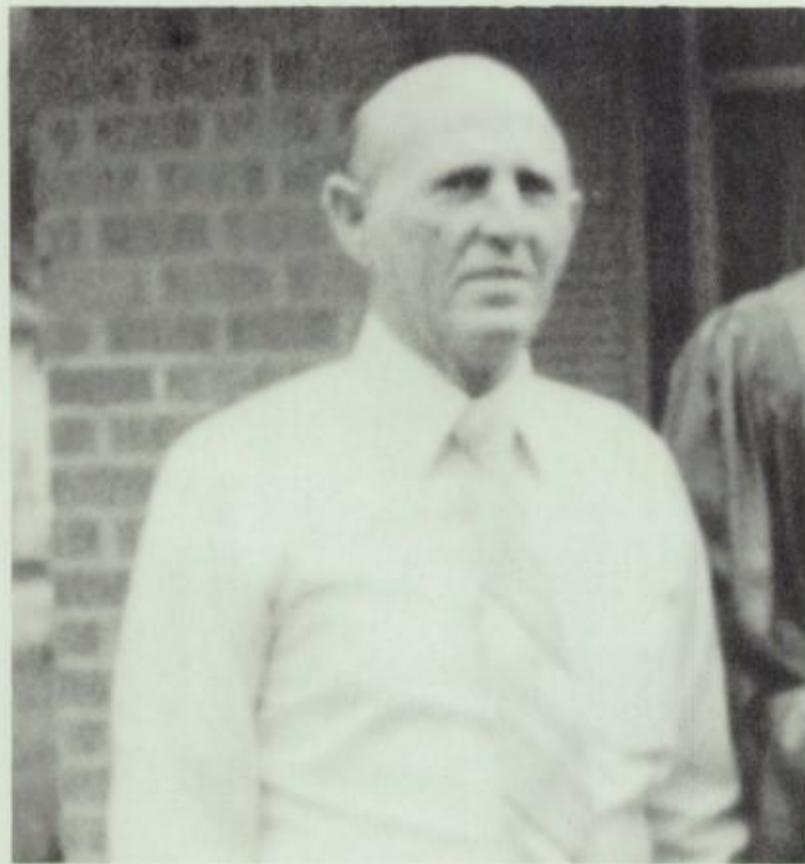

Senior Paul Phillips expresses his feelings on graduating, while seniors Bill Clarida and Jeff Fuentes make the most of their last recess.

Crisp autumn days are welcomed by everyone. Junior Tia Meadors is enjoying the pep rally outdoors.

How can feelings that have grown over a period of twelve years be expressed in words? Senior Todd Kearney tries to do just that in the memory book of Greg Spence.

In Memory Of . . .

With the utmost sincerity
we dedicate this book to the loving memory of Mr.
Willie E. "Mann" Picou.

Yours guy
so far friend

Yours: I really don't know where to start. We've had really good friends for so long. We've had really good friends great times and some made friends.
really great ones, but somehow still good friends.
rough ones, but somehow still good friends.
through how we did it. I've tried to work things out.
I wonder if you've put your share into our fights too.
I'm so glad we've always been able to work you.
I need to consider you met very best friend, I still love you.
I'm not always there for you anymore, but I still love you.
I'm not always there for me and I thank you for always being there for you. And listening to me whine, even if you've great was stupid. I hope you to be good and friends. I'm not gonna tell you to do. I don't need to quit doing some of the things you do. I hope you gonna say don't get caught. Well, I hope to get in any more trouble. I have many more great times ahead. Well, I guess, I've always go so much better. I've seen so much better
I to get a lot of April 1
LONIE

Garbo,

Hey dude. We have been friends for a long time. I hope we stay good friends. I hate signing year books. I am going to fail this test too. (Sept 17, 1987 5th hr). Ha.
